TUTT'S
PILLS
TORPID BOWELS,
DISORDERED LIVER,
and MALARIA.
From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence:
Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Distension, Fluttering at the Heart, Boils before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine, TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.
TUTT'S HAIR DYE.
GRAY HAIR OR WHISKERS changed to black, or to any color desired by simple application of this DYE. Sold by Druggists, or sent by express on receipt of

Why We Laugh.
In Detroit, to carry out a practical joke a man rigged himself up as a tramp, and made a call upon a woman who had done considerable boasting of her prowess in dealing with the itinerant fraternity. The idea was to meet her declaration that she would like to find a tramp on the doorstep who refused to dust when she found out who he was.
Hidden in the bushes across the street to watch the fun were a number of jolly fellows, including the woman's husband. The tramp entered the yard and knocked at the side door, which was quickly opened.
He said he wanted a good hot supper, and wanted it p. d. q. "You do, eh?" responded the woman; "you shall have it just as soon as I can get it ready for you," and the tramp sat down on the doorstep to wait. He got the hot supper in about one minute, right on top of his bald head, from a boiling teakettle, held out by the woman's arm from the second-story window. The tramp dusted.

The prominence given to Gen.
William H. Seward's name as a candidate for governor recalls a story of Senator McDonald, of California.
He was at Washington in the time of Seward. Walking up Pennsylvania avenue one dark night, he stumbled into a sewer ditch, from which he could not readily extricate himself. His cries brought persons to the spot, who, instead of rendering him assistance, asked who he was.
The old senator, exasperated, but still having a lively appreciation of the funny side of the situation, responded: "It looks as if I'm Seward." He was rescued with great alacrity, and it was only when he reached the gaslight that his rescuers discovered that it was not New York's senator, but that they were victims of a pun.

"It isn't true, is it?" asked Rollo, as he finished reading "The Pied Piper of Hamelin;" "it isn't true that he could play on his pipe so that the rats would go off and drown themselves?"
"Well," replied Rollo's father,
"I don't know about that. I think it may be true. Your uncle George can play the flute so that it will scare a cow into the river and drive all the dogs in the precinct howling crazy. Yes; I guess the poem is true." And Rollo's uncle George was so mad he couldn't see, and he held his paper straight in front of him and read clear through one of Sam Jones' sermons before he found out that it wasn't an account of the base-ball game.

M. le Marquis de Rien de Tout-I have the honor to ask of you ze hand of your daughter. Oh, sir, she is so charming. I find her all zat zero is ze best in face, in form, in character; she has won my heart. She—Old Boobles—Which of my daughters do you mean, sir?
M. le Marquis—Oh, monsieur, c'la m'est egal.

"So you wish to leave me, cook?
May I ask why?" Cook: "Certainly, mim. You see, there's only one p'liceman in this ole huv a place—beggin' the parish's parding; and he's took up with the hupper 'ousemaid. Which it's no concern of mine who takes up with who, but it's well beknon as the p'liceman's the cooks parskite."

"St. Paul bids farewell to her guests with reluctance," said the St. Paul Hotel the other day. Of course she does," exclaims the Misneapolis Tribune. "She would give all of the countless wealth of the sixth ward and all of the valuable wheat land in her territory if she could only keep them and count them in her next census."

The following story, which is too horrible to be true, is taken from a German paper: "There is a man in Berlin who has been a widower seven times. His seven wives have all died, but his seven mothers-in-law are in fine health, and are all living with him. There is some talk of getting up a concert for his benefit."

It is told of an old-fashioned railroad man that when it was suggested to him that he ought to put on more trains to relieve the few which were already in service, he replied with a fine show of impatience: "What good would that do? They'd fill 'em all up, just as they do the others."

Prince Henry of Battenberg, at the recent festivities at Balmoral, by the queen's command dressed up in Highland costume, and then had to leave the grounds because his knees were cold. The queen didn't want him to go, but he said he had to, as he was most kilt.

"Say, Dorringer, have you heard of Bromey's last invention?" "No, I didn't know he had any genius in that way. What has he invented?"
"It is just wonderful! It is destined to make a complete revolution."
"Sakes alive, man, what is it?" "A circular saw."
CHIEF MAN AT THE FEAST.
A parson who went out to Congo, Told the heathen that they should not wrong go;
But when dinner was ready—
The priest was so deady That though there, he did not hear the gong go.
Mr. Everts is reported to have gained ten pounds recently; but after he was weighed it was discovered that he had one of his speeches in his pocket.
The inhabitants of Burmah worship idols made of brass. This might be a good place for commercial travelers to go when out of a job.

Dress reformers must have been shocked to see how many times both the Puritan and Genesta went in stays.
The coachman's occupation is more agreeable than that of the hostler, but the latter's is more stable.
The wages of sin is death, but the wages of Ah Sin is 50 cents a dozen.

Indestructibility of Gold.
Gold may be said to be everlasting, indestructible. The pure acids have no effect upon it. Air and water are alike prohibited from working in destruction; while to base metals they are decay, to gold they are innocuous. Bury it through long ages, and when the rude tool of the excavator again brings it to light, while everything around it, and originally associated with it, has returned to dust from which it sprang; while the delicate form which it adorned has become a powder so impalpable as to be inappreci-able; while the strong bone of the mighty warrior crumbles as you gaze upon it; while his trusty sword lies a mass of shale rust, the delicate tracery in gold which adorned it, or the finely wrought tiara which encircled the lofty brow of the fair damsel, is there in its pristine beauty, perfect as when it left the workman's hands and became the joy of her fleeting moments. Yes, days, years, centuries have rolled by, mighty empires have risen and fallen; dynasties that dreamed their power was to be everlasting have passed away; armies have marched, conquered, and become nerveless with decrepit old age; cities teeming with population and commerce have become the dwelling-place of the owl and the bat; the very pyramids themselves, raised in the pride of power, and destined to be forever, have crumbled, and are crumbling; and yet that thin filament of gold has stood unchanged through all these mighty changes. It has withstood triumphantly the destroying hand of time; it is to-day what it was three thousand years ago.
Surely it is a noble metal, worthy of all admiration.

There are more good houses being built in Atlanta, Ga., than for years past.
Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites.
In Consumption and General Debility —Dr. D. D. McDONALD, Petticoil, N. H.
He says: "I have been prescribing Scott's Emulsion during the past year with good results, and general satisfaction.
It is especially useful in persons with consumptive tendencies."

A story is told of an aged clergyman, who met a man loudly declaiming against foreign missions. "Why," said the objector, "doesn't the church look after the heathen at home."
"We do," said the clergyman quietly, and gave the man a tract.

The Parent of Insomnia.
The parent of insomnia or wakefulness is in nine cases out of ten a dyspeptic stomach and indigestion gives sound sleep, indigestion interferes with it. The brain and stomach sympathize. One of the prominent symptoms of a weak state of the gastric organ is a disturbance of the great nerve center, the brain. Invigorate the stomach, and you restore equilibrium to the great center. A most reliable medicine for the purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is far preferable to natural sedatives and powerful narcotics, which, though they may for a time exert a sedative influence upon the brain, soon cease to act, and invariably injure the tone of the stomach. The bitters, on the contrary, restore activity to the operations of that all-important organ, and their beneficial influence is reflected in sound sleep and a tranquil state of the nervous system. A wholesome impetus is likewise given to the action of the liver and bowels by its use.

Flush and the crowd drinks with you; Broke, and you drink alone, Provided, of course, you can borrow a dime,
Or a bar-keeper you can "bone."

SIMMONS
LIVER REGULATOR
For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.
The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.
Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.
If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, it will expel the poison and protect them from attack.
A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system. I. M. HAYTON, M. D., Washington, Ark.
