Unnecessary Misery.

Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. A large number of the gentlemen accepted the invitation, and accom-panied by some of the citizens, start-ed at two o'clock. Arrived at the ed at two o'clock. Arrived at the new government wharf which has just been completed, and which at present affords a depth of thirty feet, Mr. W. T. Burney, of Oregon City, Capt. Powell, Mayor Trullinger, and one or two others, went ashore to see the jetty; Gov. Pennoyer, Gov. Semple, P. O'Keane, W. H. Brewster, Jas. the government has about seven-ty-five men at work on the jetty and thereabouts. The jetty has been ex-tended about 1,090 feet during the season; the railroad now extends a distance of 4,390 feet from the wharf to its extreme northwestern wharf to its extreme northwestern extremity. The stone is quarried at Tongue Point, loaded on barges float-ed down to the wharf, and there loaded in an aggravatingly slow manner on the cars and run down and dumped in place on fascines of brush. At the present rate of work the jetty will be completed about 2011. It looks ridiculous to see piece after piece of rock loaded on a platform and when the platform is finally full, hauled up from the barge and swung over to the car, till that is full, and then another car, and so till there is enough to justify the locomotive making a trip to the place of final

If a few carloads a day could be dumped, and the jetty piles driven at a little more rapid rate, it might be that the jetty could be finished some time this century. As it is there is little apparent probability of the work approximating completion in our day and generation.

This is how it looks to the writer:
The gentlemen in charge of the work are doing all they can, as much as any others could, and prob-ably more than the most of officials ably more than the most of officials would do, under the circumstances, but their hands are tied. They must do the best possible under existing conditions. More expedition is needed, more men, more push. That requires money; there are several hundred million dollars surplus in the treasury, but very little of it applicable to the Columbia jetty. Captain Powell and his subordinates had based their plans for this summer's work on the apparent probability of an appropriation; there being no ap-

Mr. P. G. Eastwick is getting in place a very fine pile-driver. It is a complicated piece of machinery, rests on a double track, has a large reel for the wire rope, and is so admirably constructed that when in a state of working completion can grasp the piles, hold them in place and drive them at a rapid rate in the most firmly compacted sands. The new driver is being put together as fast possible and by the 15th will be ready for work.

And all Skin and Scalp Dis. eases Speedily Gured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be fear years of age on the 23th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physican to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadly getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half a bottle of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP.

A Word About Catarrh.

A Word About Catarrh.

'It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissnes of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dailing the so-so of hearing, tranmelling the bower of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refin of pleasures of taste, insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous liming and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. SANFORD's RADICALCURR, by Inhabition and by Internal administration, has never falled; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."
