

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON.
SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1887

The Gen. Miles goes to Tillamook this morning.

The run of salmon still continues. They are "July fish," a little delayed.

The O. R. & N. Co. has announced a rate of 60 cents a hundred on lumber to Chicago.

Large quantities of cannery supplies are on the O. R. & N. dock, billed to outside ports.

The ten round glove contest between Ward and Johnson will be at Liberty Hall, at eight o'clock this evening.

It appears that the new boat announced to be built by the O. R. & N. Co., and run between here and Portland, is to be the Wide West, rebuilt on a new hull, two feet less beam and one foot less depth.

There was an attempt made to hold a council meeting last evening, to pass an ordinance to put in a terra cotta sewer on the west side of Benton street, but only two of the seven city fathers materialized. There will be another effort this evening.

The Grace church excursion and picnic yesterday was a success: the clouds were unpropitious in the morning, but the party concluded to take chances and were favored with a beautiful day. There was a large number, and all who went had a delightful day, going up the Klaskanine and returning about six P. M.

Engineer Habersham goes down toward the bar on the Robt. T. Lincoln this morning. His intention is to get up a map on which shall be shown the location of every fish trap in the river. He goes first to Fort Stevens, from there to Baker's bay, thence to Barney's point, and will furnish major W. A. Jones with an official diagram of the location of the traps.

In one of the hostile encounters at Miller's Sands, about two weeks ago, Jno. Hooker received a rifle ball in his left leg, shattering it and rendering amputation necessary. He refused for some time to allow the operation to be performed, but finally, realizing its necessity, he reluctantly gave his consent. Dr. J. A. Fulton cut it off at the knee last Thursday.

In the justice court yesterday in the case where Capt. Glover and mate Hodgkins, of the Merona, were arraigned for thumping sailor Richardson, the captain was acquitted on the ground that he had a right to forcibly eject intruders, but the mate was fined $25 for being too handy with his fists. Next time he will let the captain do the fighting and umpire the game.

The Yarkand, loading for Liverpool at the upper end of the O. R. & N. dock, has 28,000 cases salmon aboard, and will take about 4,000 more; she will also load 900 or 1,000 tons wheat. The Villalta is receiving salmon for London. The Glenavon, for Liverpool, had 27,549 cases salmon yesterday morning and will take about 450 tons of wheat and flour. All three vessels will get away next week.

The ship Tillie E. Starbuck, well known here, met with an accident at Calcutta. While proceeding up the Hoogly she grounded west of the upper Bengal's buoy. She lost both her masts and all her chain at the Sandhead, through a chain-stopper giving way, which caused one of the cables to run out and break. As there was a strong tide running at the time, extra strain was put on the other cable, which also ran out and broke, tearing up the deck.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Bishop Morris is in the city. Miss Lottie Goodell has returned to the city.

Prof. Bettinger and wife, of Portland, are in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Kueker left on the Columbia for their home in Merced, Calif.

Rev. J. Gantenbein will hold divine service in the German language at the Baptist church at 1:30 p. m. to-morrow.

Gov. Semple, of Washington territory, is expected down to-day to take a look at sundry Washington territory canneries.

Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

A special meeting of the Astoria chamber of commerce was held at their new rooms last Thursday. A communication from the Portland board of trade was read and filed: the bill of Megler & Wright for board of delegates was ordered paid: C. L. Parker, J. Bergman and S. S. Gordon were elected members: a resolution tendering the thanks of the chamber to the I. S. N. Co. for courtesies extended was adopted: a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. Fulton, Parker and Thompson, was appointed to further interest in the chamber, its meetings, etc., and the meeting adjourned to Thursday, the 18th inst., at eight p. m.

DEPTHS OF DEPRAVITY.

Belief That the Chatsworth Bridge Was Fired by Wreckers.

CHATS WORTH, Ill., Aug. 12.—Sensational features have developed this morning as to the cause of the Chatsworth railroad wreck last Wednesday night. Rumors were afloat last night that it was due to robbers who fired the bridge, but little credit was given them. This morning new facts, apparently showing the catastrophe to be the work of an organized band of robbers, have come to light, and the company find them worthy of serious investigation. Superintendent Armstrong said to an associated press reporter that the more he investigated the more it appeared to him that the bridge had been set on fire. He had observed many thieves at work and had stopped them while despoiling the wreck of property, and in many instances the robbing of the dead and dying being brought to his attention. The extension had been extensively advertised and the time it would pass over the bridge known. Citizens say that a gang of suspicious fellows had been loitering around Chatsworth for some days. Many of those were found early at the wreck, paying more attention to relieving the dead bodies of valuables than to caring for them. Train-men and passengers had frequent contentions with vandals. In one instance, Superintendent Armstrong found a well known thief in the depot room where property taken from the wreck had been stored. President Leonard says so far as the road officials could estimate there were about eighty killed and one hundred seriously wounded. There are many who were slightly injured of whom no record has been obtained. President Leonard said as near as could be ascertained the train was making about thirty miles an hour at the time of the accident; which was not an excessive rate of speed as the track was in good condition.

THE AGED BOODLER.

New York, Aug. 12.—The condition of Jacob Sharpe this morning was worse than at any time since his incarceration in Ludlow street jail. When he awoke to-day he was unable to move and lay on his bed like one in a trance. His morning could be heard all through the vast prison.

MUST DIE.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The appeal to the higher court of Franzini, the condemned murderer of Mme. Roganait, has been rejected.

A MURDER MYSTERY.

RALPHIGH, N. C.—At Asheville a great sensation has been created in regard to a confession made by a convict in the penitentiary. The confession relates to the killing of Prof. Monroe Madison, at Pigeon River, on March 31 of last year. Prof. Madison had been teaching school in Haywood county, and came to Pigeon River for some real estate. He was seen that afternoon walking alone along the railroad track. A few moments after a pistol shot was heard some fifty yards from the road. This report was followed by cries of murder, which attracted the attention of the inmates of the nearest house, some 150 yards away. Several parties hurried to the scene and found Madison lying with a bullet hole in his breast and his money gone. He said he had been shot and robbed by a strange man. His watch was found near him. He was removed to a house near by, where in a few days he died. No trace of such a man as the dying school teacher described as his assailant could be found, after diligent search. The circumstances of his shooting and the absence of any proof of the assault on Madison went far toward inclining many to the opinion that it was a case of suicide. This opinion was, however, not shared by those who heard the statement of the dying man, who, staring death in the face, said that he was dying at the hands of a highwayman and a murderer. W. H. Deaver, chief of the detective agency, has received letters in regard to a confession by C. C. Massey, sent to the penitentiary for twenty-five years for house burning. A fellow convict confessed to him and others that he killed Prof. Madison. This confession is now receiving the closest scrutiny of the detectives. Madison was a cousin of the unfortunate Fanny Lillian Madison, whose tragic ending is still fresh in the memory of the public. He was also a remote kinsman of president James Madison.

HOOKED-NOSED SALMON.

Where Bears Esteem Them a Luxury.

[San Francisco Examiner.]

The Carbon river is a wild, turbid stream, fed by the great glaciers at the base of Mount Rainier. It tears down through a region indescribably rugged and picturesque, and as it rushes onward toward Puget sound other streams join it until it is a broad and sweeping affluent. Almost all the way along this river fish and wild animals of many sorts are to be found in abundance. Henry Thorndyke, of Carbonado, is at a down town hotel.

"Did you ever hear," said he yesterday to an Examiner man, "how the bears fish for salmon on the Carbon river? They do, for a fact. I live on the margin of the river, and I pledge you my word that in the Bottomless canyon, twelve miles from my home, I have seen as many as three bears within the scope of a mile sitting at the river's brink end fishing as industriously as any man you ever saw. Others in the same vicinity have seen many of them oftentimes. They are black bears, and live in the thick woods along the stream.

"The fish they particularly like are the hooked-nosed salmon, a large fish, not well liked by most persons on account of their age. The fish get up in the Carbon river, and being unmolested by men, stay there. The noses of the old ones are long and hooked. The bears sit on the side of the stream, watch their chance, and swipe them up as they come along. There's a great many in the river, and being largely unmolested they are pretty tame. The bears often rake out fish there that are a couple of feet or more long. Well, so many of these hooked-nosed salmon bears eat that people do not like the bear meat. It is so fishy. The result is that it is an almighty country for bears, too. There are lots of them, and they are as fat as butter. From one end of the Carbon river to the other bears in profusion are to be found.

"Myself and Tim Worthington, of Wilkeson, killed last January, in a three days' hunt, nine bears, and we could have killed a great many more if we had wanted to. The bear meat is not timaried up with the taste and smell of fish so much in January as at other times of the year. But we didn't save all the meat. It would have been far too much trouble to get it down. Three or four hunters left for up there the following month, and they got somewhere about twenty bears before they stopped. Like us, they were principally after the skins. They went far up in the snow, only a short distance from the glaciers, and had to bring down their meat and skins on toboggans.

"They had no accidents, but they ran several narrow risks. It is rather dangerous hunting for bear in that region. The country is so new and wild that men are rarely seen, and the bears have it all their own way, except where they collide with other wild animals, and when they do it is not often they get left. There are a few grizzlies there, with plenty of mountain lion and smaller game."

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

A Sudden Storm.

During the hour previous to one o'clock yesterday morning vivid lightning flashed from the northwest followed by loud thunder. About half past one came most glaring flashes and two terrific peals, followed by a shower. Thunder and lightning are unusual here and such an exhibition of Heaven's artillery as that of yesterday morning is an extremely rare occurrence in these parts.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affection.

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 24th inst. In May, 1886, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger and blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days more, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the CUTICURA RESOLVENT. SKIN DISEASE CURED.

Mr. Frank McClosky says that your CUTICURA cured his boy of a skin disease after several doctors had failed to help the boy. He spent over one hundred dollars with other doctors. CUTICURA cured him. J. E. TIFFANY, Pleasant Mount, Pa.

A Word About Catarrh.

It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, landing the breath, and killing the rest of the pleasures of taste, insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviations are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE by Inhalation and by Internal Administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions, price $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

An Intelligent Crab.

"Would you believe it," she gurgled, "while I was bathing in the sea the other morning a nasty crab fastened itself on my toe."

"Quite an intelligent crab, I should think," her lover replied.

"Because it knew how to catch on to a nice thing."

Then she blushed, and when he attempted to take a kiss she made scarcely any resistance.
