ROUGH TREATMENT OF AN EX-CONSUL

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—C. A. Van Bokelen, of New York, ex-United States consul general at Port au Prince, arrived in this city to-day, as the law, however, and purchased property in Port au Prince, which transaction reaching the ear of Presarrest, and had him locked up in a wretched dungeon in the government prison at Port au Prince. Here his by four, and the walls were constantly dripping with water. There the unorrunate consul was forced to live from March, 1884, until the 27th of June, 1885, the place being infested forest and at the same time exposed with rats and loathsome vermin. His health which was robust when he was first imprisoned, is now entirely away from the places where the shots tention was paid by President Solomon to letters from Secretary Freling huysen, and he was not released un-til Secretary Bayard wrote to the Haytien president demanding his instant release, stating at the same time that if he was not released a United man-of-war would be dispatched to Port an Prince with in-structions to adopt severe measures if necessary. The truth of the story is vouched for by the captain and purser of the steamer.

Information from San Marco, Texas, reports that a mob of seventy-five persons at Blanco, on Wednesday night, went to the jail and demanded of Sheriff Jackson the keys. Jackson said he did not have them, and he also declared he could not procure them. After a severe struggle Jack-son was overpowered, the keys were found on his person, and the mob entered the jail and took out Lockie, the man who committed a wholesale murder in Jackson county a few days ago. They hanged him, after obtaining from him a statement in regard to his crimes. Lockie made a full confession, and said he had intended to kill all the members of three or four families besides those he mur-

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Some time in the fall of 1884, Browning, who formerly lived in As-Browning, who formerly lived in Astoria, moved on to the ranch of Peter Norris, near the mouth of Cedar river, Prince, arrived in this city to-day, as a passenger on the American steamer Hagtien Republic, from Port an Prince. He tells a remarkable story of ontrageous treatment at the hands began working for Norris. During of the Haytien government. While acting as consul general Mr. Van Bokelen married a Haytien woman, and at the end of his term of office took up the business of dealing in the paper money of the native govthe paper money of the native government. At this he made considerable money, and then desired to invest part of his gains in real estate, but this was forbidden by the law of Hayti, which denies that right to any but a native of Hayti. He evaded band had started out berrying, leaving word for her to call him to dinner; that a short time aft-erwards she heard two shots from the ident Salomon, chief magistrate of the republic, he caused Van Bokelen's and had not since seen him. Norris, being interrogated, said be also had heard the shots, but put them at a different hour and direction from what the woman said. Cedar river is only companions were negroes of the most debased type, many of them being murderers and desperadoes, and very often the prison, which is a small wretched structure, built on low, swampy ground, was crowded with swampy ground, was crowded with the time of Browning's disappearance and them. His dangeon was a narrow the manner of Mrs. Browning and stone cell, which measures eight feet of Norris roused the suspicion that they knew its cause, and this feeling has never entirely disap-peared. A late forest fire in that secthe half decomposed remains of the missing Browning, some four miles broken down, and he has become a victim to both consumption and chronic catarrh, while his face is pale and haggard, and gives every evidence has lately removed. Sheriff Turner is investigating the matter, and while that there is foul play somewhere, says that the place is such an out of the way corner it seems almost impossible to get positive data to work on. Two things are certain: that Browning is dead, and that his death occurred unaccountably unless some one killed him. Who was it?
