

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1886

CONGRATULATORY.

PORTLAND is to be congratulated. Despite the assertion of a panic-stricken journalist of that city that danger was imminent, the residents of that pleasant inland burg appear to be enjoying ordinary safety and are enabled to pursue their usual avocations with whatever vigor the prevailing malaria in fever and ague districts usually allows unfortunate dwellers in low and swampy areas.

The report of the dual meeting held in that city last Tuesday, must indeed be a source of satisfaction to every well wisher of the general peace of the commonwealth, and is a striking exemplification of the unanimity of sentiment that pervades that community.

The mayor had called a meeting at two P. M., but so eager were some of the citizens to evince their desire for law and order that they filled the court room in which the meeting was to be held by half past one, and it is alleged that some of them wanted to begin before Judge Smith, who was holding court, was ready to adjourn. This delegation appear to have captured the works, so to speak, and after organizing by the election of a president and secretary they passed a series of resolutions which for plainness of language, directness of meaning and comprehensiveness of intent have rarely been equaled in modern history.

Here they are: WHEREAS, A petition was circulated and extensively signed by the business men of Portland urging the board of trade to call a mass meeting of the citizens to take steps to protect the peace of the city, and

WHEREAS, Said board of trade, after full consideration of the question, respectfully referred the petition to Gov. Moody, and also expressed entire confidence in the ability of the local authorities and state militia to maintain good order in any emergency, and at the same time pledging its members to stand ready to respond to any call that might be made on them at any time for the protection of the city, and the maintenance of law and order; and

WHEREAS, Nothing has occurred since said action of the board of trade to diminish confidence in the competency of the civil and police authorities to maintain order and preserve peace; therefore

Resolved, That we the citizens of Portland in mass meeting assembled, endorse the action of the board of trade in its expression of confidence in the competency of the state, county and municipal authorities to preserve the peace of the city, and that we hereby pledge them our hearty cooperation and support in maintaining order and enforcing the laws.

Resolved, That we deprecate all attempts to incite one class of the community against another as inimical to the peace and good order of the city, and the only result of which will be most damaging to its prosperity.

Resolved, That as law-abiding citizens we will exert all our personal influence to discountenance and put down lawlessness of any and all descriptions, and to that end the state, county and municipal authorities are urged to enforce all the laws and ordinances of the city in letter and spirit, irrespective of persons, occupation or nationality.

Resolved, That the presence of the Chinese in our state is an unmitigated and unmitigated evil, and we pledge ourselves to use all lawful means to rid ourselves of the same, and for the furtherance of that end, we will not give employment to any Chinaman in any capacity whatever.

In the meantime another delegation, equally determined to show their zeal for good order but unable to squeeze into the densely packed court room, adopted the clever plan of having a meeting of their own. They accordingly met in the judge's room, regularly organized and passed another series of resolutions, equally worthy of praise.

Here they are: WHEREAS, Many unlawful and riotous acts have of late been committed in this city and vicinity by persons unknown, but supposed to be chiefly incited by non-residents, by forcibly driving inoffensive and defenseless Chinese laborers from their humble homes and avocations, rendering them homeless and preventing them from working for a livelihood, thereby compelling them to become either criminals, a public charge or starve; and

WHEREAS, Threats are openly indulged in, to continue such outrages in violation of law and order, in violation of sacred treaty obligations entered into by our government, and in violation of all laws, both human and divine; and mindful of the fair fame of their city and proud of its hitherto good repute for peace, observance for law and good order, viewing with alarm the probability that riot and disorder, shame and disgrace will surely follow if the said threats be executed and such unlawful conduct be persisted in, thus tarnishing the hitherto unblemished history of our town, deem it now our sacred duty to rise in our might and declare earnestly and emphatically that we will not suffer this state of affairs to continue; we declare that it has ceased to be a question whether the Chinese are a desirable population or not, (and we believe that it is the sentiment of this community that they are not); but it has become a question whether law and order shall prevail and govern this community, or whether we will allow irresponsible persons to bring shame and disgrace, riot and anarchy upon us.

Resolved by the citizens of Portland in mass meeting assembled, That it is our duty to uphold law and order in this community and that we will sustain and aid the legal authorities in maintaining the same; that we will maintain and sustain the fundamental principles of liberty and humanity as adopted by the founders of the republic; that man has an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and that these are inherent rights of which no one can unlawfully be deprived; and that we will not allow any one to be prevented through violence or intimidation from working for a livelihood, or be driven from house or home, and we pledge our means and if necessary our lives to uphold these principles; and that we will do all in our power to bring condition participants on any and all who may be found engaged in riotous and unlawful conduct.

Resolved, That the chairman of this meeting appoint a committee of fifteen whose duty it shall be to consult with the proper authorities and adopt such lawful measures as they may deem advisable under the circumstances, to the end that peace and good order prevail.

Here we have the pleasant spectacle of a populace unanimous in their determination to put down lawlessness and to make it hot for disturbers of the peace. The only question that arises is if every one is determined to squelch lawlessness, what is the probability of there being any lawlessness? There doesn't seem to be the slightest possibility.

This is why we congratulate Portland.

HARPER'S Weekly takes occasion to announce in the current number that it will not support Blaine for president in '88. This, at least, has the merit of consistency. But 'tis premature.
