

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1886

The Columbia sailed for San Francisco at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

J. S. Isaacs has leased for five years the beach on the kindred place, next to Ft. Stevens, for fishing purposes.

The Salem fireman gave a ball on the 22d inst, for the benefit of the Oregon State Fireman's Association Fund, and cleared nearly $200.

With fine ham at fifteen cents a pound, and eggs at twenty cents a dozen, the old and familiar partnership of Ham & Eggs are in popular favor.

And so "Mexico is going to import Chinese labor on a large scale, and will take all that British Columbia and the United States reject." That will be fine. For this relief much thanks.

John Kenny and Wm. Herrold were given a preliminary examination in the justice court yesterday, on a charge of larceny in the dwelling house of C. S. Carrothers. The examination will be resumed this afternoon.

The present low fares may bring some girls from the east who are willing to do housework. A good many private families would be glad to get good, competent white help in place of Chinese, and the reduction in transportation rates may serve a good purpose in that as in other respects.

Mr. F. H. Poindexter yesterday evening received a telegram bearing the sad news of the death of D. L. Beck in Oakland, Cal., of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Mr. Beck was here about a year ago and though not in robust health at the time gave no evidence of the wasting disease that yesterday terminated his life.

There is a law about allowing minors in saloons that ought to be strictly enforced. Boys can learn nothing good in bar rooms or running about the streets after dark and if they haven't sense enough to stay at home, or if their parents haven't control enough of them to see to their welfare, they ought to be looked after.

A Chinese correspondent of the Oregonian quotes Scripture in defense of his right to remain here, in saying, "For God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth." That's good. But why not finish the quotation, Mr. Chan Hon Fan? Go on with the rest of it. Here it is: "And doth set the bounds of their habitation." Yes, verily.

The Sacramento River Packing company has been incorporated with a capital of $80,000 and the Bristol Bay Cannery company with a capital of $200,000. The latter's cannery will be located at Bristol Bay, Alaska. The directors of both companies are: W. S. Gage, Sol. Waugenheim, Juda Neuman of San Francisco, W. B. Bradford of San Rafael and J. J. Scofield of Oakland, Cal.

A little four-year-old boy was seriously hurt yesterday morning on the roadway to upper town by falling under the wheels of a truck on which he had been riding, the wheels passing over his chest and shoulders. It is feared serious internal injury has resulted. It is said to be a common practice for boys to jump on those trucks, often with very narrow escapes from injury. It is dangerous sport and is liable at any time to result in serious injury.

PERSONAL.

Capt. J. D. Merryman returns to Hillsboro this morning.

Rev. Dr. Garner and Col. John Adair, Jr., were among yesterday afternoon's arrivals.

Something New.

L. E. Selig returned from Portland yesterday where he has made arrangements with the Thompson opera company to appear at Ross' opera house next Thursday and Friday, when the reigning operatic sensations of the day, the "Mikado," and the "Beggar Student" will be produced with all the careful attention to scenic affect and musical detail that has given the company such prestige in Portland and elsewhere. The sale of reserved seats will begin at ten o'clock to-morrow morning at the New York Novelty store. No seats will be kept unless ordered. First come first served.

A Clause From the Burlingame Treaty.

If Chinese laborers or Chinese of any other class now either permanently or temporarily residing in the United States meet with ill treatment at the hands of any other persons, the government of the United States will exert all its power to devise measures for their protection.

Get your supper at the Y. M. C. A. "Pink Tea."

Don't fail to see the "Gypsy" at the Y. M. C. A. Festival to-night.

THE PROHIBITION STAR, the only temperance paper published in Oregon, will be sent to any address from now until after the June election upon receipt of 50 cents. The STAR is published at Salem and is the official paper for the W. C. T. U. and the State Temperance Alliance. Sample copies free.

TELEGRAPHIC.

PORTLAND, Feb. 25.—A fire in Chinatown which gutted three stores on Second street between Yamhill and Taylor at an early hour this morning caused a loss of $20,000. The insurance is $14,000. There is a general belief that the Chinese set it on fire to get the insurance.

CROUCH ISN'T SURE ABOUT IT.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—Cora Pearl, a notorious cyprion and chief of the Paris demi-monde, claims to be the daughter of Prof. Nicholas Crouch, the author of "Kathleen Mavourneen." Crouch says he has had nine children and doesn't know whether she is one or not. The matter has created great gossip.

MURDER WILL OUT.

MATANZAS, Feb. 25.—Sam Reed, a deserter from the 8th U. S. cavalry, makes a confession saying that Sam Williams, a deserter, killed the Irish Hebrew, Block, who was murdered recently. He will probably be shot by the authorities. The murderers got very little money.

STILL IN TROUBLE.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 25.—The house sergeant-at-arms to-day arrested County Clerk Dalton for refusing to bring in the Hamilton county returns. He was out on writ of habeas corpus and was released because the returns are still in the hands of the state senate and he was therefore unable to produce them.

WILL SEND A DELEGATION TO WASHINGTON.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—At a conference of labor leaders here to-day it was decided to send a representative committee to Washington to advocate the interests of the tariff before congress.

OPPOSED TO HOME RULE.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The associated chamber of commerce to-day adopted a series of resolutions declaring home rule in Ireland to be disastrous to trade in England and Ireland both.

SEATTLE AFTERMATH.

Here then is the situation at Seattle to-day. Peace still enthroned, but before us and ranging over many months of the future lies the task of remedying the evils engendered, recovering the losses inflicted, and soothing the passions aroused. It is best to look this matter square in the face. While there is no organized or respectable endorsement of mob rule in Seattle, there have grown out of the events of the past two weeks factions and divisions of society which are anything but promising of advantage to the city. Their duration rests solely upon the degree with which intelligence is applied to this task of abating their evils. We are not talking to law breakers and rioters now. There is but one thing to say to them and that is "You must obey the law!"

But among the orderly people we find the factional differences of which we speak, and it is to the patriotism of these people that we address the prayer that everything be laid aside to the furtherance of our united interests. Seattle has been seathed in the fire and the oil of reason, moderation and loyalty to the Queen city should be poured upon her wounds. In the homely words of a workman at our elbow "every man should button up his lip until his pulse beats slower." If there ever was a time in the history of Seattle, when workmen, business men and tax payers needed a strong bond of union between them it is now. We are in the midst of a temporary depression of all our industries. The events of the past two weeks have locked up local capital, stopped mills and factories and mines, and frightened investments from abroad. We must get these things in motion again and the best way to do it is to button up our lips and cease impassioned harangues.—Chronicle, 23.

THE MITCHELL BILL.

The following petition is being circulated throughout the state, to the honorable John H. Mitchell, and J. N. Dolph, United States Senators from the State of Oregon: Your petitioners, residents of the state of Oregon, believing as we do that American labor cannot compete with the pauper element of Asia, and believing as we do that it is the duty of government to protect its subjects from injury, from whatever source it may come, and to use its power to protect labor, and make the laborer's occupation honorable, would respectfully request you to use all honorable means to secure the passage of the bill introduced by Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, to abrogate all existing treaties between the United States and China, and to secure such legislation on the subject as will wholly prevent Chinese coming to the United States to labor.

The Original Mgwumps.

The Boston Herald asserts that the Bible is full of mgwumps, and in proof of it quotes Genesis xxxvii, Eliot's Indian translation, as follows: Yeug mgwumpoag wannanunonuh Esau, wannanunoneh Eliphar motomgbeunche Esau, mgwumpomp Te-man, mgwumpomp Omer, mgwumpomp Zepho, mgwumpomp Kenaz.

A ROAD TO THE NEHALEM.

The project of building a narrow gauge railroad from this city to the Nehalem is again receiving attention and the idea is being favorably entertained by several who think that it could and would be a success. It is argued that the road would be a means of considerable revenue from four distinct sources.

1st. The hauling of the rock used in building the jetty at the mouth of the river. During last summer this rock was hauled on government barges at considerable expense from a point thirty-five miles above the city. It is said that large quantities of suitable rock can be had at a point along the road and delivered at a price that while below present rates would afford a margin of profit.

2nd. The seaside travel. It is unmistakable that if rapid and comfortable transit could be secured from Astoria to Clatsop beach the number of yearly summer visitors would be considerably augmented. The proposed line of road crossing Young's bay from Smith's point to Skipanon landing and thence to Clatsop beach would enable many from the interior to visit the coast and enjoy a sojourn during the summer months who under existing circumstances are compelled to forego that pleasure.

3rd. The coal mines. Men who talk sanguinely of the scheme say that a large coal vein fully four feet in width and yielding coal of excellent quality has been uncovered in the vicinity of Onion Peak, and that that whole country is underlaid with coal measures that need only the development that the chance to get the coal to market would bring, to be a source of great wealth.

4th. The timber of the Nehalem. The lower Nehalem is a terra incognita to ninety-nine hundredths of Astorians, and under present opportunities of travel must long remain so. It is a region of great natural wealth: its virgin forests are destined to be an important factor in the wealth of this section of Oregon and nothing will add to the possibility of development faster than a railroad.

The one question is "Will it pay?" Men who ought to know say it will. If that can be clearly demonstrated the road will be built—maybe.

THE OLD SHIP "VANDERBILT."

The huge three-masted ship Three Brothers, built by William H. Webb as a steamer at Greenpoint, L. I., in 1855, to the order of the late Commodore Vanderbilt, is now at Gibraltar being altered into a coal hulk. This vessel used to be the pride of every American sailor, for she was the largest that sported the red, white and blue ensign. Her length was 320 feet, breadth forty-eight feet three inches and depth twenty-nine feet nine inches. She had three decks and beams and registered 2,936 tons.

When the war broke out Mr. Vanderbilt chartered her as a transport to the government, and towards the close of the war presented her to the United States. She was then used as a cruiser, and owing to her burning such a large quantity of coal she was nicknamed "the pickpocket of the navy." Captain, now Admiral Baldwin commanded her. In 1868 the Howes Bros. purchased the Vanderbilt from the navy, and altering her into a sailing ship, rechristened her the Three Brothers. She was then put on the route between New York and San Francisco. In 1881 she was bought by several well-known shipping men of Liverpool, and they made extensive repairs and placed her under the British flag.

Going Sealing.

Mr. Greenleaf, formerly second officer of the steamship Umatilla, but now engaged in the shipping business in Victoria, was in Seattle yesterday. In conversation with the writer, he stated that Capt. Frank Wright, formerly master of the Umatilla, and who afterwards got mixed up in a smuggling speculation and settled down in Victoria, has been following the business of diving for late, but recently bought an interest in the sealing business of Gutman & Frank, of British Columbia, and has taken command of the largest of their sealing schooners, the Frank Williams, and yesterday set sail for a seven months' sealing expedition. He has on board the schooner twenty-five canoes and fifty Indians. He will go south as far as Cape Blanco, and follow the seal north into the Arctic ocean, capturing them all along the line.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer, 23.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

John B. Gough's funeral took place at Worcester, Mass., last Wednesday.

An investigation of the Pan-Electric telephone matter will soon be ordered by congress.

The Eads ship railway scheme across Panama isthmus has passed the congressional committee by a vote of nine to four.

A bill has been introduced in the senate to establish a postal savings depository as a branch of the post-office department.

Jack Dempsey and Pete McCoy fought six rounds at Jersey City last Wednesday night before 4,000 people. Dempsey won the fight and $6,000.

On the 24th the house of representatives passed a bill annexing the "pan handle," or northern part of Idaho to Washington territory. The residents of that part of the territory wanted to be annexed to Montana.

John Searies, U. S. government commissioner, who recently visited the Sandwich islands, strongly recommends the abrogation of the Hawaiian treaty on account of its being detrimental to the interests of this country.

The wreck of the John Rosenfeld will be sold next Monday in Victoria. In addition to librating the tug Tacoma, the owners of the ship have entered suit against Hanson, Ackerson & Co., of Tacoma, to recover $150,000 damages.

A cotton harvester has been invented which it is claimed will revolutionize the cotton industry of the south. It cost $37,000,000 to harvest last year's crop. This machine, it is said, will effect a saving of $50,000,000 annually.

It is reported in St. Paul that a deal has been made between the Canadian Pacific and Manitoba roads which, if consummated, will make the Canadian road a formidable competitor of the northern Pacific, and an active factor in northwest railroad affairs in the United States. By the terms of this reported agreement the Canadian road will abandon its policy of doing all business through the dominion, and will establish a Pacific coast line from St. Paul and Minneapolis by way of the Manitoba line.

The British steamer Sardonyx has been chartered to sail from Victoria March 6 for Manzanillo, Mexico, touching at San Francisco, Manzanilla and other ports, and terminating at Manzanillo. At Manzanillo the Sardonyx will take in a cargo of coffee, sugar, spices and other tropical productions for Victoria and for transportation via the Canada Pacific to Canada. She will connect at Manzanillo with a line of steamers for Hong Kong, which has been subsidized by the Mexican government to make frequent and regular trips between China and Mexico. The company that has contracted with the Mexican government for service is the Campana Mexicana de Navigacion del Pacifico. It seems the Mexican authorities are anxious to encourage immigration of the Chinese, wishing to utilize them to labor on the sugar and cotton plantations. The company holds two concessions from the Mexican government for the introduction of Chinese labor. The Sardonyx will carry from Victoria as many Chinese passengers as she can accommodate, and will take in a cargo of coals for the Mazatlan gas works. At San Francisco she will take on board flour and wheat for the Mexican market. Mexico is going to import Chinese labor on a large scale, and will take all that British Columbia and the United States reject.

A Pleasing Novelty to Californians.

Thursday the overland freight tariff on hops was lowered from $2.00 to $1.70 per hundred pounds. This was followed by a further reduction to $1.50 per hundred yesterday. If the slaughter continues it may play an important part in the disposition of our large surplus. It is also understood that similar inducements have been offered to shippers of other commodities. The situation is novel and interesting. Verily "the sun do move."—S. F. Comm. News, 26.

THE ENGLISH CANNED SALMON MARKET.

The London Grocer of January 30th says of the market of that city: "With some improvement in the weather there is a slightly better feeling in the market generally, and although business has not perceptibly increased, inquiries have been rather more numerous in nearly all directions. Attention at the moment is still centered chiefly in salmon, for which the demand is unimpaired, and large quantities are passing between one wholesale house and another, and also from the import firms into the grocers' hands, who are laying in stocks, as they have been doing for some time past, in anticipation of the renewed wants of customers later on. Supplies then may be expected to show a marked falling off from various causes, but here they are at present sufficiently ample for all purposes, and the firmness with which they are held proves that the article is in a strong and favorable position. Prices tend slowly upwards, and for good merchantable brands in any quantity, the nearest quotations that can be given are 22s to 25s per case. It is possible to buy at something below these rates, but the quality and character of the goods could not be guaranteed, and if they went into consumption they might obtain for themselves a bad name, which as applied to a 'dog,' is equivalent to being condemned or hanged outright.

Of the Liverpool market the same authority says: The demand for salmon is unabated. The orders since the opening of the year, though handsome in the extreme as a total, clearly show from the everyday repetition that the purchases made have been purely for hand-to-mouth requirements, and that no stock of any kind is held by the country dealers, nor, in fact, by the trade generally. Several comparatively small sales have been made during the week for London, whilst offers have been refused by holders here for larger parcels when only the slightest margin has been in question, involving many thousands of cases, thus clearly showing the strength of the article.

Another report says: The demand is steady, and although grocers have been led to buy rather freely in consequence of the action of those who have special interest in pushing up prices, yet there is every reason to believe that stocks are being slowly consumed. It is advisable for retailers not to buy large stocks, as such action tends to put up prices to an unnatural point, and, as present figures are 20 per cent. higher than the lowest point of 1885, we do not expect the consumption will at all approach that of last year.

Bad to Leave the Children Alone.

A special from Tangler, Va., says: On Sunday afternoon Captain W. L. Trautte and wife went to Sunday school, leaving their four little children in the house. Three little girls named Cooper, from a neighboring house, came in, and while they were playing the fire went out. Captain Trautte's daughter, aged 7 years, put some kindling in the stove, while another child struck a match and put it to a can of coal oil by accident. A terrible explosion followed. The child who held the can was instantly killed and a two-year-old boy was so badly injured that he died in three hours. The other Trautte children and three visitors were horribly burned, but may possibly recover. The house was badly damaged, but the neighbors saved it from being burned.
