THE commissioners of Douglas county, W. T., have appointed Mrs. Sadie Coyle treasurer of the county. This is believed to be the first time in the history of the Pacific coast that a woman ever regularly filled the office of county treasurer.

THE question which is agitating the minds of the Victorians just now, says the Seattle Chronicle, is whether coal is contraband of war. They fear that if a Russian fleet comes into British Columbia waters it can be successfully supplied with coal by the Americans, unless the latter be prevented therefrom by coal being declared a contraband article.

Our state exchanges are still discussing the last legislature. At the risk of saying something original, THE ASTORIAN suggests that uext time it might be well to send something less than ninety candidates for U. S. senator to represent us at Salem. THE Charleston, S. C., News and Courier explains the mystery confederate bond craze as follows: Judah P. Benjamin, secretary of state of the confederacy from 1862 until its collapse, was the originator of the plan by which the demand was created for bonds. At different times the confederate congress voted large sums for secret service, the principal deposits being in London and Paris banks.

The funds were placed to the credit of citizens of Great Britain and France who were friendly to the south. At the close of the war there was an unexpended balance of $5,080,000. Benjamin consulted with these agents as to the disposition of the money and it was agreed that it should be surrendered to the United States. The question was then how to disburse the money so as to benefit those who THE Victoria Colonist contains a were entitled to it.
