

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1886.

China New Years. Big mails these times. "Hot Water" to-morrow night at Ross' opera house.

Rainfall Jan. '85, 6.78 inches. Rainfall Jan. '86, 13.24 inches; almost twice as much.

Reserved seats for the Alice Harrison performance at the New York Novelty store.

B. A. Senborn, J. L. Stont and P. J. McGowan form the new board of Washington territory pilot commissioners.

It is reported that four or five residents of upper Astoria are suffering from trichina spiralis caused by eating uncooked pork.

The upper Astoria postoffice has been re-established with Mr. Jas. Bell as postmaster, who yesterday received his commission.

A China house adjacent to C. Leinenweber's cannery fell last Monday; two Chinamen were in the house at the time but escaped uninjured.

The gymnasium apparatus is now in place in the first story of the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and adds much to the attractiveness of that institution.

The old original Chinook salmon, a yard wide, all wool, thirty-six inches around the chest and the trade mark blazon in the bottle tastes just as good in February '86 as it did any previous year.

Columbia assembly Knights of Labor though but recently organized has nearly 100 members. The assembly has not yet got its charter, upon receipt of which it will assume its official name.

The Alice Harrison company that appears at Ross' opera house to-morrow night has been a big success in San Francisco. They will have a crowded house to-morrow night. Reserved seats at the New York Novelty store.

Alice Harrison in her great character of "Yum Yum" will sing the famous songs of the new and sparkling opera of "Mikado" to-morrow evening at Ross' opera house. Reserved seats now on sale at the New York Novelty store.

"For the first time in all the years I've been here there isn't a single game running in the town," said an old time sport to the writer yesterday afternoon. "There isn't money enough in it to keep a game going." The grass is a little short, that's a fact.

Considerable of the salmon pack of '86 is already reported sold. The prices stated are not very flattering. The only thing about it is that the packers selling can figure on a sure basis, and know just what their receipts will be and figure on their expenses accordingly.

A movement is on foot looking to the establishment of a temporary life saving station on Sand island the coming season to aid in rescuing the lives of fishermen who may be in peril at that point and who without the assistance it is proposed to give would surely perish.

Harry Wood came down from Waterford on the Telephone yesterday, with 500 pounds of fine smelt. He says they were running thick Monday and yesterday. Last year the little fish deserted the Columbia altogether, but they are making up for it this year in double quantity.

The Tacoma papers are devoting columns to arguments that "Portland is not a sea port." After they get through they will also begin proving that water is wet; that summer is warmer than winter; that the sun gives light; that the moon is round, and other difficult theorems.

A young lady came to the home of Mr. John Kopp, proprietor of the Pacific brewery, at an early hour yesterday morning and demanded board and lodging. Mr. Kopp had never seen her before, but as he was assured that she was all right he made no objections to her remaining. She weighs 8 1/2 pounds.

On the 19th inst., is the twenty-third anniversary of the founding of the order of Knights of Pythias. Few cities of its size in the Union have as large a constituency of members of the K. of P. as Astoria. Astor Lodge No. 6 and Pacific Lodge No. 17 propose to have a grand ball at Ross' opera house on the evening of the 19th and are now making arrangements to that effect.

Mail advices from Liverpool under date of January 2nd, report the salmon market as follows: A good steady country demand has been experienced during the past few days, and shows clearly what attenuated stocks are held by retailers, so that we expect the new year will open with a large trade and higher prices are bound to result, as the present rates are really lower than the exigencies of the situation warrant.

"Water is 4 cents a gallon in Providence, San Bernardino Co., Cal." When we look out of our office window and see 70,000 gallons of minute falling out of the sky and think of the 4 cents a gallon that could be had for it in Providence, spot cash, we realize that the ways of Providence are past finding out. Talk about Vanderbilt's $18 a minute! It would be nowhere alongside of our hourly, or monthly, or secondly income. The Astorian would occupy a four story brick block before the year was out. Perhaps, though, we wouldn't be any happier than now.

The immense stock at the Crystal Palace amounting to $25,000 worth of goods of all description will be thrown on the market and sold at reckless prices as it has to be disposed of in a very short time.

Twenty-five A1 Envelopes for 5 cents at the Crystal Palace.

Note Paper, fine quality, 10 cents per quire at the Crystal Palace.

To the United States Restaurant for the best oysters. Private rooms.

LAST EVENING'S CONCERT.

The Astoria Musical Society gave a fine performance last evening to a large and appreciative audience at Liberty Hall. The programme was an interesting one and in its rendition was well received, the applause being impartially distributed and thoroughly deserved. About thirty ladies and gentlemen appeared on the stage, and the programme was gone through with ease and celerity, there not being the slightest hitch in the entire performance. To the ladies belonged the honors of the occasion for in their silvery voices lay much of the music which was ably reinforced by the gentlemen's deeper tones in the background. Prof. E. L. Bettinger was the musical conductor, and Miss Hattie Bity acted as accompanist on the piano.

The first section of the programme was composed of single parts, solos, duets, etc., supported by the full choral strength of the society; the second part was the cantata of "Spring," full of pleasing melody and made up of a variety of musical numbers, to the 14th and 12th of which was severally awarded an encore. It was a finished performance creditable to all who took part in it and a source of pleasure to all present.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Since we have discovered indisputable evidence of the presence of the pork disease, or trichina spiralis, we hereby warn all persons not to eat of any raw ham, pork or sausages which has not been thoroughly cooked.

The smoking of sausages or ham will not kill these parasites, neither will cooking kill them unless the meat is thoroughly cooked to the center.

IMPROVEMENT ON THE "TELEPHONE."

There was a heavy fog on the river yesterday, the flood tide was setting strongly eastward and the wind was blowing straight up stream. These three conditions taken together made a combination difficult for a steamboat or any other kind of a boat to overcome, so that when Capt. Whitecomb at the wheel of the Telephone blew his whistle a few minutes past one o'clock it was evident that that favorite boat had made unusually good time. To leave Portland at six o'clock, run by compass 110 miles in a fog, take on and put off freight, and get to Astoria at one o'clock against wind and tide is something any boat might be proud of and that few boats could parallel on this or any other river. Yesterday the new buckets on the wheel of the Telephone had a fair chance to show what they could do. The result is every way satisfactory, and a credit to Captain U. B. Scott and Mayor J. C. Trullinger, of this city, whose ideas on that subject they embody. The buckets are twenty inches wide and are so made that they have a curve, being four inches in thickness on the inside of the wheel to which they are attached, and gradually tapering and narrowing to a thickness of one and three-fourths inches on the outer rim of the wheel. This, it is claimed, (and the increased speed appears to prove it) results in doing away with the necessity of lifting an enormous mass of water on the buckets, for as soon as the buckets leave the surface of the water what is on them begins to slip off, and before they have risen level with the shaft it has all gone. In backing, the effect of the new buckets is still more manifest, as the striking of heavy masses of water against the wheel house is obviated. Capt. Scott thinks that the new paddle wheels enable a saving of fifteen per cent in fuel and increase the speed of his boat ten per cent.

A Growing Evil. From Capt. J. H. D. Gray it is learned that the Gen. Miles has withdrawn from the cape and Ilwaco route and the Gen. Canby substituted. This has been rendered necessary by the continued shoaling of the channel. It is now a difficult matter for a steamer of the Miles draught at all times to get into Ilwaco or the cape. The usual route between the wreck of the Great Republic and the cape will not admit of the passage of a vessel at low tide drawing more than nine feet of water. The wreck which used to stick up at high water is gradually burying itself in the sand, and will soon cease to be the prominent landmark it has been for nearly seven years. It looks now as though Sand Island would change its position and that a new island will be formed at what is now Peacock spit.

Whistling For Wild Geese. W. H. Parks sent a steam engine to the Sutter County Land company's place, in Sutter county, last week, with which to "herd" wild geese off the growing grain. Unfortunately, a tube leaked and let so much water into the fire box that steam could not be got up. The whistle is said to be a most effective instrument in frightening the geese from the fields, and will clear the country for miles around. The geese seem to regard the whistle as just a little too hot for anything.—Margyette, Cal., Apr. 1st.

A Startling Discovery. Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. One of these Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is starting them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery; resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

The Welcome hears that a movement is on foot to raise $25,000 to secure the dispatches for the News. That is a mistake—the raising of the money is a mistake. A newspaper that has to get money from any other source but subscriptions and advertising cannot afford to place themselves under obligations to men who sooner or later will expect reciprocal favors, and then change their requests to demands when not complied with.

The wreck of the Arabella, recently lost near Victoria, was sold for $2,299.79 and salvage charges were $1,067.17, netting $1,232.65; the cargo of lumber sold for $670, and the salvage charges were $238.53; there was also a small quantity of barrel salmon which went for an insignificant figure. The sum netted on the whole cargo was $432.10.

MARK TWAIN AS A PRINTER.

His Recollections of Early Days in the Office of a Weekly Paper.

Response to a Toast at a Ben Franklin Banquet. "All things change in the procession of years, and it may be that I am among strangers. It may be that the printer of to-day is not the printer of thirty-five years ago. I was no stranger to him. I knew him well. I built his fire for him in the wicker mornings; I brought his water from the village pump; I swept out his office; I picked up his type from under the stand; and, if he was there to see, I put the good type in his case, and the broken ones among the 'hell mater'; and, if he wasn't there to see, I dumped it all with the 'pi' on the imposing stone—for that was the furtive fashion of the cub, and I was a cub. I wetted down the paper Saturdays, I turned it Sundays—for this was a country weekly; I rolled, I washed the rollers. I washed the forms, I folded the papers, I carried them around at dawn Thursday mornings, I enveloped the papers that were for the mail—we had 100 town subscribers and 350 country ones; the town subscribers paid in groceries and the country ones in cabbages and cordwood—when they paid at all, which was merely sometimes, and then we always stated the fact in the paper, and gave them a puff; and if we forgot it they stopped the paper. Every man on the town list helped edit the thing—that is, he gave orders as to how it was to be edited; dictated its opinions, marked out its course for it, and every time the boss failed to connect, he stopped his paper. We were just infested with critics, and we tried to satisfy them all over. We had one subscriber who paid cash, and he was more trouble to us than all the rest. He bought us, once a year, body and soul, for $2. He used to modify our politics every which way, and he made us change our religion four times in five years. If we ever tried to reason with him, he would threaten to stop his paper, and, of course that meant bankruptcy and destruction. That man used to write articles a column and a half long, headed long primer, and sign them 'Junius' or 'Veritas' or 'Vox Populi,' or some other high sounding rot; and then, after it was set up, he would come in and say he had changed his mind—which was a gilded figure of speech, because he hadn't any—and order it to be left out. We couldn't stand such a waste as that; we couldn't afford 'bogs' in that office; so we always took the leads out, altered the signature, credited the article to the rival paper in the next village, and put it in. Well, we did have one or two kinds of 'bogs.' Whenever there was a barbecue, or a circus, or a baptizing, we knocked off for half a day; and then to make up for short matter we would 'turn over ads'—turn over the whole page and duplicate it. The other 'bogs' was deep philosophical stuff, which we judged nobody ever read; so we kept a galley of it standing and kept on slapping the same old batches of it in, every now and then, till it got dangerous. Also, in the early days of the telegraph we used to economize on the news. We picked out the items that were pointless and barren of information and stood them on a galley, and changed the dates and locations and names and times over and over again till the public interest in them was worn to the bone. We marked the ads, but we seldom paid any attention to the marks afterward; so the life of a 'td' ad and a 'td' ad was equally eternal. I have seen a 'td' notice of a sheriff's sale still booming serenely along two years after the sale was over, when the sheriff dead and the whole circumstance became ancient history. Most of the yearly ads were patent medicine stereotypes, and we used to fence with them. Life was easy with us; if we pined a form we suspended till next week, and we always suspended every now and then when the fishing was good, and explained it by the illness of the editor, a paltry excuse because that kind of a paper was just as well off with a sick editor as a well one, and better off with a dead one than with either of them. He was full of blessed egotism and placed self-importance, but he didn't know as much as a 3-cent ad. He never set any type except in the rush of the last day, and then he would smother all the poetry, and leave the rest to 'jiff' for the solid takes. He wrote with impressive fatulence and soaring confidence upon the vastest subjects; but puffing aims gifts of wedding cake, salty ice cream, abnormal watermelons, and sweet potatoes the size of your leg was his best hold. He was always a poet—a kind of poet of the Carrier's Address breed—and whenever his intellect suppurated, and he read the result to the printers and asked for their opinion they were very frank and straightforward about it. They generally seraped their rules on the boxes all the time he was reading, and called it 'hog wash' when he got through. All this was thirty-five years ago, when the man who could set 700 an hour could put on just as many airs as he wanted to; and if these New York men who recently on a wager set 2,000 an hour solid mignon for four hours on a stretch had appeared in that office, they would have been received as accomplices of the supremely impossible, and drenched with hospital beer till the brewery was bankrupt.

"I can see that printing office of prehistoric times yet, with its horse bills on the walls, its 'd' boxes clogged with tallow, because we always stood the candle in the 'k' box nights; its towel, which was not considered soiled until it could stand alone, and other signs and symbols that marked the establishment of that kind in the Mississippi valley; and I can see also the tramping 'jour' who fitted by in the summer and tarried a day, with his wallet stuffed with one shirt and a hatful of hand-bills; for if he couldn't get any type to set he would do a temperance lecture. His way of life was simple, his needs not complex; all he wanted was plate and bed, and money enough to get drunk on, and he was satisfied. But it may be,

DEPARTMENT OF OREGON W. R. CORPS.

The first annual convention of the department of Oregon, Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, was held in Portland on January 28th and 29th.

Mrs. M. Babcock, Dept. president, presiding, Mrs. Agnes E. Dinsmore, Dept. secretary. Delegates from Salem, Portland, Astoria, McMinnville and East Portland were present. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Deputy president, Mrs. Eliza A. Caukin, Portland; deputy senior vice president, Mrs. Hattie E. Cooper, Astoria; deputy junior vice president, Mrs. Agnes E. Dinsmore, Salem; deputy secretary, Mrs. Fannie E. Lounsberry, Portland; deputy treasurer, Mrs. Annie Tishburn, Portland; deputy chaplain, Mrs. Laura Thomes, Astoria; deputy counsellor, Mrs. Ida Babcock, Salem; deputy instituting and installing officer, Miss E. Crawford, Salem; deputy inspector, Mrs. Mary Gault, McMinnville. The officers were installed at a joint session of the W. R. C. and G. A. R., by Mrs. Ida M. Babcock, retiring deputy president assisted by Mrs. Mary L. Ray, as conductor.

The following delegates and alternates were elected to the national convention to be held at San Francisco next summer: Mrs. Mary Davison, Portland; Mrs. Sarah Adair, Eugene City; Mrs. Mary Coughill, East Portland; Miss Emma Crawford, Salem. The net gain of the department for the past year is four corps and thirty-eight members.

G. A. R. Officers.

At a meeting of the grand encampment of the G. A. R., department of Oregon, in session in Portland January 29, the following officers were elected: F. H. Lamb, Garfield post No. 3, Portland, department commander; T. C. Smith, Sedgwick post No. 10, of Salem, senior vice-commander; S. J. Finch, Joe Hooker post No. 20, Baker City, junior vice-commander; J. P. Gill, of J. W. Geary post No. 7, Eugene City, medical director; T. H. Henderson, of Custer post No. 9, McMinnville, chaplain. The new council of administration elected consists of Messrs. R. V. Montieth, of Astoria; Wallace Baldwin, of Corvallis; E. Martin, of East Portland; Nelson S. Pierce, and J. H. Hiends, of Portland. The delegates to the next national encampment are Prof. E. B. McElroy, of Salem; and R. W. Hill, of La Grande; and the alternates, Geo. L. Durham and C. L. Fay. The next encampment will be held the third Thursday in March, 1887, at Portland.
