A CALIFORNIA KICK.
Alleged Business Men Who Do Not Advertise.
[San Bernardino, Cal., Times.]
"We have been told of a "business" man in town who boasts that he spent only $4 in advertising last year and prides himself upon the fact. It is needless to say that he further saves money by not subscribing to any of our local papers, but gets his news from the east, where he gets a country paper with a patent outside for a dollar a year. We do not suppose that a man of this kind would steal his Thanksgiving turkey, but if we were his neighbor we would take good care to see that our chicken coop was locked up at night. He belongs to a certain class, and it is a class that is just as dishonest as the law will allow them to be, who profit by the public labors of others. They will buy property and allow it to lie idle in order that their neighbors may make improvements and increase its value, then will sell for the increased value that has been put upon it by their neighbors' enterprise and boast of their shrewdness. They are baronets who cling to the community and retard its progress; they reap what others have sown and regard their dishonesty as business shrewdness.

Newspapers are public property, more so than any other class of business enterprise. They work for the upholding of a community. The efforts of the publisher and the means of the proprietor are invested for this end, and they are supported by the community for its advancement. In this city for years the press has labored steadfastly to the end that we should have prosperity, that our county should settle up, that business should be increased. We have sent out thousands of sample copies for which we never had or asked remuneration, all of which was for the sole purpose of spreading intelligence about our town and valley. Articles from the local newspapers are copied far and wide over the land, and San Bernardino is known where it would never be heard of were it not for their efforts, and then we find "shrewd business men" who make their boasts that while enjoying a good trade, the result of the news paper labors, they have only spent $4 a year with them. Is such a man to be trusted? He would give short measure in dry goods, short weight in his groceries, and think that in cheating a customer he was as shrewd as in cheating the papers of what is justly their due. The newspapers have been supported in their efforts by some of our business men; they have worked to create the business which all enjoy, and yet we have here a man who boasts that he has done no part toward it while sharing in the results. Suppose the whole community were like him and the papers were all frozen out, where would his business be? A community cannot live in the nineteenth century without a newspaper, nor can the newspaper live without patronage, and God help that community which is possessed of many men who boast that their yearly outlay for printer's ink is only $4.

President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania railroad system receives a salary of $35,000 a year; president Harris, of the Northern Pacific, $25,000; president Adams of the Union Pacific, $30,000; president Strong, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, $25,000; the presidents of the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, $24,000 each.

The Infant's Inheritance.
It is no new assertion this, that we are the result of our inherited virtues and sins, plus our circumstances. We cannot stand alone, we cannot affect to ignore those from whom we have derived our origin, since they have placed upon our brow the ineffaceable seal of their own characters. Take the new born babe, lying so helpless, apparently so unconscious in its mother's arms. Surely its mind is blank and unstained; surely upon it its parents may write whatsoever they will. How mistaken the supposition! Behind the closed lids burn the fires of untold generations' weaknesses and strength never before suspected, lying dormant for a generation perhaps, are to find their full development in this mite of humanity.

Fifty years ago a sweet-faced woman had strange, fleeting visions of beauty; they flitted across the horizon of her mental conception and were gone. There was within her neither power of concentration nor of execution. Now, fifty years after, within this brain, yet lying fallow, the visions are stored, and in time those little fingers beating the air in impotent anger shall unfold to the world beauties hitherto seen only in dreams. His will be the power of expression, but the first dawning of his keen perception of the beautiful and of his longings after its embodiment had their uprisings in another soul, and were transmitted to him, combining there with elements transmitted from other sources, until that combination was reached which gave to him the power to concentrate these images and to express them.—The Current.

Murder in Arizona.
BENSON, ARIZ., March 24.—The brutal murder of Cop. Ryan, an old citizen of Arizona, is still the sensation of the hour. Some think the same hand that slew Kitchen some time ago for money, killed Ryan. The crime was discovered on the 20th inst. by Mr. Crittenden, who entered the house and not seeing Ryan, looked through the back room, used as a store, and was horrified at seeing the remains cut up and the head chopped to pieces. The weapon, a butcher's cleaver, was lying near the remains covered with blood. Two Mexican boys who were in the employ of the deceased and have fled, are suspected of the crime. Officers are on their track, which leads toward Sonora, Mexico.

Near La Center, W. T., a few days ago, a young man named Charles Anderson was struck by a falling tree, which he chopped down, and received fatal injuries. His back and three ribs were broken, and his right arm crushed to a jelly from the shoulder to the elbow. The physician says there is no hope of his getting well. His age is about 26 years, and he is well connected on Lewis river, where he has many friends.

FAULTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."
—Rev. James M. Rollins, "Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED BY always keeping Simmons' Liver Regulator in the house.
"I have found Simmons' Liver Regulator the best family medicine I ever used for anything that may happen, have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhoea, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper until morning."
—"OVID G. SPARKS, "Ex-Mayor Macon, Ga."
