Astoria, April 21st, 1885.

The last legislature passed the following bill: Sec. 1. The following shall be and are hereby declared legal holidays in this state, viz: Every Sunday, the first day of January, the twenty-second day of February, the thirtieth day of May, the fourth day of July, the twenty-fifth day of December, and every day on which an election is held in the state, and every day appointed by the president of the United States, for a public feast, thanksgiving day or holiday. Obligations payable on a holiday, become due the next business day.

Indian Agent Eells has information, though not official, that the delayed patents to the Indians of their lands on the Puyallup reservation have been issued and are now on their way from Washington. These patents it will be remembered, were granted sometime since, and were ready for delivery, but from some unexplained cause, as one of the last acts of Secretary Teller, he caused their withdrawal, with a view, apparently, of suppressing their issue in the interest of other parties.

The rubber rings used to assist in keeping the air from fruit cans sometimes become so dry and brittle as to be almost useless. They can be restored to a nominal condition, usually by letting them lie in water into which has been put a little ammonia. Mix in proportion of one part of ammonia and two parts of water. Sometimes they do not have to lie in this preparation more than five minutes; but frequently a half hour is necessary to restore their elasticity.

Invisible ink for use on postal cards is made by mixing one part, by measure, of sulphuric acid with seven parts of water. A gold or quill pen must be used, and when quite dry the card will show no signs of writing. To make the writing appear the card must be held to the fire. If it be desirable to make some writing appear on the card, a few words can be written across the invisible ink with tincture of iodine, which will disappear on being held to the fire.

A French botanist, Mons. Eonssagrives, asserts that poisonous gases are given off by both growing and harvested fruits—such as apricots, oranges and quinces—and death by poisoning has resulted from sleeping in rooms exposed to such emanations. A similar deadly gas—evidently connected in some way with vegetable odors—is given off by sweet-scented flowers and odoriferous leaves.

O. P. Adams, of Miller's station, Linn county, lately sold the fine and famous mare "Oregon Beauty," which he has owned for several years, receiving therefor the sum of $1500. She is a large, powerful animal, weighing over 1200 pounds. Her long silver-gray or white tail and mane sweep the ground, the mane being 7 feet 6 inches, and the foretop 4 feet 6 inches in length.

Now we are realizing the final results of the Jersey craze. By vicious breeding and forced feeding this stock has been so weakened, constitutionally, that they are dying off on every hand by milk fever and scrofulous diseases. One farmer well known to me has lost his whole herd of pedigree Jerseys.—Corr. Rural New Yorker.
