Polar Bears Hunting Seals.
The polar bear has quite a varied diet, depending on the season and his whereabouts. If near a country where waters abound in seal, this is his main sustenance; and the cleverness he displays in catching them is wonderful; for the Eskimo considers the seal the warriest and slyest game in his country, especially in the summer time, when the polar bear secures the most. When a seal comes up through the thick ice on a pleasant summer day, he is quite wary at first as he stretches himself for a comfortable snooze on the ice, so close to his hole that the slightest motion of his body will send him over the slippery edge, and with a stroke or two of his fins, and a splash of his tail, he is out of sight beneath the ice again. Having kept a sharp lookout in every direction for a number of minutes, and seeing nothing suspicious, he allows his heavy head to fall on the ice to take a nap; but they are short naps indeed, and every two or three minutes he raises his head and surveys the surroundings for probable mischief. The polar bear, seeing these movements from the top of some high hummock of ice, crawls stealthily on his prey, taking advantage as much as possible of every little piece of rough ice to conceal his figure, already well protected by his white color on the ice. Having gotten as near as he possibly can by such methods, he lies flat on the ice, and commences "hitching" himself along by short, spasmodic actions, watching the seal keenly all the while. Should it look up from its slumbers, the bear remains as motionless as a piece of ice, for which he hopes to be taken by this ruse, until the seal throws his head down again, when he once more commences "hitching" forward. By this series of very slow and laborious creepings, he manages to get within ten or twenty feet of his victim, when watching his best opportunity when the seal is in the midst of one of his short slumbers, he makes a quick rush, striking it over the head with his paw, and grasping it by the neck with his teeth. A single misapplication in this scheme, and the seal is below the ice through the hole, dashing a mass of spray in Mr. Bruin's face with his plant tail. Should the seal have crawled up on the edge of an ice floe from the water, and attempt to escape thereto, the bear being close upon him, the latter will not hesitate—so the Eskimo says—to dive after the seal, and although in the water the seal is his superior in activity occasionally the bear is rewarded with a lucky snap of his jaws. The polar bear is credited with killing walrus; but I think he never attacks any but the smaller ones in a fair combat, so that much larger is the walrus than his bearship. The Eskimo claim—and I think their story is true—that a polar bear has been known to take a stag or a bear in pieces of ice in his forepaw, and from a favorable altitude—the side of an iceberg or the top of a cliff—hurl the missile with such certainty as to alight on a walrus' head, and so stun it that its capture became easy afterward.—[Lieutenant Selawitch, in Independent.

A down-East fire company, in a resolution on a deceased member, says: "He has responded to his last alarm." It is a wonder they didn't add that "he has gone to his last fire."—[Lowell Times.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the rectum, itches and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, heaviness of the stomach, etc. A medicine like perspiration, inducing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blood, bleeding and itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, relieving the "burns," allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Platts, O. Sold by J. W. Conn.

Among cat fish it is not the mother fish that takes care of the eggs and young, but the male or father fish. This only goes to show that even the husband of a cat fish may be henpecked.—[Boston Post.

ITZEMA ON A CHILD.
Your most valuable CUTI-CURA REMEDIES have done me much good that I feel like saying this for the benefit of those who are troubled with skin diseases. My little son was troubled with Itzema, and I tried several doctors and medicines, but they did not do him any good until I used the CUTI-CURA REMEDIES, which speedily cured him, for which I owe you many thanks and many nights of rest.
ANTON BOSSMIEP, Edinburg, Ind.

TETTER OF THE SCALP.
I was almost perfectly bald, caused by Tetter of the Scalp, and I used your CUTI-CURA REMEDIES about six weeks, and they cured my scalp perfectly, and now my hair is coming back as thick as it ever was.
J. P. COLVIN, Whitesboro, Tex.

COVERED WITH BLOTCHES.
I stand by the fact that your CUTI-CURA RESOLVENT is most effective. About three months ago my face was covered with blotches, and after using three bottles of RESOLVENT I was perfectly cured.
FREDERICK MAITRE, 25 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

KNOW ITS VALUE.
All of your CUTI-CURA REMEDIES give very good satisfaction. The CUTI-CURA I especially recommend for the dandruff for which it is best. I know from experience its value.
DE H. L. PRATT, Montfello, Wis.

BEST FOR ITCHING DISEASES.
One of our customers says your CUTI-CURA REMEDIES are the best he can find for itching of the skin. He tried all others and found no relief until he used yours.
