A good many newspapers are blam-ing the Oregonian for refusing to publish a letter written to it by Mr. Pennoyer of Portland. The Oregon-ian has a perfect right to refuse to publish a communication, and it is not obliged to give any reason for its refusal. And this rule applies to any and every newspaper. There exists no obligation on the part of a news-paper to give publicity to any communication except as it sees fit. Anything else would be coercion.

THE PILOT SCHOONER "GOV, MOODY."

Beside the examination of Pilot Snow, the Oregon board of pilot commissoners have other concern at present regarding the management of the pilot schooner Gov. Moody, which was built here last October, and designed for service on the bar. Through no fault of the pilots on that vessel, who are able and experienced men, the venture has not been a financial success: the pilots have little to show for a hard season of ardnous toil, and the state does not receive much revenue from the enter-The schooner is insured for $11,000, the law which created her saying that this shall come from the earnings of pilot. She has been in port now for several days, and it is stated to be the desire of the board to have the pilots give a bond in the sum of $5,000 that the insurance be kept up for two years and the vessel kept low figures, and have sent the home in proper trim for that space of time. products out of the markets. The pilots are desirons to go to sea, but as the vessel is under the control of the board they must be governed by the orders of that body. Judging by the aggregate earnings since the vessel went into service it will be some time before the state will be reimbursed for the amount expended in

The Lost "Reds."

San Francisco, March 25 .- The lumber schooner Gotama arrived today, bringing from Coos bay Thurlow and Lancet, fireman and deckband of the Beda. They are the only surviv-ors. The Beda belonged to A. M. Simpson & Brother, of this city, and was wrecked on the Oregon coast at the month of the Umpqua, just about in the locality where the new steamer Tacoma, of the Pacific Improvement company, was wrecked two years ago. Captain Hailey had command of the Beda on her down trip from Portland to Astoria, and had about 400 tons of railroad iron for the Pacific Mail company, and 100,000 feet of lumber. A small boat containing seven men, was the only one of the steamer's boats heard from. It contained only four men when washed ashore, twenty-four hours after leaving the wreck, subsequently two died. The others are now here. Captain Simpson will examine the circumstances, and the government inspectors will also inves-tigate.

Sunday School Concert.

On to-morrow evening there will be a quarterly review and Sunday school concert at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. Garner will deliver a short address on parental responsibility. The exercises will consist chiefly of a selection of choice hymns sung by the children, assisted by the Miss Nellie Flavel, organist; Mr. Geo. H. Stewart, chorister. The public is cordially invited to this interesting service. Ushers will be in attendance to seat strangers.

THE BOARD OF PILOT COMMIS-SIONERS.

Messrs. Noyes and Wilson, mem bers of the Oregon board pilot com-missioners, and G. W. Lounsberry, secretary of the board, had a meeting at Mr. Wilson's office last Thursday night. The subject under consideraion was the trial of Pilot Snow on sandry charges preferred some time ago by Capt. Reid of the W. H. Starbuck, the trial having previously been interrupted by judicial proceedings before Judge Taylor at the January term of court in this city. In the interlude there was a passage at arms between a third attorney and one of the officials which occasioned considerable hilarity on the back seats.

The evidence did not appear to substantiate the charges and as yet the proceedings have reached no decided determination. Just what will be done in the matter is as uncertain as the verdict of a jury.

A LETTER FROM MAJOR ADAMS.

St. Helens, March 23, 1886. EDITOR ASTORIAN:

Perhaps it is a wonder to you that my press has been sold at sheriff's sale. It is to me. At the time I was broken up last fall, H. L. Pittock, of the Oregonian, and a man by the name of Nickum went on my note for an amount of $130. For this paltry sum Pittock, secured as he was on the press and two head of horses, broke me up. He and Scott ap-peared to have a spite against me because I was friendly to Senator Mit-chell. Did you ever hear of anything so cold-blooded and cruel? talk about cruelty to the Chinamar but it seems this is far more cruel, for I fought at Williamsburg and Gettysburg, and thus to be robbed by a legal robbery when I am old has nearly killed me, and broken my heart. I hardly think I shall survive it. Cannot the old soldiers and citizens of your vicinity make up a purse towards helping me to buy a new press? If Oregon and W. T. will pitch in they can easily raise me a thousand dollars and put me on my feet again with a new press. I am so heart broken I know not what to do. It seems to me the most cruel, cold-blooded affair I have heard of lately. Many of the papers (particularly in Portland) seem to be so terrorized by the Oregonian they are afraid to publish their meanness, but I know you are not beholden to them and will not go back on an old soldier in dis

Your obedient servant, ENOCH G. ADAMS. Late publisher of the Columbian. Comp's Family Were in the Apple Trees

At St. George, Tucker county, the other day, some bad boys lighted a bunch of firecrackers and threw them into the street to see them go off. Mose Baker's mule came along and swallowed them before they went off. He walked forward just three steps crackers having fun. He picked out a straight piece of road and started. Jake Sturinger's colored servant met him half a mile this side of the old Macedonia church, with head and tail up, fire, smoke and melted laya issuing from his eyes and nostrils, while a blue and green stream of smoke about a rod in length, followed in the rear. Baker found the mule standing half way through the weath-erboarding of Comp Powell's house, still smoking, while Comp's wife and daughters were up in the apple trees.
