The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: JANUARY 5, 189 TUESDAY.

ONE KIND OF ECONOMY.

WHETHER among individuals or nations, which are but aggregations of individuals, economy is good thing, that is, the kind of economy that is only another name for good management, for a proper relation between the income and the outgo, that is duly proportional to the needs of the individual or the nation. A man may spend a dollar foolishly or a thousand dollars wisely. Results have sand dollars wisely. Results have It has, up to the present time, been a good deal to do with the question understood that the fishing smack, of economy, and needs are to be considered whenever the subject system of the subject sy ment, he can aid every one; if he be narrow, a man of one idea, he can injure an entire section of the and the boat which will never return, a told in the letter received by Mr. Union.

Postmaster General Vilas appears to have a singular idea of economy. He has apparently adopted a policy which will stunt the growth of the Pacific coast. economy, but it is the wrong kind. It is the economy of the man who will starve to death rather than spend some of his money for bread. In our own state the service is being crippled and its efthat such treatment must meet their rights, rights which they possess in common with their more fahave a daily service at their doors five times a day, while Pacific coast residents must rest content when their daily mails are cut off and their tri-weekly service reduduced to weekly.

SECRETARY Manning is said to have under consideration the project of paying members of congress and all employes of the government their salaries in silver dollars. It has been ascertained at the treasury that among the most strenuous opponents to the acceptance of a small proportion of their pay in silver have been some of the heartiest opponents of the suspension of the coinage act, at the capitol. If this is carried out, it will not affect a single vote. The recent consultation of the president and several prominent silver men of congress resulted in no healing of the difference of opinion, as neither side yielded in the slightest degree.

THE war department officials have no doubt that Ute Indians are in sympathy with the Mormons, and the opinion is expressed that should the time arrive when the Mormons resist the government by force, they will receive the assistance of at least 3,000 Utes.

A BREWER of Sitka advertises in the Alaskan, the northernmost journalistic sprout on the conti nent, that he is making pure beer "exclusively for medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes."

MARRIED.

In Astoria, Jan. 3rd, 1886, by Rev. F. Dielman, John E. Keiley, of Portland, and Miss Mary E. Vanghn, of this city.

DIED

Funeral will take place from the Episopal church at 2 o'clock on Wednesday an. 6, 1885. Friends and acquaintances wited to atlend.

IDENTITY ESTABLISHED.

THE BODIES THAT CAME ASHORE OF CLATSOP BEACH.

The Sad Fate of Three Residents of Ham boldt County, California.

About two months ago word came of the finding of two bodies on Clatsop beach. At the time it was impossible to identify the men, who were given decent burial in Clatsop cemetery. The following, from the Eureka, Cala, Times-Telephone, of December 26th, is explanatory.

"Three fishers went out to sea one day." They sailed from Shelter Cove, on the lower coast of this county, on the 24th of October. The list included Thomas Stewart, an old and respected citizen, his nephew, Philo respected citizen, his nephew, Philo Moorhead, a native of Illinois, and another young man whose name we have thus far been unable to learn. Our government, like all governments, controls the postal system.

The postmaster general by reason of his position is thus brought into intimate connection with the business of the people. If he be a man of sense, of breadth, of judgment, he can aid every one; if he to sea with the intention of reaching is told in the letter received by Mr. Berding, as follows:

Seaside, Claysop Co., Oregon, December 7, 1885.

MB. A. BERDING .- Dear Sir: A sloop came ashore here on the 8th of November and was found by some Indians, To make up a deficit in the postal then there has been three men picked service, to make appear an economical showing for the administration, he has reduced the expenses of the postal service in many communities that can least afford to stand it. This may be accommondated to the stand it is the stand it. This m first name right) bought of you gro-ceries, boots and shoes and clothing. The bill was dated October 16th, I believe. From it I got your address and judge that you must know some-thing about them. The boat is white and is named Emma. She is hauled out on the Clatsop beach about 16 miles below the mouth of the Columficiency impaired by ill-timed cut-ting down, and the post office de-partment is sacrificing the interests of this commonwealth in an unwise effort to show what it is pleased to consider "economy." It certainly seems, as policy would suggest, formation I can about them. The bodies found were buried by the coroner, two in a graveyard and one near with great and growing rebuke where it was found. If you can give from the people, who naturally re-sent such niggardly curtailment of they can be identified, as their fea-tures were not deformed. How many persons started in the boat, and where were they going? It was very stormy all the time they were out, and the vored brethren of the east who night the boat came ashore was one base a deily service at their deer of the stormiest we have had for

Yours respectfully, C. BRADBURY.

While the tidings given above had been anticipated in Mr. Stewart's old home, it seems that the bill of Mr. Berding which he carried in his book led to the almost immediate identity of the men found on Clatsop A large circle of friends be moan the sad fate of our former fellow citizen and his companions, and extend to his now orphaned daughter Emma, after whom the boat was named, all the consolation which true friendship and esteem for the parent can offer.
