A NOVEL NEWSPAPER.

All sorts of newspapers to foster all sorts of ideas are daily started in these United States. Some of them succeed; some don't just like any other business. One of the most singular newspapers is one that appears to have struck a new lead. It is original, if nothing else. It is published at Richland, Kansas, and is called The Future. Its mission or business or intent or idea, seems to be to calculate what kind of weather is going to be next week and the week after and the week after that. Most journals are content to tell what happened yesterday or the day before; this professes to be able to tell what is going to happen (if weather ever does "happen") in the deigns to impart occult information to the simple sons of men announces that there will be no extraordinary weather in November. Reading this we take heart and proceed. Farther on we learn that "there will be considerable pleasant November weath er scattered through the month." "There will," so we are informed, "be the usual number of storms during the month, some of which will be moderately severe;" (storms usually are "moderately severe") and a good part of what falls "will be in the form of snow." There is not a boy ten years of age in any public school in the United States that couldn't give just as good a guess as that. He might as well go on and tell us that water was wel, or that the sun gave the earth light as to double lead a whole lot of such rot as we quote.

On the next page of The Future is an editorial prophecy on Pacific coast weather. The editor has yield-ed to the plaintive importunities of yearning multitudes on this coast and is now prepared after days of toil and weary nights of watching and patient study to announce that "the coming winter will be a wet one on the Pacific coast." Any one in Oregon who had supposed for a moment that we were going to have a dry winter will see at once how mistaken he was. Had it not been for the full brain and superior knowlless wealth, less population and of far less importance have three or four times the representation that we have. that it was going to rain here this

The British bark Abernyte, 700, Campbell master 66 days from Brisbane, arrived in last Sunday.

Twenty-one sail ships took cargoes of wheat and lumber from Puget gratitude, the glad feeling that filled our heart when we learned this. We had feared that the rain would stop short in January or February, but now we are informed by the member from Kansas that we may confidently look for showers here as late as March, or even April. True, rain is scarce in Oregon in March or April, but has he not said it, and when next March or April the rain falls on the just and the unjust—principally on the just who have had their unhealls nirped by the unjust we will.

Barbara Still Distinguishes Herself.

A woman known as "Crazy Mag' was brought up from Astoria yesterday by Sheriff Ross, on the way to Salem, having been declared insane. He placed her in the county jail, where she kept everybody awake for a block around by her screams and yells of murder. About 3 o'clock this morning she became suspiciously quiet and Jailer Dougherty went to see what she was up to. He got there just in the nick of time to save Mag's life, and probably many more lives, and the court house, too. Mag had set her bedding on fire with a match which she had managed to keep concealed somewhere on her person, and the blaze was just begin ning to loom up beautifully. She was taken to the asylum this morning, much to the relief of everyone around the jail and the neighbor-hood. Standard.

There is no branch of the public ser-vice more important than that which has for its object the saving of life along the thousands of miles of national sea coast. On the Atlantic side the service has been fostered and developed to a high degree of efficiency. On the Pacific coast as much as pos-sible has been made of the limited means placed at the disposal of the service.

Major T. J. Blakeney, superintendent of the service on this coast, is now in this vicinity on his semi-annual tour of inspection. He visited Ft. Canby and Cape Hancock last Saturday and left yesterday for Shoslwater bay and Paget Sound. While at Cape Hancock Capt. Al. Harris and his well drilled crew of The articles, prophecies, calculations, etc., read very owlish, but to people that like that sort of thing that is, no doubt, the sort of thing they would like.

The first editorial is in capitals, double leaded: the prophecy is for November. The awful being who and efficient manner in which the drill was gone through with. Major Blakeney states his intention to put the crew at Shoalwater bay station in as effective a condition as possible. He recognizes the importance of the station and intends to have suitable buildings constructed as soon as possible. A life boat of new and improved model is now in construc-tion for that station; it is the intention to have another built and placed at the Cape Hancock station this season. The station at Cape Hancock is in some respects the most important one on the Pacific coast. For this reason better buildings are a necessity. The present quarters provided are only an excuse and are so dilapidated as to be almost unhabitable. At present the men are obliged to mess in a sort of shed, and as a matter of policy the efficiency and spirit of the service would be enhanced by the provision of more suitable accommodation.

Major Blakeney is hopeful that at the next session of congress an act will be passed appropriating a suit-able amount for the establishing of a new station near Ft. Stevens. The necessity for this has long been rection was made two years ago, but the national legislature moves slowly.

STATE AND TERRITORAL

Bill Nye will lecture in Walla Walla in about a month.

Burglaries of private residences are nightly occurences in Portland.

Snow is fourteen inches deep at Pocatella and eastern Oregon points. An effort will be made at the extra session to pass a bill regulating the practice of medicine in this state.

Ezra Meeker has presented the Tacoma chamber of commerce with a jar of sugar made from beets grown in the territory.

The county commissioners Washington county have bought the Fleck farm, near Newton station, consisting of 100 acres, for $1,550. On the recommendation of Dr.

Kimball, director of the mint, Secretary Manning has authorized the suspension of the mint at Carson City, Nevada, as mining there is de moralized and doesn't pay.

One of the exports of Oregon and northern California is chitum wood, or rather the bark of the same. It is shipped all over the world. Dealers pay $170 a ton for the bark. The Corvallis Gazette says itis used as a remedy for constipation.

The Baker City Sage Brush is assured of a good, healthy and productive boom in mining next spring. Mining men of all sections have looken over the field, and they are all thoroughly convinced that it is the most profitable field for mining enterprise on the coast.

The people of Bellingham bay have received news that work on the railroad to connect them with the Cana-dian Pacific will be begun in early spring. Two miles of road have al-ready been built, from Schome north. The connection with the Canadian Pacific will be at a point some thirty-five miles east of Port Moody. The road itself will be about thirty miles in length.

The Baker City courthouse burned down recently, was built in 1869, at a cost of $10,000. A stone vault built in 1872, saved the county not less than $50,000. The Reveille says: "The town is full of dead beats, who would do any ciece of work like that for $5, and it is only a forerunner of something more serious if our citi-zens do not take measures to protect

The first steamboats of the season "tooted" their whistles in Albany on Wednesday says the Herald-Dissem-inator. The Salem came up and went on to Corvallis, returning again, and passed down. The Topsy came down from Corvallis and returned; she will probab'y hereafter make daily trips, unless she concludes to go to Harrisburg also, in which case she will be there every other day. Her capacity is twenty tons of freight and twenty passengers.

A great mining boom is expected in the northwest in the spring of 1886. There are several regions to develop and all are assured of a great rush. Cour d'Alene expects to enrush. Ceur d'Alene expects to enjoy a boom that will excel all others.

The region is being developed by eastern capitalists. Pine creek will also come in for a boom. That seepested this evening.

The work of improving the Umpqua river from Scottsburg to the mouth is progressing satisfactorily. A chain of five rock reefs once extended cross the river, and was a great barrier to navigation. Three of them have been blasted, and the other two will probably be soon. The removal of the three reefs gives two feet of pay required. It is guaranteed to give water at the lowest stage, and with perfect satisfaction, or money refunded, the remaining two out of the way, there will be three feet. From E. The Wilson River Road company has incorporated, its object being to construct a clay and macadamized road from Forest Grove up Gales creek, thence westerly across the coast range of mountains, the Wilson river pass, to the head waters of the Wilson river in Tillamook county, thence along either bank of said river to tide water, and thence by the most practicable route to Tillamook Landing on Hoquarton slough at head of navigation on Tillamook bay, being a distance of about forty miles. The true in wardness of the shooting of Charles Campbell by Wirt W. Saunders at Albany Wednesday evening, has come to light. Campbell, it is said, has been writing insu ting letters to Miss Mattie Allison. On Wednesday evening they met by appointment, and the young lady accused him of writing the letters. He said, "I suppose we are even now." Just then Saunders stepped up and asked Campbell why he "per-sisted in insulting Mattie." The latter put his hand in his hip pocket, and Saunders drew a 45-calibre revolver and fired twice. One bullet struck Campbell in the region of the heart ranging down to his bowels. The coroner's jury held Saunders for the murder, and Miss Allison as an accessory. Both are now in jail.

SEATTLE, Nov. 8.—Ten companies of the Fourteenth Infantry, Colonel DeRussy, commanding, arrived here at 2:30 this morning. They were met at the depot by an immense crowd, but no demonstrations were made. Two companies of local militia guarded the track as the train came in and kept the people from approaching the cars. Soon after arriving, the troops marched to the quarters prepared for them in Chinatown, where they are now stationed. No disturbance has taken place except a few personal encounters between citizens and helf interviented.

The feeling against the Chinese among the private soldiers seems to be fully as great as among the labor-ing men. Several times to-day parties of soldiers have attacked China-men, as they consider them to blame for their having been ordered here. In one instance a soldier who was found beating a Chinaman was thor-oughly whipped by a Knight of La-
