Exciting Scenes in the English House of ba Commons.

LONDON, June 8.—In the house of commons this evening Childers made a statement touching the spirits tax Mr. Childers was no sooner done ex-plaining the government's reason for not at present refunding the tax than the Rt. Hon. Sir Michael Ed. ward Hicks Beach, conservative, rose quickly and asked why it was that the liberal government, which ought quickly and asked why it was that this awint. Feeple began to cry out the liberal government, which ought and run around distracted, and I felt to be economical, had to resort to ex-treme forms of taxation in order to to be economical, and to resort to ex-treme forms of taxation in order to meet an extraordinary expenditure of 10000,000. This question was greet-ed with cheers from the tory benches. Sir Michael went on and denounced the increased duty on enjoits. He more profitable. The government, he maybe it was because I was in a hurry and did not have time to chose well. It was a soft place, however, and had its eitractions at that momore profitable.
