Gallant Girl Who Fought With Stabel and Custer,

One of the personages about Washington during the war was Annie Jones, who originally professed to have ran away from a boarding school in Boston to "follow the drum," and who attached herself to the headquarters of Gen. Stahel, the commander of a German brigade. A flippant talker, she ingratiated herself nto the favor of the general, and received an honorary appointment as a member of his staff, and as "Major Jones" became an institution in the army. She ate with the general, drank with the general, rode with the general on all of his hazardous forays, chatted with the general, nursed the general when he was sick, fought the general's battles when she heard him aspersed by jealous un-derstrappers, and when night drew the starry flag over the heavens, she slept with her beloved colored maid in the next little tent, which the general had assigned her. She thus lived and flourished. Her orders were wont to be obeyed, because she was recognized as a staff officer. She always had the countersign, and could pass the picket at pleasure. She was said to be a girl of great dash and daring, and would frequently venture out beyond the outposts and for days watch the movements of the many and being in whole budgets. enemy, and bring in whole budgets of information from the rebel camps, as proofs of her stewardship and shrewdness. Every one knew Maj. Jones; officers would doff their hats, acts directly upon the liver; curing the many diseases incident to that important organ, and preventing the numerous ailments that arise for incident of the major of any of the major of the commands were introduced to Annie, and admired her, and she reigned supreme as the incident of the major of the ma portant organ, and preventing the numerous ailmants that arise from its deranged or orpic action, such as Dyspepsia designation, such as Dyspepsia designat fulness elsewhere. For a few days she wandered around the camp, having no particular abiding place or continuing city, until Col. Sharpe, then acting provost marshal general, thought the interests of the service required that she should be removed. FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES

It was believed that she was a Confederate spy in the Union secret service.

Another devoted friend of the Conederates, who resided just outside of the Union lines in Virginia, managed to fascinate Gen. Stoughton, a young West Pointer, and one evening, while he was serenading her, he, with his band or orderlies, were surprised. and sent as prisoners of war to Rich-mond. "I don't mind losing the brigadier, for they are easily made,' said Mr. Lincoln in talking about the capture, "but there were twenty horses taken which cost $125 each.-

A New York Character.

As I was passing him he asked me if I had any old clothes to sell, and assured me that he paid the highest market prices. Then this little dialogue, inspired by my own curiosity, ensued:

"What do you do with the things you pick up?" I inquired.

"What do I do with them?" he said, with a laugh, "I get rid of them—at a profit."

"How?"

"How?" Unificial to the "EAGLE" brand—"S. D. D. Adair & Co., and that any use of said Lakets, as above described, will be enjoined by law, undess the name of "Sibson, Church & Co., Agents," is erased and obliterated therefrom.

"How? Easy enough. I sell them to the westerners, and this is the way I do it: As soon as I get a big stock I make up a lot of bundles, as a pair of boots, a hat, a coat or some-thing else in each. I stuff the pundles thing else in each. I stuff the nundles into cheap bags and then start for some western from. I hire a store there and sell off the bags at auction. When that's done I take the first train out of that place. If I stayed till morning I'd be lynched. There's a hundred places I don't dare to show my nose in. Once—only once—I was caught, badly too. I lost the train and had to stay all night in a Mississippi village. The next day I was kept mighty busy, I tell you, buying back my bags and old clothes. I never saw such mad people. The I never saw such mad people. The trade is dangerous you see, but it pays." The philosopher whistled briskly and went his way.—[Geo. Montgomery, in Newark Advertiser.

The City Engineer of Quebec thinks he has found a way of getting a full day's work for a full day's pay, out of the corporation laborers of that city. He has published an advertisement in the city papers, under the corporation seal, which reads:

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Parties are hereby particularly requested, where excavations are made in streets to thaw water-pipes, to report to the Water Works Department any undue delay by the men doing the work, either from their beginning after hours (7 a. m.), or leaving work before hours (6 p. m.) or due to their not properly exercising themselves while at work. Please see that the pick is lifted to a proper height, and that under whatever pretense any of the gang are not smoking or including their time while others are work-

The public will understand that it is impossible and too expensive for is impossible and too expensive for the city to put a foreman to each ex-cavation, and that the only way to prevent the city from being robbed by the heartless laberer who takes a month to do a thing that can be done in less than a week, is to report him, that be may be immediately dis-charged, and replaced by another willing to do a good day's work for willing to do a good day's work for the pay he gets.

If a man loses the tail of his dress coat it is spoiled for society use but the can wear it round-about.

A Wise Reform.

The habit of administering quinine in pow erful doses, as an antidote to malaria' maladies, was once dangerously common. Happily this practice has undergone a wide reform. Not only the public, but professional men have adopted, not wholly of course, but largely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe botanic substitute for the pernicions alkaloid. The consequences of this nicious alkaloid. The consequences of this change are most important. Now fever and ague sufferers are cured-formerly their complaints were only for the time relieved, or half cured—the remedy eventually failing to produce any appreciable effect, except the doses were increased. A course of the Bitters persistently fo lowed, breaks up the worst attacks and prevents their return. The evidence in favor of this sterling specific and household medicine is of no ambiguous character, but positive and satisfactory, and the sources whence it posceeds are very numerous.

Russia, it is said, is about to make England a proposal. A married man remarks that a proposal is gen-erally a forerunner of war.—[Yonkers Statesman.

Greater than an astronomical conjunction. Red Star Cough Cure which removes throat troubles; St. Jacobs Oil which conquers pain.

A gentieman went into a crowded store to buy some stockings for his wife. "I want striped ones," he said to the clerk. "We have very few stripes, sir," the clerk replied; "they are not much worn now." "Are you sure?" "Oh, yes, quite sure. I will demonstrate the fact to you." Then he leaned over the counter and shouted "Rats!" "See!" he asked. Yes, give me the plain colors." Drake's Magazine.

AKE=== SIMMONS

For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Splesn.

This purely vegetable pre-This purely vegetable pre-paration, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1838. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, there-fore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sick-ness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, un-assisted by any other medi-cine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no inter-ruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a tempoonful or more will give relief.

If taken occasionally by pa-tients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack. A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system.
