Notice to Advertisers. THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its advertisers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.

The Oregon Donkey has arrived. The treasury of this state is said to be worth $25,000 a year.

The weather office at San Francisco predicts "light local rains" up this way. Rev. A. S. Nicholson, of Vancouver, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. P. E. Fern-

Frank Baites, a former Astorian, now of Portland's solid men, is in the city on a brief visit.

The Columbia made good time on her down trip, getting to San Francisco at 8:20, Monday morning.

The British Bark Edward Peary, 862, Macclay master, 57 days from Valparaiso, arrived yesterday.

Twenty years ago to-day Abraham Lincoln died. The plot of assassination included Grant, but he escaped.

About 15,000 tons of potatoes have been taken to San Francisco from the Columbia river since October 1st, 1884.

"Fact" is gently reminded that while the Astorian refuses no communication of public interest, the writer's names must in all cases accompany it.

While at work on his new building yesterday, Al Ross met with a sudden check by the falling of a plank which struck his head, cutting it badly.

The case of Capt. Flavel against the Queen of the Pacific, which was appealed, is now on trial before the circuit court in Portland, before Judges Denny and Sawyer.

The coast seamen's society has sent a number of circulars to Astoria and Portland urging all coast seamen to join the association. They claim to have raised wages from $25 to $30, and from $30 to $35 for "open ports."

C. W. Knowles, lately connected with the salmon industries of the Columbia, has bought a half interest in the St. Charles hotel of Portland. He used to run the Clarendon in connection with Al Zieher, and sells the business.

There is now in the registry of the United States circuit court at Portland the sum of $30,780.20, of which $29,725.79 belongs to the litigants in the Queen of the Pacific case. The interest on this at current rates would be about $300 a month, which is not bad.

The government steamer Gen. Wright arrived in from the south yesterday. Capt. Steve Babbidge prescribes due reticence as to what her mission signifies; probably he has received sealed orders from the secretary of war to remain in port and insure strict neutrality on the part of our government in case of trouble between England and Russia.

A meeting of subscribers to the telephone was held at the office of Dr. Tuttle last evening, at which it was unanimously resolved that the original proposition to the company be affirmed—either furnish the service at the reduced rates proposed, or remove the instruments. All present signed a paper to that effect and others who were unable to attend the meeting will have an opportunity to do so.

At a meeting of the Thistle Packing company held at their office on the evening of April 14th, Messrs. Sam'l Elmore, C. W. Fulton, G. W. Sanborn, J. J. Barclay and Jas. N. Brown were elected directors of the company. At a meeting of the directors held subsequently J. J. Barclay was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year. The president appointed Jas. N. Brown secretary, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Before the Portland board of trade last Monday evening, M. C. George gave a detailed history of legislation for the improvement of the Columbia. He also told the cause of the failure of congress to pass an appropriation for the river and harbors at this season. One cause was the time lost in the house, and the other the filibustering of its enemies in the senate. The jetty system, he thought, would be successful in improving the mouth of the river, and he thought the farmers and grangers would be well represented in the convention which was to be called.

ALONG THE RIVER. Two weeks have elapsed since the opening of the salmon season, but there is little doing beyond getting ready. In this vicinity Jno. A. Devin, the Cutting Packing company and A. Booth are the only ones that are packing, and further up the river J. W. & V. Cook, the Pillar Rock packing company, and William Hume at Eagle Cliff, are reported to be putting up salmon. There are a few other boats besides those of the owners named, but there are not over 150 boats on the river all together. Where the river narrows the catch is the best, the average at Clifton being said to be 30 to the boat, while below the city there have been occasions when the boats came in with but two and three. It is thought by some that the run this year will be a light one. The price paid thus far to cannery boats is forty-five cents a fish; outside boats fifty cents. There are large numbers of men arriving daily from the sound, up the river and San Francisco. There is a general disposition to hold off, and it is not probable that much beyond preliminary work will be done this month.

That beautiful chariot at Adler's will shortly be raffled. Get a chance before they are all gone.

Silverplated ware twenty-five per cent below manufacturers' list price at Adler's.

Adler's closing out sale still continues, and will do so till his entire stock is disposed of.

To Accommodate His Patrons. Alex. Gilbert will keep his saloon open day and night. Fishermen can get a good lunch at any hour of the night. The genuine French sardine constantly on hand.

It may be well to remind you that you can buy Sheet Music, Violin, or Instrumental, at one-half of publishers' prices, at Adler's music store.

WAR INEVITABLE. The Last Argument of Nations Soon to be Resorted To.

SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN. LONDON, April 14.—11:50 P. M.—Every London journal breathes the voice of the English people for war. They impatiently say that while England is collecting evidence and awaiting a summing up of the reasons for the Penjdeh attack, Russia is pushing her troops farther and farther in on the debatable territory.

"Unhappily," say they, "there is nothing in the news from Russia to indicate that an open collision can much longer be avoided. If the reports from Gen. Komaroff were the only answer that Russia would give there would be little need of going through the formality of a declaration of war. Bland, evasive answers are feared, while the enemy is steadily encroaching and furnishing reason for delay while straining every nerve for preparation for the approaching conflict." Consols continue to decline. The latest intelligence from St. Petersburg and Berlin is to the effect that Russia fears an uprising in Poland.

GRANT BETTER. NEW YORK, 8:30 P. M.—Gen. Grant said this evening that he felt better than he had at any time during the past two weeks.

HOLD DOWN. The Chinese forces in Tonquin have received orders to cease hostilities. It is reported that in St. Petersburg the Afghans have made an attack on the Russian outposts.

The Pope is confined to his bed by illness. Some anxiety is felt at his unfavorable symptoms.

Eight five-story buildings fell in Sixty-second street, New York, Monday afternoon, killing and wounding several workmen.

News has been received at Teheran from Askabad that Russian troops to the number of 45,000 were on the march to Sarakhs.

Justice Wyke, of the United States supreme court, has notified the president that he desires to be placed upon the retired list. He is 71 years of age.

A special dispatch from Berlin states that Lord Rosebery has come to that city to invite Prince Bismarck to mediate between England and Russia.

It is the general opinion among officers on duty at the navy department that the marine recently sent from New York will leave Aspinwall on their return home within the next two weeks.

Notwithstanding the effort to prevent American Indians joining with the Canadians in the uprising, several bands have succeeded in crossing the boundary and are now marching northward to join Riel's forces.

The condition of affairs in the Canadian northwest has undergone such material changes within the past ten days that some important changes in the programme by which the campaign was to be conducted have been found necessary. In place of finding themselves confronted with some 1500 half breeds, who might be soon overcome, the government is face to face with a general Indian uprising, which will tax to the utmost the energies of the whole available force of the dominion before it is put down. Every official dispatch points unmistakably to this end.

A sensation was caused in the house of commons Monday evening, when it was learned that a serious riot had occurred in Mallow upon the arrival there of the Prince of Wales. The Parnellites, it is said, attempted to organize hostile demonstrations, and a collision between them and the admirers of the prince took place. The police charged the crowd at different points, and many persons were seriously hurt. O'Brien, Redmond and Harrington, members of parliament, were roughly handled. No further details are known. The government is monopolizing the telegraph wires to Ireland.

A London special says: There is a distinct disposition on the part of the new French ministry to be unfriendly to England in her present dilemma. Most of the Paris papers reflect this tendency in bitter words about the English now reaping the harvest they sowed by allowing France to be dismembered fourteen years ago. M. De Freycinet has already taken suggestive steps in Egyptian matters, and he has it in his power, through the fiction that the khedive is responsible, to make all manner of difficulties for England by putting the screws on that dummy. In the existing state of English temper a very little of that sort of thing would go a great way, and if Germany or Italy gives the word, they would just as soon make a general dance of it. John Bull would give the French ambassador his walking papers with a faint satisfaction.

Gladstone in the house of commons Monday afternoon stated that the government upon receipt from Russia of General Komaroff's explanation of the Penjdeh incident, telegraphed to Sir Peter Lumsden for information as to the correctness of the Russian commander's justification of his conduct in attacking the Afghans. Gladstone also announced that the government had received a full report on the communications which had passed between Earl Dufferin, British viceroy of India, and Abdurashman Khan, amir of Afghanistan, in council recently held between them at Rawul Pind. These communications, the premier added, are entirely satisfactory to the government, explaining the delay of the government in reaching a final decision with Russia. Gladstone said the report of the Russian officers who took part in the Penjdeh battle and those of the English officers who witnessed the engagement, differed so materially in substance and in effect that the government felt obliged to make independent inquiry. This is proceeding now, and the government is doing everything in its power towards ascertaining the facts.

An ordinance appropriating funds out of the general fund to pay the claim of Jno. McCann, was passed upon suspension of the rules.

The following claims were ordered paid: E. Dealy, $24.00; R. P. Burns, $32.40; M. Deverent, $29.40; E. R. Maun, $30.08; M. Conley, $168.57; T. S. Jewett, $41.55; Van Dusen & Co., $7.75; John McCann, $30; sundry persons, special police service, $21.

The following resolution was unanimously passed: WHEREAS, The city of Astoria is at present short of hose, Resolved, That the committee on fire and water be authorized to take immediate steps to procure at least 1,000 feet of hose at the best terms obtainable.

THOS. DEALY. On motion the vote defeating the motion to appoint a special policeman was reconsidered. Councilman Dealy moved that Jas. Taiten be appointed as special policeman. The motion was adopted. On motion council adjourned.

A Happy Thought. It was a happy thought that led to the production of a concentrated fruit syrup, so harmless in its nature that it may be given either to the mother or her babe, relished alike by both, and of such wonderful efficacy that all who take it feel brighter and happier. W. E. Dement & Co. will furnish anyone wishing Syrup of Figs a trial bottle free of charge, or will sell 50 cent and one dollar bottles.

Cannerymen will do well to examine Adler's prices of Books and Stationery. He has got everything they need and will sell positively at cost.

DEFENSELESS VICTORIA. The Citizens Urged to Prepare Defences to Repel an Invasion.

The news of the Afghan battle when it reached Victoria set the city wild. The Times says: On the Pacific coast of the Russian empire is an almost impregnable arsenal and naval station, Petropolski, which is only 2,700 miles distant from Victoria. This station is the rendezvous of a powerful naval fleet, and hostilities once commenced, these vessels would issue forth and make war on every British port of importance on the Pacific coast. Victoria, Esquimaux and Nanaimo are the keys of British power, and should the invulnerable coal fields of this island pass into the hands of the enemy, the prestige of the English navy in the north Pacific would be gone, and perhaps forever. Such a result is improbable, but it is not impossible. At present there is but one man-of-war on the station, the other vessels of the squadron being in the south Pacific. Their services may at any time be required elsewhere, and the enormous interests of the empire require the fleet to be distributed over the whole world. But even with several ironclads to guard our coast, it might be found possible for an invading force of the enemy at some point south or west of Esquimaux or north of Victoria. That having been accomplished there is nothing to prevent them from capturing the city, almost without a struggle. If this statement of our vulnerable position is a correct one, it becomes a paramount consideration with our citizens to devise some plan to protect the lives, guard the property and retain the inheritance that is theirs. Our present volunteer organization is numerically too weak to combat a force that could be moved upon us in this way. Immediate steps should be taken to organize an efficient battery of artillery, which, with the assistance of a strong corps of riflemen to cover them, would be a most effective auxiliary to the naval forces which would be sent to our assistance.

President Cleveland is developing as a story-teller. He has diminished the value of petitions for office a good deal by a story which he told an office-seeking senator. He said that when he was mayor of Buffalo there was a sharp contest for the position of chief of police. One candidate in particular was indorsed by such a very large number of citizens that when he saw the petition the mayor felt that he probably was the man who ought to be appointed. He stated this conclusion to one of his friends who called to see him, but they informed him that in their opinion the appointment would not be a good one, and should not be made. He thereupon showed them the paper signed by such a large number of leading citizens, and said he did not see how he could ignore it. They thereupon asked him to delay action for two days, in order that they might present a paper to him, and went away. At the end of the time they returned, bringing another petition signed by a long list of Buffalo people, some of them prominent in the city, and a number of them his friends. It was not a petition for the place of chief of police, but was addressed to the governor of New York, and stated that Grover Cleveland, mayor of Buffalo, had been guilty of embezzlement of the public funds, was unfit to hold office and ought to be removed. It simply showed how easily respectable people could be got to sign a petition without reading it. Since that time Mr. Cleveland says he has not a high opinion of signatures to petitions relative to the office.—Washington Special to the Boston Herald.

Northern Salmon Notes. To the Portland Journal of Commerce, regarding the salmon season in the north, a correspondent on Puget sound writes: "The general condition of business on the sound, in British Columbia and Alaska, is bad, with no market and no prices. Salt salmon can be put up here for $5 a barrel, and the same price will apply to Alaska and Fraser river. There will be no working of the canneries on Puget sound this summer. On the Fraser river probably three will work, and these have a total capacity of 200,000 cases. In British Columbia three-fourths of the canneries will remain closed. Salmon can be put up probably cheaper this year than last, but will not fetch the cost of production. The stock on hand cannot be accurately ascertained. On Puget sound so far as known there are 500 cases in one lot and 700 in another. There is a large stock on hand in Alaska. Capt. Carroll put up 2,000 cases last year, and has not moved over 500 to market. Besides these figures there are considerable stocks on the market unsold."
