A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Graphic Account of a Most Wonderful Occurrence.

(Kingston Correspondence Boston Globe.)
An event has taken place in this city so remarkable in its nature that I venture to describe it in full. The principal in the affair is Mr. Jere Smith, son of Mr. Cornelius B. Smith, of the State Insurance Department at Albany, who is well known, stands very high and is in every way reliable. I have had a long and most interesting interview with him, which I transcribed and send you in his own words, trusting it may prove valuable to your readers:

"During last year," he said, "I could not understand what was the trouble with me. I had always felt strong and hearty, but I gradually became aware that something was undermining me. I first began to feel drowsy and then in a day or two I would be unnaturally wide awake. Strange pains would come in different parts of my body. My head did not ache much but it usually felt heavy. I was sometimes hungry and sometimes I hated food, while my sleep was very irregular. I could not understand what it meant but thought it might pass away after a time; but it did not. I don't see how I could have been so blind, but I suppose I was like most people who are troubled in the same way, and thought it nothing dangerous. After a while I noticed a peculiar color and odor about the fluids I was passing; that they were dark at times and very light at others. Finally I began to gain flesh, but I knew it was unnatural and that I was bloating. This frightened me, and I consulted physicians, who were very kind in their attentions, but did not help me in the least. My father then went with me to New York, and we consulted the eminent Dr. Keyes, who treated me for several weeks. At that time my condition was horrible. I was bloated from head to foot, it was almost impossible to breathe, and I could not sleep. In several places on my body the skin burst open, so great was the pressure from within. The agony I endured was indescribable. Then the doctor told me my case was hopeless, that I had Bright's disease in its worst form, and that I had only a few days to live."

"Fortunately I had a friend who accompanied me and would not see me die without a struggle. He did not urge, he insisted on my making one more effort, and I did so. I noticed an improvement at once; in four days the swelling greatly decreased and the pain wholly ceased. I continued to improve, and am a well man to-day, and owe my life to the marvelous effects of that wonderful preparation, Hunt's Remedy. I believe this is the greatest medicine that was ever discovered by man, and I only wish the whole world might know what it has done for me."

"I know there are thousands of people troubled as I was and in just as great danger, but they do not realize it. Bright's disease is the most deceptive, the most horrible malady the world has ever known. It has no settled symptoms, but assumes every imaginable form. I had no idea it was Bright's disease that was undermining me until I began to bloat, and now that I am well and enjoying life, I feel like telling everybody about my miraculous escape. Is it any wonder this town is overrun with my resurrection?"

"Such is the account of probably as narrow an escape from death as was ever known. The first symptoms which Mr. Smith felt were such as many others feel but do not consider worth noticing. It's plain, however, that the early indications of a dangerous disease cannot be trifled with, but must be met promptly, and by such a remedy as has been proven to be indeed a friend in time of need."
—WINTHROP.

CATHLAMET ITEMS.

August 5.

Commissioners court this week. Casey and Setterland and Kent in attendance.

Lots of legal business, criminal and civil.

Messrs. Fulton and Winton, of your city, were in town Tuesday. A wedding at Judge Graham's Saturday evening. Capt. Frank Turner and Mrs. Lennie Colvin, the happy pair.

Mr. Wm. Melutyre and family were called to Portland by the sad news of the death of their mother. All sympathize with them in their sad bereavement.

J. F. Kimball has a new buggy. Dick McGrath has his house full of boarders. Well, Dick deserves them, for he sets a good table.

Mr. Sheppard is doing a fair business, both in his store and boarding house; in fact, everything is moving ahead slowly. The only thing needed is a few good tenant houses.

Fishing is very dull at present, but the loggers are doing well.

Only about half a crop of hay this harvest, but what there is will bring a good price. J. J. Foster sold twenty tons on the bank of the Elohemon for $25 per ton.

The sheriff has reached home from Gray's river.

C. C. Sheppard, of Skamokawa, was in town Monday.

VERITAS.

Veterans Who Had Met Before.

Paul H. Rives, a private with one arm, belonging to the Twenty-third North Carolina Regiment, had stopped over here to see the place at which he had lost his arm. J. F. Jones, of the Twelfth Massachusetts, had come here to see and be present at the reunion. Jones had his left cheek bone torn away by a shot at the Devil's Den, and he pointed to where he had lain among the rocks and fired. While doing this Rives approached, and, standing out among the trees, remarked, in a casual way, that he had had his arm badly shattered at this place, and had come to see it. "I lost my arm here," said he of North Carolina. "I got this there," said the man from Massachusetts, pointing to his cheek, and the conversation became general. "My God! you don't mean to say," said the North Carolinian, "that you are the man who lay behind that rock yonder?" "I do," said Jones. "Then you are the identical man I shot; I saw you fall." "And you are the fellow who stood behind that tree there, are you? Well, I'll only say that I'm the identical individual who made you lose that arm," said Jones. Both men looked at each other in astonishment. Rives at Jones' face, and Jones' at Rives' arm. "Do my eyes deceive me?" cried Jones. "They do not, nor do mine deceive me; you are the man." Let us shake," said the man from Massachusetts, and immediately there was a grasping of hands and mutual apologies for the harm each one had done to the other.—Gettysburg Letter.

An instance of trout in the water being struck and killed by lightning was witnessed at the South Side club during one of the severe storms early this week. The thunderbolt struck one of the breeding ponds and killed fourteen fine trout. This is a very rare occurrence, and some of the oldest of this city's anglers say they have never heard of anything like it before.—N. Y. Mail and Express, July 23.

A student at Vanderbilt university, in Tennessee, has just beat the world's record in high kicking, having succeeded in hitting a mark at the unprecedented height of nine feet three and one-half inches. And yet some people believe a college training isn't a help to a young man.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The politician who places himself in the hands of his friends is apt to realize afterward that he ought to have sewed up his pockets first.—Somerville Journal.

The California orange crop this year was 900,000 boxes.

The pope, conversing with an American archbishop, said: "Dr. McGlynn lost his best opportunity by not coming to Rome while Cardinal Gibbons was here. He would have seen that the church, by not condemning the Knights of Labor, was the supporter of the many against the feudal system, whether the feudality is represented by slavery, territorial right or modern capital."

The best and most potent anti-poverty society that we know anything about is the one formed by the close alliance of health, industry and temperance. That association knocks poverty out every time.—Marlborough, Massachusetts, Times.

The new pilot boat for the Columbia river, which is being built at Charles White's ship yard, North Beach, will be launched on the 13th inst. She is highly spoken of by experts as a model of strength and seaworthiness.—S. F. Bulletin, 2.

The farmers of New York are to hold a convention at Syracuse on August 25th to consider what measures can be taken to cause personal property to bear a fair share of taxation. They are not yet disciples of Henry George.

SPINAL WEAKNESS AND LUNG TROUBLES.

56 PRINCE STREET, NEW YORK, March 25, 1884.
Having been troubled with pains in back and chest during the last winter I was compelled to remain at home unable to attend to business, until I was advised by a friend to try one of ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER. After applying one to my chest and one to my back, in three hours I found relief which I had not got in over three months. I cheerfully recommend them to persons having spinal weakness and lung troubles.

J. W. Conn.

It is said that small pox is so prevalent in Cuba that no prudent man will smoke a Havana cigar until it has been vaccinated.

The reason Why Acker's Elixir is warranted, is because it is the best Blood Preparation known. It will positively cure all Blood Diseases, purifies the whole system, and thoroughly builds up the constitution. Remember, we guarantee it.
J. W. Conn.

It is estimated that the corn crop in Kansas this year will be about two hundred and fifty million bushels.

The Skin Can be Kept Soft, White, and free from taint of preparation by adding Darby's Prophylactic Fluid to the water used in bathing. It removes all offensive smell from the feet or any part of the body. Used as a tooth-wash it will harden the gums, preserve the teeth, cure tooth-ache and make the breath pure and sweet. Cures chafing and in Eruptions, Piles, Scald Feet, Corns, etc.
