Joy and sorrow gallop bare-back around the arena of life astride the same animal. It is but a short jump from the recking-horse of kidhood to the silver-plated bicycle of age and experience. When mirth opens the mouth of man it lets the sunlight of contentment shine on his back teeth and illuminate his palate. When sorrow bars the door of his hinged preserve repository, darkness clouds his existence and the hydrant in the back room of his optical observatory starts a leak and, in tears, flows out of the front doors of his memory in hot, burning torrents. A man who is susceptible to these changes on the impulse of the moment is the kind of a man I like for a friend. I would, without hesitation or introduction, go up to such a man in a crowd and say to him: "Hello, old pard, put her there," knowing full well that I would not be repulsed or told to go and soak my head. Some people think that the mirthful way in which I spread my thoughts on paper is almost sac-rilegious, but I torgive that class of humanity, for they know no better, and would kick at the angel Gabriel and would kee at the angel Gaoriei if he was to appear upon earth and play "Silver Threads Among the Gold," because he didn't open the performance with "Peck-a-Boo." I have had more sorrow, pain, and heart-ache in my life than is generally allotted to man, yet I have not grieved or kicked at fate, but tried to spread the sunlight of my smile everywhere. Still, when it came to sym-pathizing with those in sorrow, I will venture to say that no long-faced theorist, who never made humanity smile, ever clothed his words with purer expressions of genuine sympa-thy than did I. The public must get over the mistaken idea that because I am humorous in my expressions, I can't be serious, or that my life is one broad panorama of circus clowns playing leap-frog along the corridors of my intellect, for it is not, and often does my face wear an electric-light smile when there is a sigh in my beart as large as a factory-made cheese. The man who never laughs would not hesitate to rob a widow or steal the twist off an angle worm if he thought he could use it in his business.-[Dicer Swift, in Canon City Mercury.

A Historic Cannon Ball.

We found the old St. Paul's, erected 150 years ago, almost the only building that escaped the great conflagration of the town in 1776. It is an object of much interest, is built of brick, and the walls have the bluishglaced appearance caused, it is said, by extra heating of the kiln, and there, three feet below the eaves, in one corner, on the side facing the river, half imbedded, was the famous cannon ball. When the fissure was first discovered the ball was missing. It was supposed to have been displaced by the heating of the walls when the interior of the church was burned in the war of the Revolution. Cure For Piles.

Cure For Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, Joins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some effection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Bland, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile remedy, which acts directly upon the parts effected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, O. Sold by J. W. Conn.

What will Surely Do It. One's hair begins to fall out from many causes. The important question is: What is sure to make it grow again? According to the testimony of thousands, Parkers Hair Balsam will do it. It quickly covers bald spots, restores the original color when the hair is gray or faded, eradicates dandruff, and causes the scalp to feel cool and well. It is not a dye, not green, highly perfumed, safe, not green, highly perfumed, safe. not greasy, highly perfumed, safe. Never disappoints those who require a nice, reliable dressing.
