The Voracious Seals.

Where do the fur seals go to? Certainly not northwards, for it is well known that not a single seal is to be found north of the Pribilof, and the floating ice of winter prevents any congregation of amphibious life. There is then the southwards, the enormous expanse of sea south of the Aleutian chain, 5,000 miles of water between Japan and Oregon, swarming with the natural food of the seal—fish. They can have no resting-place, or it would be known; they must therefore spend all their time afloat, seeing that they sleep at sea just as comfortably as, or perhaps more so than on land. They lie on their backs, fold the fore flippers across the breast, turn the hind ones up and over, so that the tips rest on their necks and chins, thus exposing only the nose and the heels of the hind flippers above water, nothing else being seen. Here is no poetical fancy, but a prosaic fact, "rocked in the cradle of the deep."

One cannot but think of the enormous quantity of fish they must get through. The common seal, such as we see in our aquaria, has evidently a most voracious appetite, and never seems able to get as much as he can do with. Consider then the weight that must be consumed in the year by the fur seal, several times its size, roaming about under thoroughly natural conditions in its natural element, instead of being cooped up within the four walls of a tank.

As a matter of fact, the hosts of the fur seal produce a notable scarcity of fish around the Pribilof. It is perfectly hopeless to throw a line over the gunwale of a boat. You must go out at least seven or eight miles, and then you can get nothing but very small halibut. Practically, the sea for a hundred miles round is cleared of fish. It is computed that forty pounds per day is rather a starvation allowance for an adult male, twelve pounds to a female, and not much, if any, less for the fast growing pups. Allow an average of ten pounds per individual per day, and calculate what four or five millions would consume every year—only seven million tons or so. Why, all the fishing in the world is but a drop in the bucket compared with this. We must remember, too, that the seal is only one of the creatures which prey on fish. I can well believe what is asserted by many well informed people that the supply of sea fish is inexhaustible by any means known to man.

Points For Pokerites.

If you want to find out the true character of a man get him into a game of poker. He is bound to show his true character there. It does not make any difference whether he is a winner or a loser, he will show himself just as he is before he gets through. It takes a cool head and lots of nerve to keep quiet in a game of poker, watch the players and never be moved by the jokes, growls and jeers of fellow-players. There are some players who never know when they are being whipped around the bush. These fellows are never satisfied with the text of the game. If the ante is twenty-five cents they will invariably make it seventy-five cents when it comes to their turn, so as to make a jack pot. But it is seldom that they win one of these big pots. Some quiet duck, who had no hand in the job, will open the pot with two pair or better, and then one of the smart Alecks, with a small pair and an ace, or a bob-tail flush will raise the pot and attempt to steal by a reckless bluff. But he always gets a call, and in the end finds himself only the deeper in the hole. And then he swears, and thinks he is playing in terrible hard luck. A man who makes it a practice of bluffing in a small limit game, or who invariably comes in on a small pair when a jack-pot is opened, is nothing short of a chump. Put that in your pipe and smoke it as it fits a good many of you. There are some players you never can satisfy, no matter how you play; so the only way is to attend to your own business, keep your mouth shut and your eyes open, play your hand for all there is in it, see that the cards are well shuffled and cut, and when you find a chronic growler or a bluffer in the game, study his game and make him your meat.

It is estimated that there are 6,000,000 barrels of beer consumed annually in New York city.

Mrs. J. T. RICHIEY, 562 4th Avenue, Louisville, Ky., was a cold, coughed for eleven years, daily expecting death. Doctors pronounced her trouble to be neuralgia, female complaints and every other known disease. For months her left side was paralyzed. Could neither eat nor sleep. Finally the doctors gave her up. She then began to use Warner's safe cure, and November 18, 1885, she wrote "I am as well to-day as when a girl, and feel about twenty years younger. Warner's safe cure has worked a miracle in my case." Mrs. Richiey will gladly answer stamped inquiries.

Mrs. RUTH BROWN, Coldwater, Mich., if you write, enclosing a stamp, will tell you it is true that in July, 1885, she was suddenly Paralyzed, and became entirely Blind, as her doctors claimed, from an Enlargement and Inflammation of the Kidneys and Liver. She was in an unconscious state for two weeks; face and body bloated, with agonizing Pain; could not keep anything on her stomach; irregular action of the heart. Physicians pronounced her case incurable. Within a few weeks the Paralysis left her, Blindness went down, Enlargement of the Liver subsided, action of the heart became regular, and she became well in three months and has felt in good condition ever since. Warner's safe cure did this amazing work for her and she will tell you so.

The Indian prisoners occupy 127 tents on the ramparts of old Fort Marion, St Augustine, Fla.

CONSUMPTION is often only an indirect result of deranged kidneys. "Over two years ago I became a confirmed invalid. My friends all thought I was far gone in consumption. I was sure the time had well nigh come when I must leave my helpless little children motherless. With this fast dreadful staring me in the face, I resolved to try Warner's safe cure. My husband and I enclose a stamp. He'll tell you the welcome story."

There are 12,000 saloons in the state of Ohio.

No One Need Remain A Dyspeptic.
"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."
