BURDETTE'S FUN.

The Latest Lead as Expounded in The Brooklyn "Eagle."
 NO TROUBLE TO GO AFTER IT.
 "I half wish you weren't going to marry Miss Sparrows," said old Mr. Burdette to his son. "Why not?" replied the young man. "She's worth $100,000." "She may be worth it to you," said his father, "but I doubt if she'll fetch it." "She doesn't need to fetch it," said the young man, "I'm going after it."

AT THE WITCHING HOUR.
 Mr. Thimblefoot, after making an exhaustive search all over the front door of his residence with the key of his office safe, sinks down in despair. "Well," he says, "it's no kind of use. O'n'y way I can see to remedy the matter, is for builders t' make th' keyhole bigger 'n ta door. Hic!"

NO TEMPTATION.
 Arctic explorers call the attention of Christian people to the fact that thieving is scarcely known among the Eskimoes. We beg the Christian people not to feel worried, over the greater depravity of their own race. There is nothing in Eskimo land worth stealing.

ROUGH ON HATS, AND UNCLE GEORGE.
 "It isn't true, is it?" asked Rollo, as he finished reading "The Pied Piper of Hamelin." "It isn't true that he could play on his pipe so that the rats would go off and drown themselves?" "Well," replied Rollo's father, "I don't know about that. I think it may be true. Your Uncle George can play the flute so that it will scare a cow into the river and drive all the dogs in the precinct howling crazy. Yes, I guess the poem is true." And Rollo's Uncle George was so mad he couldn't see, and he held his pipe straight in front of him and read clear through one of Sam Jones's sermons before he found out that it wasn't an account of the base ball game.

WHY WAS HE SO SORRY.
 An American traveler writes that while he was traveling with his family through Syria last year an Arab offered him two camels and a donkey for his sister. Of course the traveler refused to sell; no true man, worthy the name of American, would sell his sister for such a price as that; it's a mighty poor sister that won't fetch four camels and a pacing mule—but, oh, that man's punishment for the act he did! The remorse that gnawed at his vitals all that night! His wife heard him crying, and she said: "What is the matter? Why do you weep so bitterly?" "Oh, my darling," said the wretched man, in a hoarse voice of sobs, "I am so grieved that I refused to bring your dear mother with us on this trip. Oh, I can never forgive myself; never, never!" But his wife, although she secretly triumphed in his penitence, comforted him and said he could take her the next time. But he refused to be comforted, and said, yes, but this chance would never come again. But she said she would be just as well pleased to go to Saratoga and Newport next summer, and so she tenderly hugged him to sleep. And when she wrote home didn't she tell how dearly Harry loved her, and how homesick he was without her? Didn't she? Oh, didn't she, though? But her husband never told what an offer he had for his sister until two months later.

THE RESOURCES OF OUR COUNTRY.
 "Well, the fruit crop might be set down as a total failure," said the superintendent of the largest fruit canning factory in the State, "a total failure, you might call it." That will almost close your establishment, then," said the visitor. "Oh no, no," replied the superintendent. "On the contrary, we will have to employ an additional force. Years when there is no fruit we turn our attention almost entirely to putting up jellies, and then, a little later on, if the potato crop turns out as we expect, we will can about three million pounds of pears."
 And, as the visitor, silent with the awe that falls upon common people when they stand in the presence of genius, went softly out of the office, he saw a car load of hoots and horns unloading at the doors of the jelly department.

Cheer Up! Help is at hand.
 "I'm afraid I shall have to be taken to a hospital or to the poorhouse. I've been sick so long that my husband, good and patient as he is, can't stand the worry and expense much longer." No, you won't dear wife and mother. See what Parker's Tonic will do for you. Plenty of women as badly off as you are, have been rescued almost from the grave by it. It will build you up, curing all ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is simple, pleasant and safe.

Solid leather shoe buttons are now made, and at the rate of two or three hundred a minute. They grow a brighter tetter the longer they are worn.
 He fell with a thud in the skating rink And the accident caused a wild turmoil. But he pounced out a bottle and as quick as a wink,
 His bruises were healed by St. Jacobs Oil.

Many Facts.
 It is estimated that foreigners own about 25,000,000 acres of land in this country.
 There are in England 187 ragged schools which are attended by 50,000 children.
 The number of children of school age enrolled in the United States is estimated at 11,000,000.
 The opinion is expressed by a Canadian physician that 50 per cent of all diseases arise from the use of stimulants.
 A plan is on foot for utilizing the underground flow of the San Diego river by bed rock dams. The proposed works will cost some $500,000.
 Wires and bars are now produced direct from fluid steel by pressing it out through dies in a manner similar to the production of lead pipes from lead.

Connecticut is now the only State in the Union, it is said, whose legislature retains judicial functions. The Connecticut legislature is still a supreme court in equity.
 Not many persons know that on the middle stem underneath a cotton leaf is a small cell or cavity that contains a drop of blood which can be seen by pressing between the thumb nails.

In several villages of the Viatch province in Russia, the peasants manufacture wooden watches, which work steadily, though they do not keep very accurate time; all the parts of the watch are of wood, except the axles, which are of horn.
 On the walls of the largest factory in Norway, Conn., the following motto is displayed: "This factory will hereafter be run without rum, or be closed. If any man employed here is seen drunk he will be discharged without further notice."
 "Lenses of rock crystal taken from the ruins of Ninevah," said a member at the meeting of the microscopists in Cleveland the other day, "suggest that microscopes may have been used in those days." No one knows, indeed, who did invent the magnifying glass.

The superintendent of the Elmira reformatory says that drunkenness can be traced in the ancestry of more than a third of the convicts sent there; that only one in four of their parents has received a common school education, and that as nearly as can be ascertained, the home influence in half the cases has been distinctly vicious.
The Only Obstacle.
 At a seance a widow whose mother had recently died, wished to communicate with the spirit of her husband. The connection being made, she said:—
 "Do you see much of dear mamma in Heaven, John?"
 "I never see her at all."
 "Is it possible, John," continued the widow, regretfully, "that even now you cannot learn to love mamma?"
 "I would be very glad to love the old lady," replied angelic John, "if I had the ghost of a chance, but the trouble is, she isn't here."
 Perkins.—"Sniffin failed? Well? He tried to borrow $10 from me." Ponsby.—"You didn't lend it to him?" "No, indeed," suspected there was something wrong, and said:—"Well?" "The fact is I didn't have the $10."
 "It's no use," says the deponent dyspeptic. But it is of use. Your suffering can be relieved; houses are being cured, and so can you. Broken down, desponding victims of dyspepsia and nervous debility will find in Stinson's Liver Regulator a specific, which reaches the source of trouble and effects an absolute and permanent cure. It regulates the liver, dispels dyspepsia and restores health.

This season is the worst for the circus that they have known in ten years. It is said that not one has cleared any money, and many have lost heavily.
Inaction Fraught with Danger.
 Inaction of the kidney and bladder is fraught with danger. Renal diseases of the most stubborn and fatal character have their initial symptoms. To disregard it is to invite them. Hostetter's stomach pills has the special quality of stimulating urinary secretion and discharge to a degree consonant with health, and so forth. It is not an excitant of the organs, like the unmediated stimuli of commerce. It simply arouses them when their activity and vitality are impaired. This stimulating and tonic action the Pills likewise exert upon the bowels, the liver and the stomach. It drives renal disease, cures dyspepsia, prevents and remedies fever and acute and removes biliousness and constipation. No finer tonic exists, and to persons with a tendency to gout it strongly recommends itself, as it is a fine dependent of the blood.
