SLAVES IN GEORGIA.

A. McD. Wilson, a wholesale merchant of this city, does business in the remotest parts of Georgia and with a great many old-time people. He has a great many customers in Gilmer county, a small but very wealthy county in northern Georgia, almost on the North Carolina line. This county is not well developed, there being few towns, and the farmers are in every instance large planters, raising everything they need at home, very much as they did before the war. They have their superintendents, as in olden times, and in a great many instances work the same slaves that they did before the war—servants that have ministered to the wants of the family for many years back. The farmers of this section do not go about much, but stay at home and look after the large interests they have there.

The negroes have never been used to anything different to what they get, passing from slavery into freedom without scarcely being aware of the change. They have known their masters all their lives, and a feeling of dependence has been inculcated in them that makes them loth to leave the old plantation and start life on their own responsibility. They get all they want to eat and drink and enough clothes for the exigencies of the climate, which is very mild, and it is not to be wondered at that they still consider themselves the property of their masters.

It was a merchant of one of the cross-roads stores of Gilmer that a few days ago sent to Mr. Wilson, to whom he owed a small amount, a note offering to give among other forms of security a mortgage "one negro man." This mortgage was tendered to the cross-roads merchant by one of the farmers of that county to secure a debt due the grocer, and the grocer indorsed the note and sent it to Mr. Wilson, together with the mortgage, in payment of the amount due Mr. Wilson. The mortgage was made in perfect security. The unhappy negro was accurately described. In the description his name was given as Joe Addison, and his age is put at sixty-five years. The description closes with these words: "He came to me by my father, and has been my property for twenty years." The mortgage bears the date of July 15, 1855. The maker of the mortgage evidently lingers under the impression that the negro is still his slave, and that he has the right to buy a loan on his head as he did before the sixties, and what is still more singular, the merchant to whom the mortgage was given did not see anything wrong in the security offered. Mr. Wilson returned the note, together with the mortgage, saying that he preferred some more tangible security.—Atlanta, Ga., special.

A REMEDY FOR CHILLS AND FEVER.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Dec. 16, 1885.
Four years ago I contracted a hard cold that settled on my lungs. I had a severe chill, followed by high fever, raging headache, pain on my left side over the lung, and every time a fit of coughing came on, which was every few minutes, it was terrible to bear the pain. I thought it meant an attack of pneumonia, as I went through a two-month siege of that disease, and it came on just the same way. As it was night I thought I would wait until morning before sending for a doctor. Fortunately a half-box of ALLCOCK'S POKERS PLASTER was found in the possession of a friend, who boarded with us. One of these was put on my throat; two on my chest, and one on my back over the left shoulder blade. I then had a hot foot bath. After again getting into bed, it seemed but a few minutes when all my symptoms were relieved; the skin became quickly moist; I coughed only at intervals, and then with very little effort, and in about an hour I was in a sound sleep, from which I did not awake until morning. I resumed business in two days.

A Very Strict Ruling.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—A general principle of long standing and considerable importance in the administration of public land matters is reaffirmed by acting secretary Muldrow in his ruling on the case of James Young's homestead entry in Salt Lake City. Its purport is that no amount of cultivation and improvement, and no showing of good faith in other respects, can atone for lack of actual residence on land sought to be secured, and that even actual residence does not give validity to a claim, except in so far as it shows an intention to make such residence permanent beyond the acquirement of title. Young had cultivated fifty acres of his claim, constructed irrigating ditches and built a house, in which he personally lived. His improvements are valued at from $1,000 to $1,200. His family remained upon the place owned by him, half a mile distant, and it was evidence that he designed to abandon his claim as a place of residence as soon as he had made his title secure. A contest was made by VanNostrum, a professional contestant, who purposed gaining some preference rights and selling them out. The local officers and the commissioners decided for Young and against VanNostrum. The acting secretary orders a modification of this decision. He says, while VanNostrum cannot acquire any rights in the matter, the government is not stopped from action upon information it has gained, and he directs cancellation of Young's claim.

Decrease of the Salmon Catch.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—The result of not putting young fish into the Sacramento river has been most disastrous to the salmon canning interest in the lower river, the annual catch having dwindled from over 200,000 cases of four dozen one pound cans each in 1882 to about 36,000 cases in 1886. In addition to the decrease of canning there was also a reduced amount of salmon salted, smoked or used in a fresh state. The value of the canned salmon taken in the Sacramento in 1882 was over $900,000, and the industry, outside of the operatives in canneries, employed 1,500 boats and 4,000 fishermen. The catch of salmon has now dwindled to about one-sixth its former numbers, and the few canning firms still operating are about to abandon the business in which they are losers.

Hotspur Remarks.

"The sun doth nourish Agues," therefore in the Summer months it is only a measure of common prudence to guard against malarial diseases, intermittent fevers, agues and bilious attacks. "Many cases of Fever and Ague, Dumb Ague and Congestive Chills were promptly arrested and entirely banished by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator. You don't say half enough in regard to the efficacy of that valuable medicine. Believe me when I say I was a sufferer for years and only found relief by its use."—ROBERT J. WEEKS, Batavia, Kane Co., Ill.

Capt. Ben Lewis, who has been for a long time in Simpson Bros' employ, will have charge of the new steamer Signal, lately launched at North Bend. The Signal will carry 560,000 feet of lumber, and will draw when loaded fifteen feet. She will be ready for sea next week.

Old and reliable Medicines are the best to depend upon. Acker's Blood Elixir has been prescribed for years for all Impurities of the Blood. In every form of Scrofulous, Syphilitic or Mercurial Diseases it is invaluable. For Rheumatism, has no equal.

J. W. Conn.
Nearly two centuries and a half ago a Herr Rahmsauer arrived in North Carolina. Some of his descendants are still living near Fort Worth in Texas. "I found," writes a gentleman who had occasion to look them up, "that the family named had undergone the following changes: Ramsauer, Ramsaur, Ramsir, Ramsir, Sirram, Ram, Sheep, Lamb."

The reason Why Acker's Blood Elixir is warranted, is because it is the best Blood Preparation known. It will positively cure all Blood Diseases, purifies the whole system, and thoroughly builds up the constitution. Remember, we guarantee it.
J. W. Conn.
