

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1885

THE SAME OLD QUESTION.

"No taxation without representation," was the cry of the colonists in 1774. It is as just, as reasonable, in 1885. It is said here by not a few, "Why should we of Clatsop be compelled or obliged, or even expected to pay where we receive no proportionate acknowledgement of our existence? We are in Oregon, but not of Oregon. We are snubbed and sat on, and set down on; we are denied representation, cut off with one-tenth of what is our just due, our actual right, and yet taxed as though we had equal representation with our sister counties of the commonwealth." Taxation without representation was unjust in the eighteenth century, it is equally unjust in the nineteenth. The American colonists along the Atlantic seaboard refused to accede to the demands of their royal masters then. The ridiculous aspect of the case is manifest, but while it is not at all probable that we of Clatsop will want to secede from Oregon, we feel that a continued injustice is being practiced on the community. The constitution of the United States declares that there shall be no taxation without implied adequate representation. The constitution of this state says explicitly how proper representation shall be secured to the several parts of the state. Both the state and federal constitutions are disregarded.

In view of all this it may be asked—Suppose we of Clatsop county refuse to pay our state taxes, what are you of the rest of the state going to do about it?

This section is not to be outdone by any in the Union, in the matter of natural and unnatural wonders, as the following from yesterday's News will show: "J. Larkin, steward on the river steamer E. N. Cooke, says that at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning he saw a monster of the deep in the Columbia river near Tongue point, just above Astoria. Larkin describes the serpent as being 75 feet long, with a mouth big enough to comfortably hold six men, 'every one with a pack on his back.' 'I was standing on the guard at the time,' he says, 'when I saw the thing rise suddenly from the water and open its monster jaws. I thought the jaws of the universe had opened to swallow all humanity. Then the serpent passed under the boat amidships. You could see its head far out from the starboard side and its tail flapping in the air fourteen feet from the surface of the water on the port side. It then disappeared entirely. Every one on the boat was frightened almost to death.' Larkin could give no idea of the exact size of the mouth of the serpent, but offered to chalk it out on the wall for the reporter, but neither had chalk. Several persons say that they have seen big waves in the river near Tongue point recently, which they now attribute to the serpent."

It begins to look as though John A. Logan would be president of the senate after all. What a kaleidoscope the change of political events affords!

THE CENTURY for 1885-86. The remarkable interest in the War Papers and in the many timely articles and strong serial features published recently in THE CENTURY has given that magazine a regular circulation of MORE THAN 200,000 COPIES MONTHLY. Among the features for the coming volume, which begins with the November number, are: THE WAR PAPERS By General Grant and Others. There will be continued in this issue (repeated) until the chief events of the Civil War have been described by leading participants on both sides. General Grant's papers include descriptions of the battles of Chattanooga and the Wilderness, General McClellan will write of Antietam, General D. C. Buell of Shiloh, General Pope, Longstreet and others of the Second Bull Run, etc., etc. Naval romances, including the fight between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, by officers of both ships, will be described. The "Recollections of a Private" and special war papers of an anecdotal or humorous character will be features of the year.

Serial Stories by W. D. Howells, Mary Halleck Foote and George W. Cable. Mr. Howells' serial will be in a lighter vein than "The Rise of Silas Lapham." Mrs. Foote's is a story of mining life, and Mr. Cable's a novelistic of the Acadicians of Louisiana. Mr. Cable will also contribute a series of papers on Slave songs and dances, including negro serpent-worship, etc.

Special Features. Include "A Tricycle Pilgrimage to Rome," illustrated by Fennell; Historical Papers by Edward Eggleston, and others; Papers on Fyfe, by G. W. Wood, by G. W. Wood, U. S. minister, with numerous illustrations; Astronomical Articles, practical and popular, on "Sideral Astronomy"; Papers on Christian Unity by representatives of various religious denominations; Papers on Manual Education, by various experts, etc.

Short Stories. By Frank R. Stockton, Mrs. Helen Jackson (H. H.), Mrs. Mary Halleck Foote, Joel Chandler Harris, H. H. Boyesen, T. A. Janvier, Julian Hawthorne, Richard M. Johnston, and others; and poems by leading poets. The Departments—"Open Letters," "Bric-a-Brac," etc., will be fully sustained.

The Illustrations. Will be kept up to the standard which has made THE CENTURY engravings famous the world over. Prices. A Special Offer. Regular subscription, $4 a year. To enable new readers to get all the War Papers, with contributions from Generals Grant, Beauregard, McClellan, J. E. Johnston, Lew Wallace, Admiral Porter and others, we will send the 12 back numbers, November, 1881, to October, 1885, with a years subscription beginning with November, 1885, for $6.50 for the whole. A subscription with the 12 numbers bound in two handsome volumes, $7.50 for the whole, and postmasters only supplied at these prices with subscriptions. A free specimen copy (back number) will be sent on request. Mention this paper. All dealers and postmasters throughout the country and supply numbers according to our special offer, or remittance may be made directly to THE CENTURY CO., NEW YORK.

1886. Harper's Magazine. ILLUSTRATED. The December Number will begin the Seventy-second Volume of HARPER'S MAGAZINE. Miss WOODSON'S novel, "Evangeline," and Mr. HOWELLS'S "Sideral Summer," including the foremost place in current serial fiction—will run through several numbers, and will be followed by serial stories from E. D. BLACKMORE and Mrs. D. M. CRAIK. A new editorial department, discussing topics suggested by the current literature of America and Europe, will be contributed by W. D. HOWELLS, beginning with the January Number. The great literary event of the year will be the publication of a series of papers—taking the shape of a story, and depicting characteristics of American society as seen at our leading pleasure resorts—written by CHARLES DREYFUS WARREN, and illustrated by C. K. REINHART. The MAGAZINE will give special attention to American subjects, treated by leading American artists.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS. Per Year: HARPER'S MAGAZINE $4 00 HARPER'S WEEKLY 4 00 HARPER'S BABAR 4 00 HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE 2 00 HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (12 Numbers) 10 00 Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.
