As the bill had no emergency clause, the law could not go into effeat until three months subsequent to its passage. This time has passed, so the authorities can now begin to enforce the law. It provides that opium shall not be sold in any form except by a prescription from a practicing physician, written in English or Latin.

OWNERSHIP OF SWAMP LANDS.

KNAPPA, March 6, 1886. EDITOR ASTORIAN:

In THE WERELY ASTORIAN of Feb. 20th, is an article copied from the Standard. In that rticle the writer copied portions of a letter which I had addressed to C. B. Carlisle, secretary of the Oregon board of immi-gration, and made a synopsis of balnce of letter.

In that letter I gave the present legal status of overflowed lands be-longing to the state of Oregon, lying in Clatsop county, and mentioned the opinion of ex-Judge Jas. K. Kelly respecting them. The writer of the article made a mistake. He says that Judge Kelley held that the lands be-longed to the United States. In the letter nothing was said about the land belonging to the United States. Iand belonging to the United States. There is no question about the ownership of the lands. In speaking about Judge Kelley's opinion, the following is the language which I used. 'Judge Kelley said that the parties having allowed ten years to elapse without reclaiming the land, had forested.

feited all rights, and that the state board could be compelled by man-damus to deed to settlers. Within a very short time the supreme court of Oregon, in the case of D. L. Moore, has settled this point sustaining the opinion of Judge Kelley. This case of Moore was an agreed case, brought to determine the point, whether a party purchasing under the law of 1870, and having fully complied with the law by reclamation, etc., was entitled to a deed from the state, before the land had been patented to the state by the United States. The court held that having performed his part of the contract the state must perform her part, and give him a deed.

In this case it was taken as true that the man's proof was all right, that no perjury had been committed, that the land was absolutely swamp or overflowed. Were it otherwise, the deed would be valueless, for in that case the land would not belong ented to the state by the United States. Through error in judgement or criminal conspiracy of examing agents, no amount of purification, no number of innocent purchasers, could cure the inherent defect of such a

This decision was in accordance with decisions of the United States supreme court and with the opinion of Attorney General Black, given to the secretary of the interior in the year 1857. This decision settles the question as far as Clatsop county overflowed lands are concerned—the unsold portion of them belong to the state. That the state board so regards them, is in evidence from the fact that within a few months the board has sold about 400 acres of these lands under the law of 1878, into the water. and given deeds for them, the lands sold having been patented to the state

If the original contract made with parties in 1873, who had filed on the lands under the law of 1870, and had entered into a contract with the state in 1873, to reclaim the lands within ten years from date of contract and pay the balance of purchase money, the state obligating herself, upon the performance of these conditions to give the parties deeds to the land, -if this contract were still a living contract no power on earth can annul this contract excepting the contracting parties, or except upon performance or by operation of law. Granting the contract to be still in force, a deed given to the assignee of this contract, under the law of 1878 would be absolutely void. But the deed is good for the lands reverted lands. One person is allowed to purchase 320 acres or a less amount, and it is not only desirable, but import-ant that these lands be speedily set-tled and reclaimed.
