

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1886

The State came in yesterday morning; the Oregon sailed.

A local assembly K. of L. was organized at Skipanon last evening.

The N. P. announces a passenger rate of $84.50 from New York to Astoria.

It is believed that a permanent military garrison will be established at Seattle.

A few more seats left for the "The Mikado" at Ross' opera house next Thursday evening, at the New York Novelty store.

The Statesman says that there are six religious revivals "running at full head" in Salem now in as many different churches.

The funeral of the late E. N. Murphy took place from the residence of his sister, Mrs. John Rogers, yesterday morning, and was numerously attended.

The Sardinian, 1,513, sailed for Antwerp yesterday, drawing twenty-two feet of water; the American ship the Goodwin, 1,414, arrived in 41 days from Shanghai.

Mrs. C. H. Menzendorfer died in East Portland last Saturday morning. Deceased was the sister of N. Clinton of this city. She left a husband and three children. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon.

Messrs. Brown & McCabe, the stevedores, says the Welcome, had a trial trip on Saturday of their new steam launch, the Mikado; many friends enjoying the pleasure of a ride and the contents of some big cigar boxes and quart bottles of best champagne.

The water company will begin this morning a thorough cleaning and repairing of the Welch hill reservoir. The work will take about a week, and during that time water will be turned on from the main reservoir at Bear creek. It would be well for consumers to keep an extra barrel full in case a break should occur in the main pipe while the work of repairing the town reservoir goes on.

The Welcome says that Sylvester Pennoyer, of Portland, offers to start a first-class Democratic paper in that city, with full dispatches, etc., on the following basis: He will purchase the News and turn it to the pool $8,000, if the Democrats here will raise money enough to give him $5,000 cash and complete control of the Standard. He promises, should his offer be accepted, never again to call on his readers and supporters for financial assistance.

PERSONAL.

Ja. O. Spencer has been reappointed notary public at Clifton.

E. D. McKee, of Portland, was among the Oregon's passengers yesterday afternoon. He goes to Oakland to take charge of the business of Meyer, Wilson & Co.

Some Reminiscences.

Postmaster Bell took possession of the post office yesterday. Twelve years ago to-day Wm. Chance took charge of the post office in this city and had charge of it since then continually. He took possession of the Astoria post office March 2, 1874. It was a fourth class office then, the pay being $720 a year. A few years after it rose to the dignity of a post office the postmaster of which is appointed by the president. Chance has a whole stack of appointments. One time in the history of this burg he was sheriff, tax collector, street superintendent, harbor master, dog catcher, deputy United States marshal and two or three other things. He kept a record of his fees for three months. The whole business panned out $27, for the three months, but he had lots of fun. If a man struck the town or the town struck him, Chance was sure to have official business with him in some capacity.

Popular Lectures.

Last night in the M. E. Church Rev. J. W. Webb, pastor of the Christian church, Portland, gave a very interesting, and at times thrilling lecture on the subject of temperance, that, in this gentleman's hands, proved anything but "threadbare." He is logical, earnest and sympathetic, and presents facts and illustrations with considerable histrionic power. He speaks again to-night, under the auspices of the Good Templar's Lodge, which will probably resume its meetings after a somewhat lengthened vacation. Being an excellent reader he has been requested to intersperse some selections through his address, to begin at 7.30. He will leave for home on Wednesday's steamer.

To Members of Rescue Engine Co. No. 2.

To members of Rescue Engine Co. No. 2. Company met at the usual hour and adjourned to Tuesday, March 2nd, 1886. A full attendance is requested as business of importance will be transacted. By order. E. Z. FERROUX, Secy.

NO RIOT IN CHICAGO.

Ten Canneries to Run in British Columbia This Season.

PORTLAND, Mar. 1.—No arrests have yet been made of parties who expelled the Chinamen from Albina; this morning, as yet there does not appear to be the slightest clue to their identity.

Seventy Chinamen working on the narrow gauge railroad near Oswego have been notified to leave inside of thirty days. It is believed they will go.

A RIOT QUELLED.

CHICAGO, Mar. 1.—The McCormick reaper works started up this morning. Three hundred and fifty men reported for duty. Large crowds of striking workmen arrayed themselves outside the works to intimidate those who were going to work. Many police were on hand and drove back the men who scattered in all directions as soon as they saw the police meant business. The police arrested twenty-five for raising a disturbance; one of them made a speech and urged his companions to shoot the workers. Many who it was found had revolvers were fined for carrying concealed weapons.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—The number of standard dollars issued during the past week was $305,000 against 1,086,000 during the same period last year.

The senate committee on public lands to-day voted to report adversely on the nomination of Dement for the position of surveyor general of Utah territory.

TEN CANNERIES TO RUN.

VICTORIA, B. C., Mar. 1.—It is thought about ten canneries in the province will be operated this season. The remainder will be either sold or dismantled.

ACROSS THE SEA.

LONDON, Mar. 1.—During a big snow storm the British steamer Missoiri stranded at Holyhead. All the crew were saved. The ship will probably be floated off.

The storm is general throughout Great Britain, and the snow greatly impedes traffic. Much suffering is reported among the poorer classes.

U. S. Minister Phelps and wife were to-day presented to the queen at Windsor castle.

IN THE SHADOW.

VICTORIA, B. C., Mar. 1.—Robert Sproule, the American convicted of the murder of Thomas Hamill, has been denied a new trial by the supreme court, and will be hanged on April 6th, unless otherwise ordered from Ottawa.

SCHOOL MEETING IN DISTRICT NO. 18.

The annual school meeting in school district No. 18, was held in the schoolhouse in that district last evening and was well attended.

C. W. Shiveley, clerk of the district read the call for the meeting, and stated the object of the meeting to be to elect a school director for the term of three years and clerk for one year. The financial affairs of the district are in good shape and everything satisfactory.

For school director the names of D. Morgan Jr., and Mrs. Morgan were placed in nomination, resulting as follows: D. Morgan Jr., 33; Mrs. Morgan, 14; blank, 4.

For school clerk C. W. Shiveley received the unanimous vote of the meeting. The matter of school months whether calendar or otherwise, was, on motion, left discretionary with the directors. On motion the meeting adjourned.

The report of the school clerk will appear subsequently.

Lumber Shipments.

W. B. Adair, one of the representatives from this city to the recent waterway convention at The Dalles, is compiling some commercial statistics regarding shipments across the bar both domestic and foreign. From reports received by him it is learned that during '85 there were shipped from the Columbia mills at Knappa-ton, W. T., 17,920,390 feet lumber, valued at $161,283, and 4,092,400 lath, valued at $6,048,70, a total of $167,332.10, comprising 53 cargoes. The Clatsop Mill Co. loaded 17 vessels during '85 for San Francisco and southern ports, 5,329,419 feet lumber and 2,022,530 lath. The Westport mill during the same period sent away four cargoes, 1,335,534 ft. lumber valued at $12,283.

Death of a Centenarian.

Mr. Nutter, of Lewis and Clarke's, reports the death of an aged man named Wilson at his place last Sunday. He figures up the age of Wilson to have been 100 years. He fought with Jackson at New Orleans, over 71 years ago, lived in Tennessee many years, then in California and finally here. He was quite active and in full possession of his senses up to a week ago when he hurt his foot and since that time sank gradually to death.

If his age was stated correctly he was the oldest man on the Pacific coast. The funeral took place yesterday.

A Life Saving Present.

Mr. M. E. Allison, Hutchinson, Kan., saved his life by a simple Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, which caused him to procure a large bottle, that completely cured him, when Doctors, change of climate and everything else had failed. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, it is guaranteed to cure. Trial Bottles free at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

Just Received.

SCHOOL MEETING IN DISTRICT NO. 1.

At half past seven yesterday evening the principal's room in the schoolhouse in district No. One was filled to its utmost capacity.

The meeting was called to order by C. H. Stockton who read the call as published, and stated the object of the meeting was to elect a school director for three years and a school clerk for one year. He read the minutes of the last annual meeting and of the meeting held July 17th, 1885, both of which were, on motion, adopted as read. He then read the clerk's annual report, from which it appears that the amount received during the year ending March 1st, 1886, was $10,453.64, and the amount expended was $8,592.09, leaving a balance in the treasury of $1,861.55.

He stated that the district was in good financial shape, that the litigation had terminated satisfactorily, that the most of the taxes, delinquent and otherwise, had been paid in, there being now outstanding but $180.42, which was still uncollected, mostly against persons owning no real estate.

On motion the clerk's report was received and placed on file.

Nominations for school director being in order E. C. Holden placed in nomination E. W. Tallant; F. L. Parker nominated C. H. Stockton.

The chair appointed P. J. Goodman and F. L. Parker as tellers.

Discussion as to who were entitled to a vote was settled with the understanding that only those who had property on which taxes were collected or collectable were to be allowed to vote, and that objection to any one's vote was to be decided by a majority vote of those present. The ballot resulted as follows: E. W. Tallant, 81; C. H. Stockton, 47; blank, 8.

Next in order was the election of school clerk. The names of J. G. Hustler and J. O. Bozorth were placed in nomination, the ballot resulting as follows: J. G. Hustler, 75; J. O. Bozorth, 57; blank, 1. On motion the meeting adjourned.

LOG OF THE BARK "ISLE OF BUTE"

From Brisbane for Portland, Or., sailed Dec. 18, 1885, with a fresh wind from the eastward. We had easterly and E. S. E. winds for ten days, and then light, variable winds all round the compass for three days, with heavy rain; then fresh gale from S. E. with high sea and land rain at times. Jan. 13, 1886, in lat. 19° S., lon. 164° 48' W., we got into a hurricane. The storm commenced N. E. with a frightful sea running from the N. W. The vessel was hoisted on port tack lee clew and lower main-top-sail and mizzen-stay-sail; but the first heavy squall took both sails away and at 8 p. m. the storm was raging, the ship laying on her beam ends under bare poles. At 10:30 p. m. in the center of the storm, a calm for half an hour, when the wind burst out from the S. W. and blowed harder than ever for two hours, then the storm began to take off. The following sails were blown away from the yards: Fore-sail, fore-top-sails, main-top-sails, mizzen-stay-sail, spanker and jib, and some others chafed very much with the gaskets. I am happy to say no other damage was done to the vessel, only mizzen-stay carried away. The barometer fell from 29.80 to 28.10 in six hours, and the vessel under bare poles for eight hours. The wind then veered to S. E. and E. and got fine weather. The wind kept E. and E. S. E. for several days; got the S. E. trades, the wind varying from E. to E. N. E. all through trades. Crossed the equator Jan. 26, in lon. 163°. Got N. E. trades in 6° N., very light; lost N. E. trades in 19° north, then nothing but light, baffling winds, with rain, for six days, then got more direct winds from S. S. E., with fine weather for four days when the wind varied to N. N. W. and N. with hard rain and snow squalls up to making the land, which was sighted Feb. 28, at 8 a. m. Got the pilot on board at 5:30 p. m., off Tillamook head. Passage, 71 days.

Cheap Rates of Travel.

When the passenger agents began business yesterday, rates opened at about the same figures as quoted for Thursday. That is, for New York, $78, $49 and $34; Chicago, $65, $35 and $25. It was not long, however, before the Chicago rate was placed at $22.50 for third class travel. This rate, however, was suddenly put back to $25, but at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon a veritable bombshell was thrown into the street, when it was announced that the Central Pacific was offering a $20 rate to Chicago. The news spread like wildfire and at first was not credited, but inquiry at the office verified the report, and the following rates were quoted: Chicago, unlimited, $65; limited, $33; third-class, $29. New York, unlimited, $78; limited, $48; third-class, $30.—S. F. Alta, Feb. 27.

Driven From Albina.

At an early hour yesterday morning about 185 Chinamen engaged in woodchopping and clearing land three or four miles back of Albina and East Portland, were driven from their camp by a party of white men, disguised, some having their faces blacked, others with masks, and others with sacks drawn over their heads and holes cut in them to look through. It is stated that they were all armed. The Chinamen were waked up and told to leave; they immediately crossed over on the ferry to Portland, their fares being paid by one of the leaders of the party that drove them away.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Charles Plantagenet Burns, the leader of the London mob, is a lawyer. He is described as having a large mouth and a rasping voice. His tongue is often afflicted with soft corras.

Senator Jones, of Florida, an amorous widower, is acquiring notoriety in his unsuccessful efforts to induce Miss Palm, of Detroit, worth $12,000,000 to be his bride. He is sixty, she twenty.

Mr. Cleveland is not going to chance any scandals for use next campaign. A party of "wage women" desired audience with him in a private room, and he declined, whereupon they call on all the hired girls to denounce him and boycott the White house.

Congressman Hermann, after much labor, has secured restoration of the mail service between Ashland and Linkville to six times a week, and also the establishment of service between Cleveland and Looking Glass, Or. He says if the people of the west who have been injured by having the service cut down would petition for restoration of the service, it would probably be done.

Rev. Sam Jones says: "I like to live in a live settlement. It is mighty hard to be alive and dignified both at once. I am criticised frequently about my dignity. I have told the dignified brethren, 'As soon as I die I will be as dignified as any of you.' A dead man is the most dignified fellow you ever saw. Don't laugh; don't smile. He is as straight as an Indian. But, God helping me, I will never be dignified until I do die. Talk about dignity! It is the stretch of the shroud, and it doesn't amount to anything. Let us be natural."

The foremost figure in the pioneer history and maturer politics of Iowa, was A. C. Dodge, representative and senator in congress for twenty years. In the senate he was a member at the same time that his great father represented Wisconsin in that body, and once, in a scene that Forney has perpetuated for history, in speaking of the habits of his early life, he said, in a speech: "As my father who heard me, can affirm." The effect was electrical. General Dodge left some worthy sons, who are already at the front in professional and public life in Iowa, and one of them is a leading member of the senate of that state. It is easy destiny that he will follow the footsteps of his father on a larger field.

"My views regarding religion are not generally understood," said Colonel Ingersoll recently to a circle of friends. "I am credited with a good many ideas that I have never entertained. I am very much like an old Indian of whom I have heard. An enterprising missionary with the tribe was bent upon the conversion of this particular savage. One day out on the plains the good man plied the subject vigorously, till finally the red man, picking up a stick, bent down and drew in the sand a small circle. 'That's what Indian know,' he said. Then he drew a larger circle around the first, and pointing to it said: 'That's what white man know; but outside of that Indian know much as white man—know nothing.' The Indian's doctrine is my doctrine," ended the orator.

A friend of Hancock's gives out this pleasant gossip about the general's peculiarities:

"In most things the general was the soul of exactness, but in money matters he was laughably thoughtless. He would frequently come over to the city without a cent in his pocket. On discovering his moneyless condition, a look of helpless surprise would come over his face, and winking his eyes in that peculiar manner usual when he was puzzled, he would say: 'Well, I do declare! I haven't a cent. Will you lend me some money?' Of course the pocket book of everyone was open to the general, but he would only accept a quarter or, at most, a half a dollar and go off up town as happy as a school boy. He always gave the loose change in his pockets to beggars or organ grinders and was lucky if he saved enough to get himself down town again. One day he climbed up the stairs of the Twenty-third street Elevated station and began to fumble in his pockets for money. Five cents was all he could find, and after winking at the nickel for a moment he returned to the street and took the Broadway horse-car for Bowling Green."

HOW THE "IDAHO" SEIZURE OF OPIUM WAS MADE.

(Washington Correspondence Oregonian.)

Collector Beecher, of Port Townsend, has been dividing his time between here and New York since he reached Washington, on the 29th ult. He will not return to Washington territory until the senate either confirms or refuses to confirm his nomination. He tells me that on reaching here he immediately reported to President Cleveland, by whom he was ordered to Washington. The president made particular inquiries about the charges preferred against the appointee and listened attentively to what the latter had to say. During the conversation Mr. Beecher made some remark about his confirmation. "Oh, you will be confirmed without doubt," said the president. Mr. Beecher tells me it is yet a matter of wonder to people in Washington territory how he found out how the opium he seized was carried to Alaska and where it was stored. He gives the following version: On one of Capt. Carroll's down trips he stopped at Victoria, as usual and late at night entered a Chinese house. A number of skilled detectives were constantly on his track, for he had long been suspected of a smuggling trade. The chief inspector disguised himself, feigned drunkenness and staggered into the house, running against Capt. Carroll. The latter turned around, gave the intruder a slight blow and commanded him to leave the house. With a leer the detective returned the blow, when the captain struck him so severely as to knock him down, he falling on a bundle of Chinese bags. To all appearances the detective then fell into a drunken stupor. Both the Chinaman and the captain eyed him for a time, then seemingly coming to the conclusion that he was really too drunk to hear or hearken to their conversation, they talked together for a few minutes in a low tone. The captain then told the Chinaman how much opium he wanted, when he wanted it, and gave orders how it was to be packed and labeled. According to agreement, the captain was to take it on board his steamer on his next trip to Alaska. Detectives were on hand when he returned to Victoria, saw the opium placed on board, then one of the detectives took passage on the Idaho. A strict watch was kept, the spot where the opium was stored was noted, and it was subsequently seized.
