The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

...MARCH 16, 188

The State is due from San Francisco this morning; the Oregon sails The ladies of the M. E. church will have a concert next Tuesday evening. Dr. P. Thoen has arrived from the east and located permanently at upper Astoria.

N. D. Raymond began distributing city a sessor's blanks in the eastern part of the city yesterday.

M. W. Fechheimer, a well known lawyer of Portland, died in that city last Saturday, in the 41st year of his

Under instructions from Lieut. Se-bree, the Shubrick will be sold at auction by E. C. Hollen at noon next Business in the justice and police courts is light and will probably con-tinue so till the season is a little farther advanced.

For fifty cents, spot cash, THE AS-TORIAN can be chartered to make weekly voyages to any port coast or inland, from now till after the June

The days for voters to register are the 5th, 6th or 7th of April. The Astorian doesn't propose that any one in Clatsop county will forget this for want of being told. The Woman's relief corps will have a social dance at Pythian Castle this

Tuesday evening. Tickets, one dol-lar, to be had at the door. A string band will furnish the music. Mr. Thompson and wife (Carrie Godfrey) are reported to have separated. The reasons given are various, but the real one is probably no one's business but theirs.

Reports from the outside are to the effect that the blow we experienced here last Friday and Saturday was as a summer zephyr in comparison to the blast that raged a few miles out

Jack Grant got a telegram from C. F. Sliter, of Portland, yesterday re-garding the Dempsey Le Blanche fight. They fought thirteen rounds, the fight occupying forty-one min-utes. Dempsey is over $10,000 ahead since he left San Francisco last November to fight Campbell.

For some time buyers of certain brands of yeast powder have been getting silver forks, knives, spoons and other bric-s-brac, in their cans of baking sods, and now comes a brand of tea, the purchasers of which get Japanese work of various kinds and different degrees of utility.

The Corwin came in last Sunday, on her way from San Francisco to Alaska, whither she goes on the difficult task of breaking up the smug-gling along the thousands of miles of Alaskan coast line. The Bear has been ordered north on the easier duty of watching the seal fisheries.

Captain Norton, whose critical condition was mentioned in Sunday's issue, died at the hospital at nine o'clock a. M., on Sunday, the 14th inst. His wife had arrived from West Medford, Mass., the evening before. Capt. Norton was a native of Maine and in the 53rd year of his age. His remains will be taken east

The Welcome hears that Messrs. L A. Brown and John Betts have leased the O'Shea property on the corner of First and B streets, Portland, and on the completion of the building, some and McCabe will take office ro there, and in the same building Peter Wilhelm will open a new saloon.

John Gates, the mayor of Portland. has called alpublic meeting in that city this afternoon, to get an expression of public opinion condemnatory of the present tendency to lawless-ness and damaging agitation in that city and vicinity, particularly with regard to the unlawful action toward the Chinese. In his call Mayor Gate says, "Our citizens are being insulted and robbed and there is general apprehension of outrage.

The present cut in freight rates works both ways in affecting prices: eastern goods going down and coast products going up. California cans tomatoes in large quantities and since the cut in rates has sent immense consignments east. The consequence is that while tomatoes have been retailing at ten cents a can in Astoria they are now quoted at $1.25 a dozen, wholesale, in San Francisco. On the other hand eastern goods, coal oil, ham, etc., seem shaky and likely to drop below even the present low quotations.

Peter Cooper was a great man, and sometimes gave very sound advice, but never anything more sound than the following: "In all towns where newspaper is published every man should advertise in it, even if nothing more than a card stating his nam and the business he is engaged in. It does not only pay the advertiser, but it lets the people at a distance know that you reside in a prosperous community of business men. As the seed is sown the fruit recompenses. Nev-er pull down your sign while you ex-pect to do business."

The sixth anniversary of the Asto The sixth anniversary of the Astoria Y. M. C. A. was celebrated at the Congregational church last Sunday evening. Notwithstanding the very disagreeable weather the building was well filled. Rev. A. J. Joslyn delivered in interesting address on the origin, purpose and growth of the association. C. A. Hanson gave a statch of the work of the past year sketch of the work of the past year and showed the association to be gaining in strength and favor. The music led by the choir added not a little to the success of the evening. A collection for the benefit of the Astoris association was taken up amounting to $22.50.

A special meeting of Alert Hook and Ladder Co. will be held at their hall Tuesday, March 16th at eight o'clock. J. O. Bozorte, Pres. Attention Hooks.

Gladstone's Irish Scheme Outlined Blair's Educational Bill Rejected in th House

Death of Ex-Governor Irwin of California

London, Mar. 15.—It is supposed, says the Standard, that Gladstone's scheme for home rule in Ireland is to establish a single chamber of parlia-ment in Dublin. This embodies the principle of the minority being repre-sented. Ireland will continue to end members to Westminster, not in proportion to population, but in proportion to amount of revenue contributed. Under this scheme there will probably be thirty Irish members in the English parliament. The police will be disarmed and will be under the control of the Dublin government. Ireland will have the use of the imperial forces for the security of life and property.

In a Nutshell.

While it is desirable that the country be freed from the presence of the Chinese as quickly as it can be done by legal and proper means, no form of intimidation or violence towards them must be permitted, and they must be protected in their persons and rights of property wherever they may choose to reside. #### SOME NORSE NOTES.

The forests of Sweden cover 66,000, 000 acres, and the exports of lumber form a large part of the trade of the kingdom. Nearly 14,000,-000 of the aggregate acreage is the property of the state. In 1882, the total exports of lumber amounted in value to 150,000,000 crowns, beides 12,000,000 crowns' value of wood pulp, a total for the lumber produc-ing industry of 127,000,000 crowns, out of a grand total in all commodi-ties of 254,000,000 crowns.

As the result of a recent agreement concerning mutual accounts between the three national banks of Scan-dinavia, "Nationalbanken" of Copen-hagen, "Norges Bank," and the Swedish "Riksbank," it is now ordinarily made unnecessary to remit gold between the three Scandinavian countries. There are probably few countries where gold is used so little as in Scandinavia. The countries have at the same time all the advan-tages of a gold standard, and of well protected, convenient notes.

The large number of Scandinavian Americans who at present visit their old countries attract a good deal of attention. It is generally recognized that they, to a remarkable degree, have bettered their condition by emigration, but several newspapers speak at the same time with less respect about their intellectual development. As examples, are mentioned the Nor-wegian-American dogmatic church quarrels and the social pictures preented by Kristofer Janson's stories. Scandinacia.

A SAN FRANCISCO OPINION.

San Francisco, Mar. 13.-- Under its commercial columns to-day, the Evening Bulletin says: An English order is reported to have been re-cently filed for 60,000 cases of Columbia river canned salmon, pack of 1886, comprising three favorite brands, at $1.10, $1.121/2 and $1.15, free on board in the river. Other sales pre-viously made bring the total to 155,-000 cases of Oregon canned salmon, pack of 1886, at an average all round of at least $1.10. As the season in are reasons for the movement. The cases short of 1884. In addition. four or five of the salmon laden ships for Europe in the last twelve months have been wrecked, with a total loss well concentrated, and spot prices vere strong at 22@26s per case.

In addition there has been a considerable movement in Sacramento river canned salmon, pack of 1886 at equally good prices, namely $1.12½ right way and a wrong way to conto $1.15 per dozen, free on board the car. Usually Sacramento river fish bring less money than Columbia river fish, but as the run is earlier men not relax their vigilance until they find this thing out and then let here than in Oregon, canners have been able to do better this year, owing to light stocks abroad, for early supply. It is claimed that there have been orders for early shipment to Australia, at a limit of $1.20. Low ourselves which will be hard to meet freights in all directions is also an when the day of reckoning shall important element in the market come between China and the United now. We submit that this shows a strong condition of the market. "With sales of 180,000 to 190,000 cases at this date, light stock in English, Australian and eastern markets, and with no carry-over stock on this coast, the outlook for the season for canners is an encouraging one. Should the present apparently bright prospects continue, shippers and can-ners will do their utmost to put up a large pack.

"We understand that the Chinese engaged in this work on the Columbia river are not to be disturbed this year, as it is difficult to fill their places. The season on the Columbia river lasts only four months, and other laborers cannot be imported with profit for such a short period."

THE "GOLD DUST."

Some Interesting Facts Concerning a Trim Little Craft.

In the year 1880 a man in Portland built a steam propeller about 45 feet long and 10 feet beam, into which he put a good boiler and an upright engine, sufficient to drive a much larger boat at a good rate of speed. She was named Gold Dust. The man built her on speculation, and sometime contain as signers a majority of the after she was sold to E. W. Spencer names of voters in that precinct at for $4,500. The new owner placed for $4,500. The new owner placed her on the route between Portland and Vancouver, in opposition to Ja-cob Kamm's line. Mr. Kamm being a wealthy man, concluded to run the little intruder off, so he made a rate on his steamers of 25 cents for the trip from Portland to Vancouver and back. This figure soon induced Spencer to withdraw the Gold Dust U. B. Scott & Co. were engaged in building the Fleetwood, to run opposition to the O. R. & N. company between Portland and Astoria. Spencer went to Mr. Scott and proposed that the Fleetwood be placed on the route from Portland to the Cascades. to run in connection with the Gold Dust, which steamer would be placed on the upper river above the Cas-cades to The Dalles. The O. R. & N. company was getting five dollars a ticket over that route, and the oppo-sition was to charge the same. Scott thought favorably of the proposition, and Spencer had the Gold Dust cut in two and hauled around the Cascades in sections. Before being placed in the waters of the upper Coumbia, she was lengthened thirty feet, which increased her size to her present dimensions; over all, 85 feet beam, 10 feet; depth of hold, 4 feet 9 inches, after which her 12x12 engines would drive her along about 11 miles

As soon as she was ready for business the opposition line was started. Concord coaches were placed at the Cascades to carry passengers from the Fleetwood, a distance of four miles to the Gold Dust, above the Cascades. From the start the oppo-sition line got a liberal share of the passengers, and owing to the limited expense of running their boats, made money very fast. Finally the O. R. & N. company commenced cutting rates, and after a while fixed the price of tickets from Portland to The Dalles at 50 cents. This was just the amount that the staging around the Cascades cost. The owners of the two little steamers showed good pluck for a while. They had agreed to stick together, and that one should not sell out without the consent of the other. The O. R. & N. company offered Scott $30,000 to draw off the route, but he asked $50,000, which was refused. The offer of $10,000 was then made to Spencer to withdraw the Gold Dust, and the offer was accepted. This knocked the opposition on that route, but the Fleetwood at once went on the Portland-Astoria route, and made things lively for the O. R. & N. company, up to the time that U. B. Scott & Co. completed the Telephone, the fastest steam-er in these northern waters. Seattle

Loss of the "Oregon."

The British steamer Oregon, the fastest and finest of the Guion line, was run into by an unknown schooner at daybreak, Sunday the 14th, off Fire Island, having nearly completed a transatlantic voyage from Liverpool to New York. The sea was smooth, the pilot boat and German steamer Fulda were close by, and the entire crew, all the passengers of the Oregon, over 800 in number were transferred from the sinking steamer and landed safely in New York that evening. The Oregon sank in twelve fathoms of water eight hours after the collision. The schooner that struck her was unknown and has entirely disappeared, She is believed to have been lost with all on board. The most of the steamer's mail and all the baggage were lost.
