

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: FRIDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1885

There will be no paper issued from this office to-morrow.

The Astorian wishes its readers a Merry Christmas, and many happy returns of the day.

J. O. Hanthorn is sole agent on this coast for Dunbar, McManis & Co.'s salmon net twine; see advt.

The Telephone came down at 1:15 yesterday afternoon with a large crowd of passengers, and 500 sheep for Clatsop.

There will be an apple-eating match on skates, this evening at the skating rink, and new music by Cushing Post band.

The Astorian cleared yesterday for Queenstown with 7,422 lbs. wheat, worth $58,700. The Wm. H. Starbuck arrived in.

"In the Catskills," a fine oil painting by Mrs. J. A. Davidson, attracts considerable attention in one of C. H. Cooper's windows.

A. W. Berry received a telegram from New York yesterday to the effect that the salmon cargo of the Wm. H. Starbuck is coming out in fine condition.

The latest swindle offered comes from St. Andrews bay, Florida. Howard Ferris, the secretary wants us to pay him $5 for a lot 33x165 situated in that delightful garden of the gods.

The Clara Parker left here at nine yesterday morning with the remains of Jas. McInnis, and attendant friends. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Garner, at Knappa, where the interment took place.

About ten days ago the name-board of a vessel with the name "City of Hankow" on it was raised on the beach near Port Orford. The City of Hankow sailed from here for Liverpool wheat laden, on the 10th of November. It is to be hoped that she has met with no disaster.

Rev. A. J. Olinger's German, French and English school will have elaborate exercises at the German church at two o'clock this afternoon, on which occasion a fine programme will be rendered, including songs and recitations in the three languages. After the exercises there will be a distribution of presents.

Phil Dave, a prize fighter, has brought suit against the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for $250, the amount of money put up by Billy Linn on the result of the Black Diamond mill. Dave claims the fight and consequently the stakes and for that reason has brought the suit. The case has been set for hearing on the 29th inst.

On and after January 1, 1886, the fees on international postal money orders will be as follows: For sums not exceeding $10, 10c; over $10 and not exceeding $20, 20c; over $20 and not exceeding $30, 30c; over $30 and not exceeding $40, 40c; over $40 and not exceeding $50, 50c. This is a reduction of one-third from the present rates.

The four men spoken of in yesterday's issue as having been reported drowned are all right, having arrived at their destination in safety. The question now arises whether or not that drifted ashore, bottom upward at Ilwaco? It was that that first made unwise that accident had befallen the party that left here for the Wallcut last Monday.

Scandinavian Lutheran service to-day in the Swedish church upper Astoria; at 10:30 a. m. preaching in the Swedish language by the Rev. Lind from Vancouver, W. T.; at 2:30 p. m. preaching in the Norwegian-Danish language by Rev. H. Engb, pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m. union service. Singing by the choir.

Our esteemed contemporary the Oregonian gives the word "hence" very wide latitude of meaning in its shipping report. "Hence" usually means "from this place." For instance, "The Astorian left with full truth says the Wm. H. Starbuck which arrived at New York on the 17th inst," said hence. Whether our esteemed contemporary can consistently with truth make the assertion that appears in its commercial column of yesterday's issue is a question left to itself to decide.

J. F. Kimball, of Cathlamet, is in the city. Mrs. A. E. Osgood returned from Portland yesterday.

At Grace Church. The services to-day will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 6:30 a. m. At 11 a. m., there will be a full morning prayer and sermon followed by a second celebration of the Holy Communion.

At 2:30 p. m., there will be a service with Christmas tree at the chapel of the Holy Innocents, upper Astoria. A full line of masquerade suits for rent at the New York Novelty Store.

Adler will have help enough to wait on you all at once this week, so cease right along and take your share amongst all his fine stock; the price will be all satisfactory as he don't intend to carry any holiday stock over.

Who sells the most pianos, organs and musical instruments? The New York Novelty Store.

Toys at your own prices at Adler's this week, on account of going entirely out of that line.

Griffin & Reed have just received direct from New York a large lot of fine gift books suitable for holiday presents, at greatly reduced prices.

Roger Bros' A1 1847 Tablespoons, warranted, $2.50 per set at G. Hansen's.

Shrewsbury Ketchup at Beck's. Spanish Queen Olives at Beck's.

At the Pioneer Restaurant to-day for your Christmas dinner: nice turkey with cranberry sauce. Dinner from 12 m. to 2 p. m. J. G. Ross, Proprietor.

At the United States Restaurant. The best in town at the United States Restaurant. To the United States Restaurant for the best oysters. Private rooms.

BY TELEGRAPH.

PORTLAND, Dec. 24.—There is no clue yet leading to the discovery of the murderer of the French court-sultan. The excitement is still great. The funeral took place to-day, Rev. T. L. Elliott officiating.

KILLED HIS MAN. VANCOUVER, W. T., Dec. 24.—At eleven o'clock last night a discharged soldier made a mistake and walked into Mr. Connor's house. He was put down the stairs and told to go. He went but returned and ran against Connor knocking the lamp out of his hand. Connor shot him, killing him instantly. The coroner's jury acquitted Connor of all blame. The discharged soldier was drunk.

WHEAT QUOTATIONS. PORTLAND, Dec. 24.—Valley wheat is selling at $1.25; Walla Walla, $1.15; the wheat market is very dull.

BOUNCED THE P. M. RIFON Dec. 24.—The newly appointed postmaster at this place demanded possession to-day and presented his official commission to the old incumbent who kicked him into the street.

SPARKS FLYING UPWARD. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 24.—Commissioner Sparks has decided that the railroads cannot challenge the land claims of settlers in the matter of railroad grants, that the government is the only party that can attack or question the validity of the claims.

A DREADFUL TOMB. LONDON, Dec. 24.—Seventy-five bodies have been recovered from the pit at Ferndale. It is considered certain that the remainder of the 400 who were entombed are dead, though relief parties are working hard in an attempt to rescue them.

THE THUNDERER GROWLS. The London Times editorially suggests the exclusion of the Parnellites from Parliament, and the establishment of martial law in Ireland.

FIRED OUT. BERLIN, Dec. 24.—All German-Americans have been ordered to leave Schleswig-Holstein.

SHIPWRECKED SALOONS. NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The steamer Para brings the crews of five vessels that were wrecked in the recent storm at Panama.

THE "WM. H. STARBUCK." Of the many thousand people who have come into THE ASTORIAN office in 1885, none surprised us more than Capt. Reed of the Wm. H. Starbuck as he strode in on us yesterday evening with his hearty "How are you?"

We had supposed he was going to eat his Christmas dinner with the Shanghai roosters and here he is in Astoria inquiring after old friends and looking as hearty as though he had not circumnavigated the globe since he sailed from here for New York, on the 12th of November, 1884. He sighted Shoalwater bay light on the 28th day after leaving Shanghai and shares the honors with Capt. Berry of the Winnipic which is taking on wheat at the O. R. & N. dock and which made the same trip in thirty days, arriving in a few weeks ago.

Coming from the Orient across to western longitude Capt. Reed was ahead a day in his calculations and got here on Christmas eve instead of Christmas day, as yesterday, or what we call yesterday, would have been on the other side of the Pacific.

When he left here in November '84 he took with him Joe Langdon, Tiny Arragoni, Wilson and others, who all arrived in New York in good shape where they have met with varying fortunes.

A FOREIGN FLEET. The captains of thirty-one English vessels will eat their Christmas dinners in the Columbia river. There are thirty-four vessels in the river, and of all that merchant fleet, but two—the Sotthard and Starbuck—fly the American flag. It is evident that Uncle Sam believes in borrowing his neighbor's wagon when he wants to go to market.

The number of American vessels yearly arriving here is decreasing. It looks now as though the time was coming when the stars and stripes would be a marine curiosity in this port. In the season of '82-'83, 90 American vessels and 59 English vessels came here; in '83-'84, 17 American and 72 English vessels arrived in; in '84-'85, 17 American and 97 English crossed the bar bound in, and this season so far 58 English, 1 German, 1 Norwegian and 4 American vessels have dropped anchor in the bay.

It is the acknowledged fact that Griffin & Reed have the finest assortment of Christmas cards and push goods in Astoria.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Nine years ago on the ninth of this month J. C. Trullinger lit the first street lamp in Astoria: it was an oil lamp such as has dimly dotted the streets during the past year to the exclusion of the Astoria Gaslight company's better system, but it was a light, and beat no light all to pieces.

Last night Mr. Trullinger lit the first electric light in Astoria. From coal oil to electricity is a long step, but it has been accomplished and our worthy mayor elect deserves credit for his enterprise and goodheadedness. Two weeks ago he said to us, "I will put a light in front of your building Christmas eve," and he kept his word. At twenty minutes to seven last evening for the first time in the history of our city the electric light streamed out from a globe strung on wires stretched from THE ASTORIAN building, making all other lights look dim and attracting hundreds of spectators who hurrying home with Christmas presents for wife and children stopped to see the great luminous ball that shone like a sun lighting up the streets that it intersected. Col. S. W. Blaisdell, the efficient superintendent of the Keith system, was on hand and expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the way the current worked, its brilliancy being so manifest that it spoke for itself needing no further demonstration of its usefulness.

Another light had been put up between Mr. Trullinger's office and his residence, lighting up that portion of the city, and plainly visible at Ft. Stevens. The other eight lamps, only ten having so far arrived, were burning brightly at the mill, and will be distributed at various points throughout the city to-day if possible.

The light in front of the office last evening was of a nominal 2,000 candle power; the cylinder in the dynamo was running 525 revolutions a minute; it is capable of 1,250 revolutions a minute, and when running at less than the maximum rate of speed is calculated to be able to furnish equal power to all the lights on the circuit. So far Mr. Trullinger, the proprietor of the new light, has thirty-two subscribers and the financial outlook for the new enterprise is as brilliant as the light itself.

The light last night was calculated to be 300 candle power more than any of the lights now in operation in Portland a fact which is of interest to Astorians, who naturally like to have the best as long as it is going. Col. Blaisdell has spared no effort to make it a success, and to his energy, coupled with the acknowledged excellence of the Keith system, the success of the light is largely due. He has the contract for lighting the public buildings at Salem for $50,000, the measure being approved at the last session of the legislature, approved by the house of public works, which is good evidence of the excellence of the Keith system.

Some one writes to the Oregonian asking if night air is "healthy," and that journal with great truth and considerable humor says, in answer: "This world has only one suit of air, which it wears day and night; therefore the night air is the same air which is used in the day. The temperature is usually lower in the night and the air contains more moisture. Therefore, one should be more warmly clothed when exposed to the night air. If it were true that the night air is unhealthy, the articles of the Oregonian and other morning newspapers who spend the greater portion of their working time in it would stand a poor show of living to a good old age. Anyhow, what is one going to do about it if it is unhealthy. There is no other air in the night except night air. When the temperature permits it, it is much better to leave your window open at night than to sleep in a close, stily ventilated room."

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery; resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. CHRISTMAS EVE AT THE CHURCHES.

There is probably no tree that grows that bears as rich and varied fruit as the "Christmas tree," nor one whose fruit is more acceptable to the juveniles. The sight presented at the various city churches last evening was a pleasant one. Brilliantly lighted and festooned, the churches were filled with old and young, and it was hard to say who derived the most pleasure, the parents and patrons or the children.

At the M. E. church a very handsome tree filled with the choicest products of the season and lighted in a manner that showed the fruit to the best advantage, yielded its treasures to a happy group of Sunday school children and a few of more mature years. At the Presbyterian church a similar scene was enacted, the gifts being numerous and valuable, and at Grace church, which was elaborately decorated, a fitting Christmas service preceded the distribution of gifts from a well stocked tree that grew in the vestry. The giving of tokens of affection and remembrance is one of the attributes, it may be said, of the day, and not the least among the joys that hallow the season is the kindly feelings toward our fellow mortals that fulfill the celestial song of the angels on Judea's hills as they sang near nineteen centuries ago, "Peace on earth; good will to men."

Who are your "Relations?" In the first generation a man reckons only two ancestors, his father and his mother. In the second generation the two are changed into four, since he had two grandfathers and two grandmothers. Each of these four had two parents, and in the third generation there are found to be eight ancestors, that is eight great-grandparents. In the fourth generation the number of ancestors is sixteen, in the fifth thirty-two, in the sixth sixty-four, in the seventh 128, in the eighth 256, in the ninth 512, in the tenth 1,024, in the eleventh 2,048, in the twelfth 4,096, in the thirteenth 8,192, in the fourteenth 16,384, in the fifteenth 32,768, in the sixteenth 65,536, in the seventeenth 131,072, in the eighteenth 262,144, in the nineteenth 524,288, in the twentieth 1,048,576, in the twenty-first 2,097,152, in the twenty-second 4,194,304, in the twenty-third 8,388,608, in the twenty-fourth 16,777,216, in the twenty-fifth 33,554,432, in the twenty-sixth 67,108,864, in the twenty-seventh 134,217,728, in the twenty-eighth 268,435,456, in the twenty-ninth 536,870,912, in the thirtieth 1,073,741,824. —Chicago Living Church.

Politics Too Much for Him.

A lady on Fifth Avenue, New York, quickly summoned a doctor.

"Oh, doctor, my husband is nearly dead. He attended a caucus last night. He made four speeches, and promised to be with his fellow-citizens again to-day. But oh, doctor, he looks nearly dead!"

"Has he been in politics long?"

"No, only last year. He worked hard for 'James McCaulay's' election."

"He will get well, madam. He has a stomach for any disease if he worked for him!"

Political life, of short or long duration, is very exhausting, as is evident from the great mortality which prevails among public men. Ex U. S. Senator B. K. Bruce, who has been long in public life, says:—

"The other day, when stepping into a car at a crossing, I found Dr. — within, who eyed me up and down in a surprised way, remarking:— 'Why, Senator, how well you look!'"

"Well, I feel pretty well," I answered.

The doctor uttered an incredulous reply, when the Senator frankly told him, in answer to an inquiry, that it was Warner's Safe-Cure which accomplished for him what the profession had failed to do. Senator Bruce says his friends are very much astonished at this revelation of power.—[The Globe.
