SAMPLES OF THE REV. SAM JONES.

I declare to you that in this nineteenth century of light, if a man preaches truth and nothing but truth, they call him a crank. It's not bad on him, but it's rough on the crowd.

If Cornelius was a sample of what men were, then we are going back to monkeys. Some of us have nearly reached that point already, and if we could get a little more hair and a few more tails it would set us up.

You women think I ain't nice, but your husband drinks till he's like a demijohn. You can run your arm through that demijohn and go to church with him, but a preacher must be delicate or he'll offend you must be delicate or he'll offend you.

When a man calls me a crank I look him in the face and tell him he is either a fool or a scoundrel or mixed. That's the worst mixture ever was, about half fool and half rascal, and you can't help one part for the other.

The delicate or he'll offend you.

Face, Ears and Neck, which the Druggist, where I got your remedles, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come mader his online. He advised me to try your Current Cura REMEDIES and after five days' use, my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

The delicate or he'll offend you.

Face, Ears and Neck, which the Druggist, where I got your remedles, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come mader his other worst cases that had

Look at the murders and other terrible crimes, crimes against women and children. Some say we ought to talk about the nice side of a thing. A nice preacher is the nicest thing in the world, but he ain't fit for nothing.

They talk about me being ill-bred and illiterate. It ain't so. I'm not ill-bred, and if you'll go home with me I'll prove it to you. If you believe I'm ignorant I'll go before a committee and I'll show I'm not by being examined with you. I know I'm criticised by newspapers and others, but if you'll read the newspapers you'll see what makes me this

I ought to be dignified, and will be as soon as I die. A dead man is the most dignified thing in the world. He doesn't make any noise or dis-turb anybody; he just lies still. But how can I be diguised in life, with boys falling and girls losing their characters, all the world going hellward? I tried being dignified once, and if you knew how I felt you would have been sorry for me. There's a woman over there turning up her nose at me. I don't know what's the matter with you Kentucky women. I like you; yes I do. I married a Ken-tucky sirl and she was just to a woot tucky girl, and she was just as sweet and pretty, seventeen years ago, as you are. If she can put up with me seventeen years of happy wedlock, you ought to stand me during a camp-meeting.

A scientist lecturing in Philadelphia on coal, says it takes a prodigious amount of vegetable matter to form a layer of coal; that it is estimated that the present growth of the world would make a layer only one eighth of an inch thick, and that it would take 1,000,000 years to form a coal bed 100 feet thick. The United States has an area of 440,000 square miles of coal fields; 100,000,000 tons of coal were mined in this country last year, enough to run a ring around the earth at the equator five and a half feet wide and five and a half feet thick, and there is enough coal in the United States to supply the whole world for a period of 1,500 to 2,000 years. When coal is burned for illuminating purposes at least 90 per cent is wasted.
