LOGAN AND BLAINE.

BOSTON, June 28.—A Portland, Maine, dispatch to the Herald draws attention to the fact that Mr. Blaine was not invited to the national grand army encampment. The dispatch says: "There has been a feeling manifested this week right here in Maine, which is not going to please or to help Blaine. The Logan boom is a surprise. All this week the Illinois senator has been here. On the occasion of Tuesday's procession he was the one man whom everybody knew, everybody wanted to see and everybody cheered. At all public meetings and at secret or executive sessions of the national encampment Logan was the central figure. On the streets, up at the camp ground, everywhere he was the man. Mrs. Logan has been as conspicuous as popular, and as much an object of admiration and respect to the curious crowd as the general himself. She is not so handsome as those who have read of her without seeing her expect. She is not stately or imposing, but she knows how to keep herself before the public in a modest yet profitable way. Seated in an open carriage before the Falmouth hotel at noon on Wednesday, every body asked who that lady was, and there were enough Illinois and other men around by accident to gratify the curiosity. This has been a Logan week in the Blaine state. Perhaps this thing can be reversed, but it is doubtful if Mrs. Blaine could do in Illinois what Mrs. Logan did in Maine.

BOLD ROBBERY.

A man named Van Buren Reynolds was robbed of $500 under rather extraordinary circumstances, on the upper Columbia river a few days since. Reynolds took passage with a couple of men named Ryan and Smith from Farwell, intending to cross "the line" into American territory. On the third night out the party camped on the lower Arrow lake. Early on the morning of the 12th Reynolds woke up to find his two companions standing over him, one holding a revolver to his head, while the other rifled his pockets. They took from him the whole of his money, some $500, and decamped in the boat in which they had been travelling.

Reynolds was left without food in a most desolate region, 100 miles from the home of any human being. He set to, however, built himself a raft, and started off, intending to make his way down the river by this precarious method of navigation. Luckily he was picked up by the steamer Kootenai a few hours after he had started on his perilous voyage. The two thieves got through to Spokane Falls, and the last heard of them was that they were making for Portland, with Reynolds in hot pursuit.

SEA SICKNESS.

It is claimed by experts that have made the causes of sea sickness a study, that robust persons, of good digestion, are more liable to sea sickness than the dyspeptic. Imagination has much to do with bringing on the dread accompaniment to a sea voyage, as the following fact proves: A gentleman going upon an East Indian voyage was troubled by sea sickness on the passage, nine miles from the wharf to Boston light. The ship anchored in Nantucket roads, to await a fair wind, and our friend turned into his berth. After he had slept an hour or two he was awakened by a fellow passenger, who said to him: "Well, we are outside the light, and she is slipping along very smoothly." Before he could get on the deck, to look at the ocean, he was overcome by the enemy, so that he required the steward's attention. The ship had not moved from her anchorage.

NOT SURE.

"Are you a Christian, sir?" asked a pious looking individual of a man he met at a prayer meeting.
"Well—ye-es—I suppose so," was the somewhat hesitating reply.
"You suppose so?" said the other, inquiringly.
"Well, I'm a member of the church," replied the man.
"A member of the church and not sure that you are a Christian?" exclaimed his friend.
"Now, you see, it's just this way: I'm a member of the church, and was getting along nicely, until in an evil moment I joined the choir."
"O, I see."

The new gold discovery on Snake river is believed to be genuine. Doubts are many and expressions free that it is another Cour d'Alene boom. The nearest point on the railway is at Durkee or Baker City, thirty miles distant. A wagon road runs within eight miles of the scene. The new camp is known as Pine Valley. Over 200 claims have been located, and parties are pouring in at the rate of fifty a day. Mining consists of placer and quartz. Placer mining is panning from 15 to 25 cents. What sorted rock one man could pound out in a mortar in one day has yielded as high as $200. Old prospectors pronounce it a great discovery.

A new grain hybrid between wheat and rye, has just been produced. The public will await with no small degree of interest to see the kind of whisky it will make.

FAST STEAMERS.

The performance of the steam yacht Stiletto is attracting general attention. The Stiletto is an American boat built by a blind man in Providence and designed especially to attain great speed in comparatively smooth water. On Wednesday last this little vessel ran twenty-eight miles on the Hudson river in one hour and seventeen minutes. Her builder, Mr. Herreshoff, says that she is capable of greater speed. Let us put the Stiletto's record in shape for purposes of comparison. The twenty-eight miles were made in one hour and seventeen minutes, or at the rate of 21.78 miles an hour. Reduced to nautical miles, this gives the Stiletto a speed of 18.8 knots. It is also said that the yacht ran ten miles in twenty-three minutes. If the measurement was accurate and the rate had been maintained for an hour, the speed during this burst would be 24.8 knots. On a recent passage between New York and Queenstown the Cunard steamship Etruria ran on three successive days 443, 441 and 445 knots respectively. As the course lay to the eastward, these were short days—that is to say, days of about twenty-three and a quarter hours of absolute time, instead of twenty-four hours. Making allowance for this fact, we find that for three days the Etruria maintained the average speed of 19.05 knots an hour. If we take the best day's run, the average maintained for twenty-four hours was 19.11 knots.

Frequent allusion has been made in these columns to the big ship building at Rockport, Me. The second largest sailing ship ever built in this country. She is naturally attracting considerable attention. This big ship will carry for lower masts four sticks of Oregon fir, which will trim up as follows: Main and fore-masts 90 feet long, 36 inches diameter, and jigger 88 feet long, 23 inches diameter. Those big sticks were towed down from Boston by a tug-boat, and were hauled out of the water by a long string of oxen. The mizen, main and fore masts will be square rigged, the lower and topsail yards being also of Oregon fir, while the jigger mast will be fore and aft rigged. The main top will be sixteen feet across and there will be room enough to put there for pretty nearly the whole ship's company. A good idea of the vessel's size, and of the spread of sail she will carry, may be had from the fact that it is 185 feet from the deck to the main track, while her lower yards are about ninety feet long.

The Convalescent.
"What is the matter with the patient?" asked a young and illiterate physician. "Why, he is convalescent," was the answer of the hospital attendant. "Oh! then," responded the physician, "that's nothing. I can cure convalescence in three hours." Such physicians ought to let people alone and allow them to cure themselves by using Brown's Iron Bitters. Mr. F. R. Perryman, Mobile Alabama, says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for weak back and indigestion, and am now all right."

The 19th of June was a great day for Alaska, the occasion being the starting of the large quartz mill on Douglas island. The mill began operation that day, and all the stamps, 120 in number, started at one time, and is now running in full blast and works beautifully. There is great rejoicing among all the miners over the great success. There was a salute fired of 120 guns in honor of the occasion.

No depressing effects from Red Star Cough Cure. No nausea; no reaction; no constipation.

Duncan C. Ross recently threw a twelve pound hammer 131 feet 6 inches, a twenty-one pound hammer 82 feet 3 1/2 inches, a fifty and one-half pound weight 26 feet 6 inches.

Are You Tired of Being Sick?
We want to say a word to the men, women and girls who work in stores, offices and factories. There are hundreds of thousands of you in all the country. Very few of you are well. You are shut up too much and exercise too little. In this way you get sick. Your blood is bad, your digestion poor, your head often aches, you don't feel like work. Your liver, stomach and kidneys are out of order. Parker's Tonic has cured hundreds of such cases. It is pure, sure and pleasant.

—The Rev. Geo. H. Thayer, of Bourbon, Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to SHILTON'S CONSUMPTION CURE." Sold by W. E. Dement.
