

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1887

A TRAVELING dramatic association is said to be drawing big houses in Kansas, playing "Ten nights in a drug store."

"THE LAMB" is the title of a new paper started in Wall street, New York. It is to be hoped that there is no wool above the editorial eye.

COMMERCIAL greed is to blame for some of the recent terrible disasters to shipping in the vicinity of Cape Flattery. Take, for instance, the St. Stephen. She was only 1,392 tons register, and yet she had a cargo of 2,100 tons of coal. Such action on the part of owners of vessels is criminal.

Complaint From a Lady.
EDITOR ASTORIAN:
I wish to briefly consider some effects of whisky drinking in our city, and will endeavor to be practical in my suggestions or comments. I will not ask why, over sixty saloons pollute the moral atmosphere of our city, offend the nostrils and outrage the finer sensibilities of the passer by on the most respectable blocks of our most fashionable streets; nor will I call on you to estimate the wretchedness, sin and poverty which proceed therefrom. As I have said, my object is not to call your attention to these more commonly discussed phases of the liquor question, but to ask, simply, since the saloon is here and the instincts of free-born Americans method seem to bid it remain—why cannot the drunkards be kept off the principal streets in the course of their uncertain wanderings?

While shopping Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, (to be very explicit) in walking the blocks in which are the bank, the I. X. L. store and Beck & Sons, your correspondent was obliged to cross and recross the street three times in order to avoid five reeling men for whom the walk was much too narrow. While pausing a moment to recover my bearings, a friend passed and informed me that on the next street one of still two more drunken men had reeled against her little boy and then staggered on after stammering some maudlin excuses. Were these things not of frequent occurrence on our streets, this letter would never have been penned.

Your correspondent is not a timid person, nor yet one troubled with nerves; yet, to me, repeated happenings of a like nature surround even my shopping expeditions with terrors, which are not their inevitable accompaniments in other Oregon towns. When one hears the threatenings and quarrels of these men, and considers that many of them are armed, it would seem that considerations of public safety, if not public decency, would suggest their incarceration in the city jail. Our city receives a revenue from the liquor traffic and should not hesitate to expend the money necessary to employ a force of policemen equal to the work of clearing our principal streets, at least, of these unfortunate victims of drink.

CORRESPONDENT.

THE TERRIBLE NORTH COAST.

The Columbia River Conspicuous by Its Absence

From the Following Dreadful List of Marine Disasters.

Last Fall the Sound press started in with no cause at all to talk about "the terrible Columbia bar." The articles in the Tacoma Ledger and other papers published on the Sound were sent broadcast through the east. That they were lies, goes without saying, but they traveled fast and far. There was not an atom of just criticism in a line of all that appeared there.

Of late the whole pack has been mum. Good reason. Here are the facts: During 1886, 269 vessels, for a total of 2,329, crossed the Columbia bar in safety. This, out of a total of 299 vessels foreign. That is, all the fleet that sailed for or from the Columbia last year crossed the bar safely. There was one vessel that sailed from New York—the Wm. H. Besse—and was lost entering this river. Her captain undertook to save a pilot fee, play smart Aleck and dodge the pilots. He dodged them, and lost his ship, and served him right. It was about this one that the Sound press raised all the fuss, and despite the splendid record of the Columbia bar, the craft, sail and steam, daily crossing, the Ledger resorted to most shameless mendacity in big scare heads chronicling imaginary disasters, and "loss of life" on the bar.

Scan it carefully for any note of the Columbia bar. There is none, though its commerce is extensive. But note "Cape Flattery" and its dismal record.

And the above is only recent. There is no mention there of the bark Weyfoot, from Tacoma, loaded with lumber and salmon, lost November 12th, 1886; of the collier Bernard Castle, lost nine days after; of the steamer Phantom, wrecked November 24th; of the American ship Belvidere, lost December 14th; of—but why prolong the list of casualties on that terrible northern coast!

Their Business Booming.
Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

An Opportunity.
Dr. Harmon has left some spectacles, Brazilian Pebbles and optical goods with Wm. Armbruster, where they can be bought. This is a good opportunity for those who were unable to buy from him before his departure.

Chinese Certificates.

According to accounts in the San Francisco papers there has been an over issue of certificates to departing Chinese at Port Townsend. Alleged discrepancy exists between the number of certificates that should be issued and the number that really are out. Special agent Beecher is now making up a detailed report of all the certificates issued to returning Chinese. He has written to Mr. Hobson, collector of the port, asking for copies of the lists of Chinamen who got certificates from Astoria, and copies of the certificates that were not cancelled.

This will be a nice job. Of the 2,400 Chinese who got tickets of privilege to return here, over 1,800 are still uncancelled. Of course each one of these 1,800 is of considerable marketable value in China, and it is to prevent so far as possible fraud or collusion, that duplicates of the lists are to be furnished. The work will occupy Messrs. Higgins and Ferguson the rest of the month.

Unnecessary Misery.
Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. HAMBURG FIGS were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25 cents. At all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co., proprietors, S. F.
