THE LIME-KILN CLUB.

Official Proceedings—Immense Profit in Discovering Comets.

Elder Toots having got most of his feet under the red hot stove, and Col. Cahoots having succeeded in knocking down a bust of Plato and wrecking $500 worth of relics, Brother Gardner arose and said:

"What I hanker arter am to meet a plumb up 'n' down man. Dar am pussions in dis club who wobble about like a loose wagon wheel. One day dey greet you wid a grin as soft as June, an' de nex' day doan' know you as you pass on de street. I doan' mean to hurt no man's feelin's, but I mean to be plumb.

"If Whalebone to house an' ax de loan of a dollar I wouldn't keep him on de hooks fur half an hour fur a decision. I should at once reply to him: "Whalebone, de man who uses money aimed by his wife at de wash-tub to buy lottery tickets can't get no dollar outter me!" When a man axes my religion I doan' beat aroun' de bush to find out if he has found a short cut to Heaven, but I denounce myself as a Baptist an' take my chances by de ole road.

"When you think yes or no doan' hesitate to say so. Doan' be leavin' one way one day an' some odder way on de nex'. De man who knows whar' to find you won't go away mad, eben if you decide agin him. Our Samuel Shin am one day gwine to be a statesman an' de nex' he's gwine to open a saloon wid a gilded ceilin'. One day you will find him a Methodist an' de nex' you will see him devourin' a Universalist sermon. Meet him in de mawnin' an' he am a ferocious Republican; catch him in arternoon an' he am a good Democrat.

"Be plumb up an' down. If you am sot on bein' good, stick to it. If you am sot on bein' bad doan' let de pursecase bluff you off. If you like a man tell him he is de best de use of your snow-shovel all summer. If you can't how co'n wid him, ax him to buy out or sell out an' take some odder cw'path. De wobbly man am a pussion to be shunned. Tryin' to do bizness wid him am time wasted an labor frown away."

AFTER COMETS.

The Chairman of the Committee on Astronomy submitted his quarterly report, from which it was learned:

1. The committee have come to the unanimous conclusion that the moon is inhabited, but have thus far failed to open up social or commercial intercourse.
2. The sun moves, and don't you forget it! If the sun doesn't move, how does it get from east to west? Besides, why should the earth fool away its valuable time by moving around the sun?
3. The next eclipse will be arranged to come off on the Fourth of July, in order to add zest and enthusiasm to the occasion.
4. The Rochester Observatory having offered $200 apiece for all the new comets discovered during the year 1885, the committee has purchased a 24 telescope and arranged three red chairs on the roof of Paradise Hall, and will put in some heavy squinting at the heavens as soon as the thermometer takes a climb. In case 500 comets are discovered, the committee will donate $7,000 towards building a new Paradise Hall.

IT DIDN'T PASS.

Prof. Springfield Bowers then offered a resolution to reduce the initiation fee from fifty to twenty-five cents, making the general hard times his excuse for so doing.

"Brooder Bowers, does it cost any less to git into the Legislachur or Congress dis 'yar dan it did last?" asked the President.

"I reckon not, sah."

"Den why should de Lime-Kiln Club begin a cut on prices?"

Brother Bowers didn't know, and the resolution was dipped into hot water and laid on the window-sill to crystallize.

THE LIBRARY.

The Librarian reported that he had received during the last quarter 522 volumes, 529 of which were almanacs published by the poets St. Jacob and Hostetter. He had now over 18,000 almanacs on hand, and anybody wanting to know the date of the month for fifty years back or ahead could be instantly accommodated.

The library had been open this winter five nights in a week, from 7 to 10 o'clock, and the average attendance had been thirty-two. It grieved him through and through to be compelled to add that a majority of those dropping in spent most of the time in chewing plug tobacco and talking politics. He had no recommends to make in this direction, but desired to enter his solemn protest against remaining longer in charge of the room unless it was provided with a fire escape. As matters no stood a fire on the stairs would compel him to jump from a third-story window. The matter was canvassed pro and con by several members, and the President finally dismissed the subject by saying:

"I has ten feet of rope at de house which I will bring down, an' in case of a fish de librarian kin splice on his suspenders and drop de rest of de way down."

SPRING WHITEWASHING.

Waydown Bebebe desired to indulge in a few remarks on the subject of spring work. He presumed that his fellow-members realized the fact that art had taken gigantic strides in the last ten years. In by-gone days the better residences asked for nothing but on the ceiling than whitewash laid on in separate colors and picked in with the Roman shade of calcimine. In these days the humblest citizen demanded art by the sled load. Plain whitewash, even for an alley fence, had seen its day. Every member pursuing the trade must make himself an artist and study colors and lights and shades. He must also have more pay, and Brother Bebebe moved that the President appoint a committee of three to canvass the matter and report.

The President appointed Messrs. Bebebe, Walpole and Blazes as such committee, and intimated that the rates for spring whitewashing should be advanced at least twenty-five per cent.

THE CLOSE.

The meeting was then called upon to sit still while Prof. Highstrung Smith recited an oration entitled, "A Storm at Sea." The sea appeared to be considerably agitated. So did the Professor, and when he was finally carried from the Hall in a limp condition the meeting adjourned.

The Cashier Who Had no Election.

On a suburban theater train the other night a little party were talking of pathetic scenes upon the stage and how they were variously affected by them.

"For my part," said a dapper young man, "I never yet saw anything on the stage that could moisten my eye. I leave the crying to little boys and women."

"Oh, you do, do you?" replied a bluff old gentleman, an officer of one of the roads; every time I hear a young man talk as you do I feel like telling a little incident that once came under my notice in New York City. A party of us sat in a box, "Glazel Kirk" was the play. None of us had ever seen it. I shed a tear or two quietly and unobserved, but rough old Gen. McRae cried like a baby. He was President of a Georgia railroad then, and in New York on business. He was a regular martinet in his profession, stern and unrelenting. He was an old bachelor, too, and so far as known never had tender feeling toward woman or kin. He had lived a life solitary and absolutely unselfish. We were all surprised to see such emotion in such a man, but none of us said anything except young George —, of Atlanta. He laughed at the old General's weakness.

"Can you witness such a scene as that with dry eyes?" inquired the General with all his old sternness of manner and speech.

"Why, of course I can. I could laugh at it even as I laugh at you."

"See here, George," said Gen. McRae, with great earnestness, "you are cashier of a bank in Atlanta, in that bank my company has many thousands of dollars deposited. Immediately upon my return home every dollar of our deposits shall be withdrawn. You may be an honest man, but I do not feel safe with our money in an institution where one of the responsible officers is a person who talks as you talk tonight."

"Upon his return to Atlanta the General did as he promised. And luckily too, for in less than six months that bank was nearly ruined by a heavy embezzlement by its cashier."

The "Old Masters."

In several principal towns of Italy there are regular workshops for the forgery of the masters who formerly painted there. Thus, in Bologna, the imitations are chiefly of the Caracci and their followers, as well as of Carlo Dolce and Sassoferrate; at Venice, of Titian and Giorgione. In Milan and Ferrara, the fabrications after the schools of Luini and Garofalo are especially successful, as well as those of Maxome's beautiful portraits. Old and ruined panels are chosen, and either restored on the original design or, if that has been obliterated, they are prepared and painted afresh. Sometimes the portions that have suffered least are allowed to remain, and new bits of varied composition are ingeniously dovetailed into the piece, which is then beplastered with varnish, the better to puzzle too curious observers. In all these cases, the treatment of some famed master is so exactly imitated as often to baffie detection, even where suspicion has been roused by the confused appearance of the work; and the dissimilarity of surface often escapes minute criticisms out of respect to the warm channels visible behind. The forgeries thus executed are issued by a class of Italian dealers, who, sometimes in the disguise of gentlemen, lend themselves to the imposition, and share its profits.

What Parents Fear.

Many persons—especially parents—object to quack nostrums as likely to engender or encourage a love for strong drink. They are right. Better to die of disease than of drunkenness. The use of Parker's Tonic does not involve this danger. It not only builds up the system, curing all ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, but it stimulates without intoxicating and absolutely cures the appetite for liquor.

—Shiloh's Vitalizer is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle. Sold by W. E. Dement.

Sydney Smith on Happiness.

I have a contempt for persons who destroy themselves. Live on, and look evil in the face; walk up to it and you will find it less than you imagined, and often you will not find it at all, for it will recede as you advance. When you are in a melancholy fit, first suspect the body, appeal to rhubarb and calomel, and send for the apothecary; a little bit of gristle sticking in the wrong place, an untimely consumption of custard, excessive gooseberries, often cover the mind with clouds and bring on the most distressing views of human life. I start up at 2 o'clock in the morning after my first sleep, in an agony of terror, and feel all the weight of life upon my soul. It is impossible that I can bring up such a family of children; my sons and daughters will be heugars; I shall live to see those whom I love exposed to the scorn and contumely of the world! So I argued, and lived dejected and with little hope; but the difficulty vanished as life went on. My daughters married well; I had two or three appointments, and before life was half over became a prosperous man. And so will you. Friends start up out of the earth; time brings a thousand chances in your favor. Nothing so absurd as to sit down and wring your hands because all the good which may happen to you in twenty years has not taken place at this precise moment.

A friend that you have to buy won't be worth what you pay for him no matter how little that may be. But this is not true of St. Jacobs Oil. Each bottle of that great pain-cure is worth its weight in gold.
