

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1893

Seat!
No 18 this time.
There is a God in Israel.
What a long tail our cat has.
Did you hear anything drap?
We have met the enemy and they are ours.

I came, I saw, I conquered.—John H. Mitchell.
Pick out a good seat John; you're there till 1891.

The Oregonian won't celebrate Thanksgiving.
The purchase of those letters was a bad investment.

The Oregonian's plea—"Didn't know it was loaded."
Go north, Scott, go north and freeze up with the country.

We'll have to get Senator Mitchell down here and give him an ovation.

Next to the legislature, Mitchell can thank the Oregonian for his election.

Thirty-eight Republicans and seventeen Democrats elected John H. Mitchell.

Mitchell had nine votes to spare. Those nine votes made it kind of sparring, as it were.

This is a pretty big state for one man to try to run, even if he does "take the dispatches."

Hurry up with the engraving of those letters Mr. Scott. The people yearn to see engravings.

In the case of the state of Oregon versus the Oregonian: Judgment for plaintiff—No appeal.

It was Talleyrand, the great French diplomat, who said, "Never write a letter; never destroy one."

Wonder did the Oregonian telegraph full particulars of Mitchell's election to the Chicago Times.

Majorities rule; that is the principle upon which this government rests. The majority was for Mitchell.

The Oregonian had no feeling of "malice" for Mitchell. Oh, no, by no means. It was actuated only by a desire for the public good.

The people, irrespective of politics, are glad to hear that they will have a friend in the senate next month, and the month after, and till 1891.

All honor to the fifty-five men who had the courage to faithfully represent their constituencies by electing John H. Mitchell to the senate of the United States.

If the Oregonian's foresights were equal to its hindsight, it would have let those letters remain in type without locking them in the forms of last Saturday's issue.

Mr. N. P. Johansen is again in business at the old stand, and solicits his share of public patronage. Mr. Johansen is one of our oldest and respected business men. See advt.

Mitchell announced his candidacy on Sunday, marshalled his forces on Monday, went into the fight on Tuesday, and won the victory on Wednesday. There's some style about a man like that.

Yesterday's News jollified and it has a right to. The News made a gallant fight for John H. Mitchell and deserves credit and substantial support. The News believes in the will of the people.

State senator F. C. Reed and representative C. Leinenweber never more truly represented the wishes of their constituents than when they voted for Hon. John H. Mitchell for senator last Wednesday.

The patrons of the manly art of self defense will see a first-class exhibition at Liberty Hall to-morrow night. Jack Dempsey, the champion middle weight of the world, Tom Cleary, Jack Keenan, Bill Davis, ex-champion of America, Joe Petty, Spud Murphy and other notables will appear. See advt.

Cushing Post Cornet band favored the Astorian office with a serenade last evening, the silvery notes of the music attracting quite a gathering who heartily applauded the music. The band are in splendid trim. They are all young men of marked musical ability; they have the finest set of instruments in the state, and have a splendid leader in the person of Mr. A. W. Utzinger, and practice so constantly and thoroughly that each one is almost perfect in his part.

What Are You Givin' Us?
The Oregonian's protest against Mitchell was made in pursuance of a high public duty.—Oregonian, 19.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Dr. Wm. Frothingham, one of the best known physicians of this city, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself through the head. It is supposed the deed was done during a temporary attack of insanity. Dr. Frothingham was the physician that brought the famous lawyer Chas. O'Connor, back from death's door seven years ago when everybody else had given up all hope.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 19.—Attorney-general Garland has rendered an opinion to the secretary of the treasury regarding the legality of the court of commissioners of Alabama claims as an organized body. He gives it his opinion that the court is a legally constituted body as the appointments of the judges, but does not touch on the general question of the legality of the appointments of other officers of the court.

FOREIGN.

RANGOON, Nov. 19.—General Pendergast, commanding the British expeditionary force, has strongly garrisoned the town of Minkin, which he captured from the Burmese.

BELOGRADE, Nov. 19.—Further particulars of Wednesday's defeat of the Servians by the Bulgarians received. The account from Tesaric to the Serbian headquarters, of the battle before Slivnitsa, state that the Servians were unable to bring up their full strength into action, and were thus defeated and compelled to withdraw to Dragoman Pass.

THE INDEPENDENT CLUB.
Pursuant to call the Independent club met at their hall in O'Brien's new building at eight o'clock last evening; C. W. Shively, in the chair. Wm. Humbel secretary. Five hundred printed copies of the platform of the club were placed on the secretary's desk and distributed among those present. The club passed a unanimous resolution thanking the legislature for electing John H. Mitchell to the United States senate, and another resolution tendering that gentleman their congratulations on the successful issue of the fight.

It was on motion ordered that at future meetings of the club none but members of those intending to sign the roll be admitted to the deliberations of the club. Henry Humbel was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

Perry Trullinger made some remarks concerning the action of the club. He thought that the members should not wait to hear of other nominations, but that they should at once proceed to nominate for mayor and councilmen, men who, in their judgment would fill those offices to the satisfaction of the public. A motion was made that the club nominate for those offices. A motion to adjourn was made and declared carried.

A motion to appoint a committee to confer with the club on the propriety of making such nominations was favorably entertained; the committee consisted of E. O'Connor, Jas. McCann and Jno. Rogers, whereupon a recess was taken.

Upon reassembling the committee reported that the club was favorable to the nomination of D. Morgan, Jr., for mayor. On motion the matter was not acted on definitely, being made the subject for discussion at the next meeting, which will be on Tuesday, the 24th inst.

A STATESMAN'S SPEECH.

Remarks of Senator John H. Mitchell on the Occasion of His Election.

Mr. President and Members of the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon.—In response to the vote you have just cast, and in response to your kind invitation within the bar, I am here to return my grateful acknowledgments for the great compliment you have just conferred on me. To be chosen as senator to the congress of the United States by the legislature of any state is a compliment of which any American citizen might well be proud; but when a state, through its legislative body, confers that distinguished honor a second time upon one of its citizens under the most adverse circumstances with which the recipient of that honor is surrounded, then an obligation is imposed which can never be discharged except by the most faithful and efficient discharge of public duty, not only towards this state and all its people and the Republican party, but toward our common country and all its cherished institutions and best interests. When to a citizen of any state comes the prize of a seat in the senate of the United States, even though it come after a protracted contest and party strife and successful personal effort, it constitutes, in my estimation, a laurel wreath worthy of the decoration of the proudest brow; but when it comes, as it has come to me at this time, not so much through my own personal solicitation or effort, but through the votes of both political parties of a great state which I have heretofore had the honor of representing once in those high councils, then and otherwise the laurel wreath becomes in my estimation a golden crown whose beauty and grandeur and unspokeable worth cannot but lend dignity and exaltation and power to the recipient, even though that honor had been conferred upon the most distinguished American within the limits of the republic.

What can I say on this occasion expressive of the sentiments of gratitude which are struggling for utterance within my breast, to these representatives of the people, who, irrespective of party, in this hour of my sorest trial and tribulation, have placed on my head this glittering golden crown, and in my unsteady hand this laurel wreath? I can only say that I employ to convey to you the sentiments of gratitude that are welling up to-day from my inmost soul toward those innumerable friends throughout the length and breadth of this great state who, irrespective of party, have stood by me in all these years in sunshine and storm, in prosperity and adversity—who have remained steadfast and changeless as the central sun and abiding as the stars—friends who when the rain of calumny came, and its great blood-red drops fell thick and fast, have stood closer and more and more devoted and firmer than ever before.

What can I say to you to express the gratitude that I bear to you to-day? Words are inadequate, and I shall not attempt it. Gentlemen, I am a Republican, although elected in part to-day by the votes of Democrats, who have the honor of holding a seat in this body. If I supposed for one moment that any Democratic representative on this floor had cast his vote for me under the impression that it would have the effect of changing me from a Republican to a Democrat, of course I would not feel complimented; but I have every reason to know that no gentleman, no member of the Democratic party, cast his vote for me under any such impression. It is due, however, that I should state that I recognize the fact, and I am now about to proclaim from the housetop that which I have ever proclaimed in the secret chamber. I recognize the fact that at the late national election the Democratic party prevailed and elected a Democratic president, and what I have to say is this, that I shall not conceive it to be a part of my duty as a senator to go to Washington and make factions in opposition to the administration now in power. The nomination of the president of the United States, if they are worthy men, shall receive my vote for confirmation, unless there is an attempt on the part of the president of the United States to make appointments that will impugn upon any tenure of office, and should he do so, that I would oppose the president of the United States.

Now, Mr. President, I know that this is neither the time nor place for extended remarks, and I will only add that I realize the great responsibility that has been placed upon me. I realize that I can only in part discharge the great duty I owe to the state of Oregon by laboring earnestly, faithfully and devotedly for what I may conceive to be the best interests of this great and growing state. I conceive it to be my duty to labor for the improvement of our rivers and harbors. I shall labor for the improvement of the mouth of the Columbia river, for the construction and completion of the Cascade canal and locks and for some means of transportation around the Dalles. I shall conceive it to be my duty to do all in my power to aid the harbor of Yaquina, and at Coos bay, and the Coquille river, and the Yamhill river, and the Willamette river, and all the waterways of our country. I am bound up to no corporation and to no money power. I stand ready and willing and determined to represent what I conceive to be a consultation with the people of this state—their trust and best interests. I shall, among other things conceive it to be my duty to labor for the forfeiture of the land grant from Wallina to Portland of the Northern Pacific railroad. I shall labor to that end with all the power I command, by virtue of the position I hold. So far as the land grant through this state is concerned, I am not so sure what I may do in regard to that. I am rather inclined to think that it would be for the best interests of this state not to disturb that because we desire the construction of

THE INCREASE OF INSANITY.

Boston supports 800 insane, says Mr. T. B. Saaborn, not 75 of whom will recover! This is frightful! Insanity has increased 40 per cent in a decade, and most of the cases are incurable. Whatever the individual cause may be, the fact remains that uric acid blood sets the brain on fire, destroys its tissues, and then comes some form of fatal lunacy. Nothing is so pitiable as a mind diseased. Most brain troubles begin in the stomach; then if the blood is filled with uric acid, caused by failure of kidney action, and the consequent destruction of the blood life—albumen—you have the fuel and the flame, and a brain in full blaze as when one raves, or in slow combustion, as in milder forms of insanity. Rev. J. D. Hopkins, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., a few years ago was confined in an asylum. He took a terrible cold while aiding in putting out a fire in a neighbor's burning house, and for twenty-five years that cold was slowly filling his blood with uric acid, and finally the deadly work was done. The case looked hopeless, but he happily used Warner's Safe Cure and recovered. That was three years ago, and having ridden his blood of all surplus uric acid, he has remained well until this day.

MITCHELL ELECTED.

A flood of delayed telegrams poured into THE ASTORIAN office yesterday morning. One was enough to occupy attention. It said "Mitchell 55, Slater 20, Williams 13." As quick as type could tell the tale the town knew it, and such a scene has not ensued in Astoria since the news of Blaine's nomination. People shook hands, congratulating each other on the election of Mitchell and the rebuke to the Oregonian.

Probably no section of the state felt a keener interest in Mitchell's fortunes than Astoria and Clatsop county. He was and is a friend to us all, and regardless of politics the public felt that his fight was their fight. No heartier congratulations nor sincerer gladness over his triumph was felt anywhere than in Astoria over the news of his election. THE ASTORIAN is proud of the result, and of the representatives in the house and senate who made such result possible.

THE VOTE THAT ELECTED MITCHELL.

For Mitchell—Allen, Barns, Beall, Bird, Black, Blakney, Burch, Cameron, Carson, Cartwright, Chandler, Cole, Connor, Craven, Cusick, Cyrus, H. S., Davenport, Downing, Flynn, Gear, Gibson, Gilbert, Hall, Hayes, Hirsch, Jolly, Kenworthy, Leinenweber, Lewis, Lytle, Mayo, Mahaley, Chas. Miller, H. B. Miller, Montague, Morroe, Peery, Porter, Prosser, Reed, Roberts, Rogers, Sanders, Shelton, Shupe, Siglin, Simon, Sutton, Thompson, Waite, Watts, Wilcox, Will, Williams, and Waldo.—55. (Democrats in italics)

For Slater—Abshier, L. Bilyeu, W. B. Bilyeu, Burton, Cathorn, Coleman, Cox, DeHart, Horst, Kaykendall, Lockett, Myers, Nelson, Pennington, Prim, Rineheart, Taylor, Veatch and Weatherford.—20.

For Williams—Bourne, T. W. Davenport, Emmitt, Hare, Henkle, Manning, Riddle, Smith, Story, Therkelson, Voorhees, Woodward and Keady.—13.
