The Alaska Seal Fisheries.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—The question of the seal fisheries of Alaska having been taken up by the cabinet for consideration, upon a letter lately addressed to the president by L. N. Haverly & Co., of San Francisco, the attorney-general ordered the United States marshal at Sitka to postpone the sale of the seized schooner San Diego until further inquiry could be made into the law and merits of the case as presented in behalf of the sealers and traders by the Alaska commercial company.

A crisis is pending in regard to the seal fisheries, if the government intends to protect itself from spoliation at the hands of British sealers. Four of these vessels lie at Sitka for seizure for taking seals in violation of the law. In diplomatic correspondence with England over the seizures, the state department maintained the jurisdiction of the United States to be beyond the three-mile limit, on the principle of measuring from headland to headland, a principle which it denies stoutly when applied by Canadian authorities to bar out foreign intrusion in the bay of Fundy and adjacent waters.

Secretary Bayard has pointed out to the English government that Russia asserts this principle, and dealing with foreigners on her coast has made repeated seizures of British vessels outside the three-mile limit without an effective protest from the British authorities. In diplomatic circles it is said, however, that critical relations between Great Britain and Russia are growing out of their diverse interests in the east, and it operates as a restraint upon the former power as regards these bold open sea seizures by Russian cruisers. As the argument by Secretary Bayard to defend the position of the government in its seizure of British sealers, however, is considered rather smart and effective, the upshot of the cabinet consultation is a policy of procrastination. Nothing will be done with either the Canadian or Alaskan fisheries matter for the present, except revenue cutters in Alaskan waters will be instructed to keep watch on the two sealing rookeries within conventional limits.

In Town and Hamlet
The seeds of intermittent and bilious remittent fever germinate and bear evil fruit. No community has altogether escaped it. In populous wards of large cities bad sewage causes it, and in their suburbs stagnant pools in sunken lots breed it. There is at once a remedy and a means of prevention. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is, without peradventure, the most potent antidote in existence to the malarial virus. Fortified with this incomparable, saving specific, miasmatic influences may be encountered with absolute impunity. Disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, begotten by miasm-tainted water or any other cause, succumb to the beneficent corrective named, and rheumatic, kidney and bladder troubles are surely removable by its use when it is given a persistent trial.

Those beings only are fit for solitude who, like nobody, are like nobody and are liked by nobody.

Fish Commissioner's Reports.
The reports of the California fish commission indicate some interesting results from the measures inaugurated by that body. Among the statements is the report of Livingstone Stone, in charge of the hatchery on the McCloud river, in California. He says:

"In the eleven years since the salmon-breeding station has been in operation 67,000,000 eggs have been taken, most of which have been distributed in the various states of the Union. Several million, however, have been sent to foreign countries, including Germany, France, Great Britain, Denmark, Russia, Belgium, Holland, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and the Sandwich Islands. About 15,000,000 have been hatched at the station and the young fish placed in the McCloud and other tributaries of the Sacramento river. So great have been the benefits of this restocking of the Sacramento that the statistics of the salmon fisheries on the Sacramento show that the annual salmon catch of the river has increased 5,000,000 pounds each year during the last few years."

The two hatcheries at Alpine and Northville, Mich., produced in one winter over 100,000,000 eggs of the white fish, and the fishermen of the great lakes admit that but for public fish culture half of them would have to abandon their calling. In the Potomac the annual yield of fish has been brought up by the operations of the fish commission, from 668,000 pounds in 1877, to an average of over 1,600,000 pounds in recent years.

No One Need Remain A Dyspeptic.

"I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia. For the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting it up. My life was a misery. I had had recommended Simmons Liver Regulator, of which I am now taking the second bottle, and the fact is that words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up fast; good strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in hopes of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did, and would take oath to these statements if desired."
