The beautiful poem, "There is no Death," is again on the rounds of the newspapers. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer publishes it in its Sunday edition, credited, as is generally the case, to Bulwer Lytton. The verses were written by J. L. McCreery, the local editor of the Dubuque, Iowa, Times.

Here is good advice from an exchange. It applies to every city, large and small: "Young man, get a house and then get a snug young woman to share it with you. Save your money and make the first payment on a lot. Continue to save until you have the lot paid for. Then mortgage the lot and put up a house. Keep on saving until the mortgage is lifted, and see how it will seem to have a home of your own where you can go and lock out the entire world." The young man who follows this advice will twenty years hence be in comfortable circumstances—a capitalist in fact.

On the Sacramento. A meeting of the Sacramento river packers was held Thursday afternoon for the purpose of regulating the price to be paid for fresh fish. Some canners have been in the habit, in past seasons, of buying by the pound and others by the piece. This method gave the fishermen a chance to work the packers, as the buyers at so much a fish would get only the small ones, while the purchasers by the pound received all the large fish. The packers finally decided to pay 60 cents apiece for fish on the river and 65 cents in the city. The outlook for a good run of fish is at present very gloomy.—Cal. Grocer & Canner, 9.

One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters cure diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store.

SLIGHTLY SARCASTIC.

At the meeting of the Portland board of trade on Monday evening a letter was read from Mr. G. P. Clapp of Oakland, Cal., in regard to the establishment of a rolling mill and nail factory at or near Portland. Mr. Clapp wrote as one who had knowledge of the business; he is superintendent of the Judson Manufacturing Company of Oakland, and started the mill and tack business of that company five years ago. "What I would like to do," he says, "would be to start a joint stock company and carry on a large business;" and he informs the board of trade that "a good rolling mill and nail factory can be put up for $35,000."

Mr. Clapp, it is evident, doesn't know Portland. In his ignorance or simplicity he doubtless imagined that a proposition like this would be received at Portland with favor and encouragement. He seems to have supposed that there was some enterprise and public spirit in Portland and that the board of trade of the city might be addressed as the representative and organ of both. It is plain that Mr. Clapp has something yet to learn about Portland.

The report of the proceedings of the board shows that the letter was received with a coldness bordering on incivility. "The proposition," says the report, "did not seem to be regarded as feasible by a majority of the members present. One spoke of having heard something of a similar scheme about two years ago and suggested that the communication be turned over to Mr. S. G. Reed. Another said that there was already one mill of the kind on the coast and that another was to be started"—one member said at Seattle, and another, correcting him, said at Tacoma. Finally, "the secretary was instructed to acknowledge the receipt of the communication," and the board seemed to breathe easier upon getting rid of an unpleasant subject.

If you want to make the Portland mossback unhappy, just suggest to him that some industry ought to be started here and that he ought to take an interest in it. He simply wants to sell something to somebody, to collect rents, to lend money on mortgage or out coupons from bonds. Mr. Clapp and all like him would do well to address the board of trade of some other city.

And yet, a nail factory is one of Portland's needs. Our undertakers ought at least to be supplied.—Oregonian, 13.

Settled by Stipulation. The suit of M. B. Leavitt against W. A. Thompson, manager of the Thompson opera company, for $2,500 damages sustained through a breach of contract, was settled by stipulation in Judge Maguire's court yesterday. The attorney for the plaintiff, stated that the parties to the suit had agreed upon $1,000 damages and $15 costs of court.—S. P. Bulletin, 5.

Unnecessary Misery. Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. HAMBURG FIGS were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25 cents. At all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co., proprietors, S. F.

A Big Day's Fishing. Guido Parrott and Dick Turnbull went to Washougal the other day and caught 170 trout. They were fine fish, and the eyes of the two fishermen glistened as they told of the fine sport. They were caught in a stream that empties into the Washougal river, eight miles from the point where that river flows into the Columbia.—Oregonian.

The Face. The care of the complexion has become an accomplishment that no lady of refined tastes can afford to ignore, and in leading society circles it claims as much thought as do the fashions. It is an acknowledged fact that the variations of our climate are very severe on the complexion, noticeable by a roughness and dryness of the skin, and to counteract this effect it becomes necessary to call in the aid of art. In the selection of this agent too much care cannot be exercised. It is well known to the chemist that many of the so-called "blooms," "balm," "creams," etc., contain lead and other poisonous substances, the long-continued use of which is dangerous. Wisdom's Robertine is guaranteed under a forfeiture of $1,000, to be absolutely free from poisonous substances. If you have not yet tried it, do so at once, and be one of the hundreds who pronounce it the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Wisdom's Robertine is sold at fifty cents per bottle. Sold by W. E. Dement & Co.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born.
