

The Daily Astorian. ASTORIA, OREGON: SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1885

"CALLED BACK" the muggumps by the New York Republicans.

The official census of Minnesota, just completed, shows a population of 1,118,456, an increase of 337,713 since 1880.

The number of immigrants landed at Castle Garden so far this year is 25,000 or thereabouts less than during the corresponding period of 1884.

It is a curious fact that the Buffalo Telegraph, the first paper to publish the Maria Halpin scandal, has not only ceased to exist, but has been absorbed by the Evening News, Cleveland's home organ.

DIVERS have brought to the surface from the wreck of the steamship Atlantic, which was lost near Morris rock, N. S., in 1873, a bar of iron with seventy sovereigns attached, which must have been affixed by some chemical action.

"ABOUT nine thousand actors will start from New York with the various traveling attractions in October," said a prominent theatrical manager to a Sun reporter recently.

The failure to hold the September term of court in this county is to be regretted for several reasons. With the legislature rests the blame, though, as in most cases of the kind, "blame" is useless.

A CURIOUS result of the new act in England for the protection of young girls, which advances the age of consent to sixteen years, is that girls under sixteen who have not previously lived a correct life, find the greatest difficulty in obtaining situations as domestic servants.

GEN. SHEPHERD, writing the other day to Col. Pavey of Pittsfield, Mass., declining an invitation to visit the Berkshire Hills, added: "I will not have an hour to myself till after September 15th, having to travel 5,000 or 6,000 miles to comply with engagements to oblige other persons than myself."

The engineers of the St. Gothard railway are said to have reported that it would be impossible to transport the 200-ton guns the Krupp manufactory at Essen has engaged to manufacture for the Italian government, and of which one is now ready, as the line and bridges would sink beneath such a weight.

CONSIDERABLE present effort is made to boom Yaquina. The News-San Francisco correspondent and Portland newspapers generally appear to be enthusiastic over things that way. We are glad to see such disinterested aid to a worthy project. Yaquina has natural and acquired advantages that deserve attention.

The French are going to commemorate the revolution by a tremendous exposition in the centenary year of 1889, at Paris. An immense building will be put up, extending from the place du Champs Elysees to the Place du Concert de l'Horloge, and life as it was in Paris a hundred years ago will be reproduced by various peculiar devices.

CALIFORNIA papers are discussing the financial wisdom of cities going in debt; the majority favor the idea, and say that it is a good plan. No amount of plausible reasoning or deft logic can controvert one plain established truth—what man is there better off for being in debt? and what is a city or a community but an aggregation of individuals?

It is reported in London that King Alfonso will ask the emperor of Austria to use his influence with the German government in behalf of Spain, and to persuade Prince Bismarck to abandon his scheme of occupation of the Caroline islands. King Alfonso is further reported as saying that the affair has so aroused the Spanish people that he would lose his throne should he recede from the claim of Spain to the islands, and that Spain would be ruined if he should push his claim.

The Oregon Pacific railroad, under the name of the Willamette Valley & Coast railroad, submits to the people of Linn county a proposition to secure their aid for extension of the road from Corvallis to Albany. They are asked to subscribe $50,000 for the purpose either in money or such land and water privileges as the company may be willing to accept as part of the subscription. They offer to establish a depot in the town of Albany and to erect depot buildings and repair shops thereon.

THE United States authorities at Port Townsend have sixteen Chinese on hand who had been smuggled from this side of the line to the other last Friday, and were ordered back to British Columbia by the district court. The United States marshal arrived with the Chinamen, and they not having certificates were asked to pay $50 entrance fee. This they had not, and the United States marshal did not pay it for them. They were taken back to Port Townsend, and it will now be necessary for the government to decide where the Chinese are entitled to find a resting place.

THE work on the line of the C. & O. road above Delta will be begun at once, but until next spring it will be confined to certain points where the greatest difficulties will be met with, such as hills that must be tunneled, or great ledges that must be cut through. During the winter the work will be pushed ahead as fast as its nature will permit, although it is not possible to make use of so large a force of workmen as the company would like to employ. But the work done, although in a nature preparatory, will prove of immense value when the work is pushed next spring all along the line, as will be done. If nothing interferes with the progress of the work, the line will be completed to the Oregon boundary within one year.

J. KERGOVATZ, a chemist of Brest, has discovered a mode of disposing of the mortal remains of humanity which he considers preferable in every way both to inhumation and cremation. All that is necessary is to rub the body over with a solution of plumbagine and then plunge it into a copper bath. But copper being rather an expensive mineral, zinc may be substituted for it in case of the poor. On the other hand, persons of luxurious tastes may use silver or gold if they please, the effect being the same. The discoverer has tried his system eleven times on the human subject and on a hundred dead animals, and he has never once known it to fail. Among the manifold advantages which would result from the adoption of this system, M. Kergovatz mentions one which, if generally availed of, will strike a death blow at one of the fine arts. By simply prolonging the duration of the bath the body is rendered as hard as an indestructible granite, and thus the country is provided with "ready made statues of great men," and the state and the communes will be saved in the future the considerable expense which our present dependence on the statuary art for memorial purposes imposes on them.
