CROP PROSPECTS IN THE VALLEY.

The Willamette Farmer rates the prospective crop of wheat in the Willamette valley at 20 per cent less than last year, and adds: "The crop prospect is flattering, indeed, for while some talk of shortage and rust, etc., others say that it will be more than an average."

Yamhill county will turn out larger percentages of all products this year than for any season for many years past. Hay, grain, fruit, vegetables, all give promise of bountiful returns.
