The Oregonian is onto three bunks sharps who were given twenty-four hours to leave Portland. They left and may strike here. Look out for them. The sea lions are reported thicker and more audacious than ever. Yesterday they were out in force and playing around, seizing salmon and throwing them out of the water. The canneries up the river are doing

"a little." A good many boats went out yesterday, and last evening the stream in front of the city showed more sails than have been seen for a week. All the Oregon cities (except one) have had their population, as shown by the last census, published. How many people are there in Astoria anyhow? We have been trying to find out for three weeks, and give it up. There are at present 265 convicts at the state penitentiary, the greatest num-ber confined there at any one time. Twenty of them are for life. Twenty-six of the inmates are Chinamen, and eight are Indians.

The California Grocer and Canner re-ports that there has been scarcely any change in the situation on the Sacramenchange in the situation on the Sacramento. There has not yet been a fair supply of fish for the canneries for three consecutive days, and the available spot stock is much lighter than it has ever been before at this time. Spot stock is quoted at 95 cents a dozen. Last week one of the city canneries secured a fair supply of bay fish for two days' operations, and the river canners had hopes of a run but there has not been more than enough fish for the market any day since.

Everyone hereabouts has seen or heard of that "beeswax" that has been picked up in chunks of various size along the beach for the last generation or two. The theory now advanced is that the stuff is not beeswax at all, but paraffine in a crude state. Paraffine is usually obtained from the distillation of mineral or vegetable tar, and when found under similar. table tar, and when found under similar es in other parts of the country is said to be a sure sign of valuabl coal deposits in the neighborhood. The matter is worth looking into as far as the coal is concerned. But if it is found to be parafflue what will become of all those yarns about the Chinese junk and the Spanish ship and the castaway crew and the shares all the rest of the learned? and the slaves all the rest of the legend?

A Fatal Jump.

New York, May 19.—Professor R. E. Odlum arrived here from Washington on Friday last to perfect arrangements for a contemplated jump from East River bridge into the East river, a distance of 140 feet. He stated that he proposed to jump, notwithstanding the bridge officials declared that they would prevent him. Odlum was confident the feat which friends in a boat below to signal when the river was clear, and Captain Boynton was in the water attired in a nautical rig to render assistance if necessary. A few minutes after 6 o'clock the professor jumped, and after striking the water he disappeared for a few seconds. Captain Rowe, with a fagboat, Lodge No. 17, next Friday evening, will bridge into the East river, a distance of The river is rising rapidly. Old fishsemen say on a freshet like this the Captain Rowe, with a fugboat, succeeded in reaching the body, and took it to pier 11, where it was taken in charge by his friends. ### He Knew all About It.

"Bananatus Cigaretus Tobaccutus from Tillamookus county;" underneath this sign hangs a long banana leaf, in state board of immigration office. The leaf has a very slight odor of tobacco, probably artificially tainted. A green looking fellow stepped into the office yesterday, examined the stuff and said he had just engineer and surveyor, will take pupils in higher mathematics and surveying, at room 5, Pythian building.

Maxwell Young sent in a fine lot of strawberries yesterday to this office just to show that Astoria strawberries are not as late as might be supposed.

The Carlotte and said had pupils arrived from Tillamook county. He forthermore stated that the tobacco leaf grew wild in that region, and he was ashamed that Portland carpitalists should not take hold of the matter and establish to show that Astoria strawberries are not as late as might be supposed.

WHAT THE DREDGE BRINGS UP. Many Strange Things Found on the Rette of New York Bay.

A special venire was issued, summon. concerned. The anti-Morrison men, several of whom came in to-day, are understood to be here to checkmate him, and a very pretty little game of political chess is going on in the lobby at Willard's. The feeling is that matters can't stay long as they now are and that the legislature will either elect promptly or adjourn without electing. [Logan was elected on the 19th.—ED.]

I am told there is a little sentiment connected with Miss Cleveland's selection of Dr. Sunderland's Presbyterian church as the president's place of wor-lattle man from whose arm the hand had been torn had-been led down to a

that the man from whose arm the hand had been torn had been led down to a dock while intextected, and robbed and thrown everboard by the members of a "gang." It is a common practice, but the dredge rarely disturbs the body. An immense drag-net-stretched across the Narrows would catch a multitude of strange and mysterious things. It would be a storehouse ten times more ghastly than a morgue. There is a tradition that years ago a murderor was convicted by a blood-stained knife brought up in a dredge. The names and dates are lack. dredge. The names and dates are lacking. Another tradition says that a desiger once brought up his own runaway daughter from the bottom of the river. A ghastly bruise on the temple told the story of her death. The dredger heat his brains out against the hearted beat his brains out against the barred door of an insane asylum two years later. He had lived sane long enough to mur-der the man that ran off with his daughter, and a merciful court sent him to an asylum for the insane. A third blood-curdling tradition is to the effect that a dredger nursed a grudge against another dredger for many yests, hoping for vengeance. At length when the enemy got between the jaws of the scoop to fasten a loose rivet, the jaws closed on him, and he was swung out over the water. Then the dredge went out slowly and the least teous to accompany her guests, and wanted her husband to go with them. He fiatly and firmly refused. His wife so was much distressed, but went with the first saturday reception. When the ladies were introduced to Mrs. Hoyt, the president's sister, the latter held her hand and said: "Tell me if you are the wife of Rev. Dr. Sunderland, once my dear mother's pastor? Did your husband ever preach at Batavia, N. Y.? "Yes, when a very young man, before he had a call to Washington," replied Mrs. Sunderland, a little embarrassed, as she thought of her husband's feelings toward the president.

"Oh, I'm so delighted to meet you, and I want to see your husband. My brother, will be so gied to meet him, too. I hope from will come again and bring Dr. Sunderland," said Mrs. Hoyt. When Mrs. Sunderland told her husband he slowly said, "Well, I won't retract what I've said, but I may go some time. A few days after, the family at the White house talked over their mother's young pastor, and decided that he should be their own. The most surprised person in town was Dr. Sunderland himself. If the president is heaping 'coals of fire' on his head, and returning good for the evil of the minister's denunciation of bim during the campaign, Dr. Sunderland doubtless offsets it by singing the lines of that good old hymn, "While the lamp of life holds out to burn, the vilest single lines of that good old hymn, "While the lamp of life holds out to burn, the vilest single lines and two sting rays were of that good old hymn, "While the lamp of life holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return."

The count of the money in the treasury is now in progress, and your correspondent was conducted through the great silver vault the other day while the work was going on. The vault is as big seem to strew the bottom of the river. It is a house, and will hold about fifty million silver dollars. Squatted down in the aisle of the vault, with a light and pair of shing them out of the mud in the scow. Soales between them, were the committee. fishing them out or the must help fill up.
