

A neat fitting boot or shoe can be had at the sign of the Golden Shoe. Chenamus street from Main to Benton seems badly in need of "improvement."

The union Gospel meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening will begin at seven o'clock sharp, standard time.

Tickets for the concert and entertainment by Cushing Post Cornet band, can be had at the New York Novelty store.

The I. X. L. building, occupied by the New York Novelty store is to have a new and improved front placed in it this month.

Jeff is renovating and refitting the building next to O. Sovey's saloon and says he will open a popular restaurant there before long.

B. S. Worsley will sell at his auction rooms to-day, at 2 o'clock P. M., on account of departure, a choice and beautiful collection of sixty house plants.

A man advertised for a bookkeeper in Portland Friday day, and had sixty answers before night. Another advertised for a week in vain for an A. 1. horsehoe. The moral of this bulge is right out.

Get your Thanksgiving turkey at Reed's Union market; he also has ducks and geese, which he will deliver at your house at lowest rates. All kinds of wild game, and fish daily delivered.

Cushing Post Cornet band have always been ready and willing to oblige the public; now that they are to have an entertainment which will be worth more than the price of admission, they will be pleased to see a large attendance.

John Sanstrom writes from Skamokawa that a man named Frank Nelson, a native of Calmo, Sweden, is missing from that place since last Friday and is supposed to be drowned. He has a brother in San Francisco.

The News says Vancouver is mad. The United States soldiers stationed there were recently paid off and "fired" to Seattle, where they are spending their money. Seattle has recently "fired" her Chinese, and they are flocking to Vancouver.

Coroner Ross received a telegram from Ed. McGuire last evening, saying that the dead body of a man had come ashore about a mile below Point Adams light house. The coroner will go over this morning to hold an inquest. The probability is that it is one of the men lost from the plunger Emma that came ashore near Grimes' last week.

Grace Hawthorne has scored a bright success. The applause she brings is spontaneous and genuine; her week here she was several times complimented by recalls at the close of the play, which is a rare distinction for an actress to achieve in this city.—St. Louis Republican. Reserved seats at the New York Novelty store.

THE ASTORIAN job office is in receipt of several thousand pounds of paper direct from the manufacturers in Chicago. Merchants and business men can get job work at this office at San Francisco prices. We don't ask your work for sympathy, or help, or home pride, or anything else, but just on this: that we will do it just as good and just as cheap as it can be done in Portland or San Francisco and you will save money by patronizing us for anything in our line.

Considerable land is being taken up, homesteaded, preempted and purchased in this county this fall; some under the timber act, some otherwise. Quite a colony have taken a large and valuable tract of land about ten miles south and east of Knappa. Wm. McCabe, Alex. Campbell, Jos. Surprenant, J. F. Warren, W. E. Warren, Sam Ellison and several more have claims there, and with a little improved facilities for getting logs to tide water they will each and all have a valuable quarter section.

It is a pleasant commentary on our efficient mail service to know that Oregon mail from San Francisco now goes up through California on the California Pacific railroad to Sacramento, and from there on the Central Pacific road through eastern California, across the state of Nevada into Utah territory, nearly 900 miles east, and then doubles back and comes westward by way of Umatilla to Portland. This may be the new and correct way, but Astorians were better pleased when they got their mail two days from San Francisco by steamer. There is freight in this office received by the Oregon five days ago, and the invoice has not yet been received by mail.

WHAT IS READ.

Inquiry at the different book stores develops the fact that the principal newspapers sold are the New York Story Paper, Fireside Companion and Saturday Night. The most popular periodical is the Young Ladies' Fashion Journal, over 150 copies being sold every month. Of the Century about 75 copies are sold every month, and about 45 Harper's. The magazine is the only one of Harper's publications that has much circulation in Astoria.

At present there is considerable demand for books relating to the Swedish language and giving instruction therein. A large number of outside publications are taken, newspapers and magazines coming through the postoffice. Several hundred Oregonians, News and Standard are taken here; the Mercury, Welcome, Stiftings and other state newspapers find numerous purchasers. Next to THE ASTORIAN the Oregonian has the largest circulation in this city.

NEHALEM NOTES.

A Valuable Section that Wants to be Annexed to Clatsop County.

ORION PEAK, Or., Nov. 6, 1885.

EDITOR ASTORIAN:

In two previous articles I advocated the building of a wagon road from Astoria to Nehalem valley and Tillamook, and endeavored to show that it was the interest of Astoria to aid in the enterprise. I will devote this letter to another important (at least important to Nehalemites) matter of change and improvement.

County lines, as well as all other boundaries, ought to be so located and described as to be easily followed, and no room for doubt or litigation. Is this so in respect to the boundary between Clatsop and Tillamook counties? Paragraph 9, title 2, chapter 8, Oregon laws, says: "The line of boundary between the counties of Tillamook and Clatsop shall be as follows: Commencing at the extreme western point of Arch Cape, thence easterly to the summit of the coast range of mountains." This is a little better than the old description, which was "Commence on the top of Saddle mountain, thence east along said summit to the north line of Polk county, thence west to Pacific ocean, and thence north to the place of beginning." But while it is an improvement on the old, it is capable of as much more improvement. Who knows where the extreme western point of Arch Cape is? That point may have been determined by a coast survey, but have never found any one that knew where it was. It was relatively determined, the line would have to be surveyed, and at considerable expense, to determine intermediate points. Then it would be found to divide congressional subdivisions of land in a very unsatisfactory manner. As near as we can locate this boundary, it runs through the Union Peak coal fields and one of the finest bodies of timber in Oregon; through land that will be long very valuable; and if its present indefiniteness is continued, it will be difficult for assessors to determine what property is in their jurisdiction. Here will be openings for trouble, and, perhaps, litigation. This matter should be settled at the earliest opportunity, and in the most satisfactory manner. This will be easier done by the legislature amending the act defining the boundary. And while the legislature is about it, let it be done understandingly and so as to serve the best interests of the present and future. The people of Nehalem are most concerned in this boundary question and their wishes ought to be consulted. Common sense tells us that the line ought to correspond with a congressional township line, but what one? While the line between 3 and 4 is within a mile or two of its present indefinite location, and it might be located on that line, yet that would still divide Nehalem valley and create some inconveniences, particularly in the matter of roads and schools.

I believe the unanimous desire of the Nehalemites is to become Clatsop citizens. Our business interests are all that way; Astoria is and must ever be our trading point. If that was our county seat, we could unite private with public business and "kill two birds with one stone." Then, if this boundary be located on the township line between townships 2 and 3 N, it will place the valley intact in Clatsop county where it properly belongs. It is true that Tillamook county, would by the change lose a strip of territory 7 or 8 miles wide, but she will still be sufficiently long. Clatsop county need not be afraid to take us in, for we are not an expensive people; we have no criminals nor paupers; no lawyers nor litigants. But the time may come when we will have considerable revenue. I hope to hear from others on this question.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. #### FROM YAQUINA BAY.

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP YAQUINA, YAQUINA BAY, Or., Nov. 1, 1885.

When we left Albany, two weeks ago, we thought to be ere this under the orange trees. But man proposes and God disposes, and for the last two weeks we have done nothing but walk up and down the docks at Yaquina city, chewing tooth picks, and board at the company's expense, and wait patiently for favorable winds and tide to carry us to the ocean. Last Thursday the vessel steamed up and headed by the tug Favorite, launched out among the breakers that divide Yaquina bay from the Pacific ocean. When about two-thirds of the way across the tug lost one of its propellers and had to cut loose from the steamer. The sea was running mountain high, and the white-crested waves dashed their spray over the deck of the vessel, and the stoutest heart fluttered a little when the soundings showed four feet of water on one side and seven on the other. A moment later she scraped on the bottom, trembled and stood still. The engine was reversed, and the steam was put on, and after a strong pull she backed out, swung round, grazed the rocks on the side of the channel and steamed back to the wharf. Several of the crew and some of the passengers were badly frightened, some went so far as to get on their life-preservers and say their prayers. We were not so badly frightened as some of the others, but still these few lines of an old song came vividly to our memory:

"It matters not, I have oft been told, Where the body lies when the heart is cold. But grant, Oh, grant this boon to me, Oh, bury me not in the deep blue sea."

The steamship Yaquina is a nice little vessel, 1,210 tons, commanded by Capt. John Gibson.—Albany Herald Disseminator, 6.

They will probably leave to-night with the prisoners.

Liberty's Legs.

A New York sculptor and National Academician says of our "Libby": "The figure is certainly balanced on the wrong leg. Try it yourself. Raise your right arm to its highest extent. Now you find you are balanced on the right leg. It must be so, because the tension on the right thigh must correspond to the straining of the arm. In the statue of Liberty this straining of the arm is not met by this correspondence, but just the opposite, the left being the balancing leg. Artistically, this is a bad fault."
