WHAT DOES ENGLAND MEAN.

The fisheries question on the Atlantic coast has assumed a new aspect. It is reported now that the British war ships in North American waters are to take a hand in settling the trouble, and the announcement has caused general surprise on all sides, as this is the first time the British authorities have interfered. Heretofore the trouble has been entirely between the United States and the dominion of Canada; but now it is said that the British men-of-war will not only act as patrols to keep American fishermen outside the forbidden waters, but will also make seizures when they cross the line. It is supposed that but three war ships, the Bellerophon, the Canada and the Pythias, will engage in this service for the present, but if it should be deemed advisable others can be ordered into those waters from Newfoundland and Bermuda at a few days' notice.

It is hardly credible that the Salisbury government desires war with the United States over so paltry a matter as catching a few fish within three miles of the shore of Nova Scotia, more especially when Canada has shown herself able to cope with the question and to enforce her construction of the law by seizures of vessels and confiscation of fishing appliances. The tory ministry cannot believe that matters have reached such a pass that Canada is in imminent danger from the United States, or in actual support from the imperial navy. Most likely this naval demonstration is intended rather for show than for actual use, and in the hope of compelling the United States to take some definite action looking toward an adjustment of the fisheries question.

Why secretary Bayard does not move in this matter no one seems to know. Beyond question the instructions given by Admiral Luce a few days ago, and for which he was reprimanded by secretary Whitney, were strictly in accordance with the treaty of 1818, the only one now in force upon the subject. That treaty provides that American fishermen shall be permitted to enter Canadian bays and harbors for the purpose of shelter, and of repairing damages, of purchasing wood and of obtaining water, and for no other purpose whatever. Admiral Luce limited his instructions in accordance with that language, whereupon secretary Whitney reproved him, and yet he could have done nothing else.

The whole difficulty arises from the supineness of the administration. It is admitted on all hands that the treaty of 1818 is inequitable, as far as the United States is concerned, and that there is urgent need of negotiation with Canada and Great Britain for a new one, yet Bayard does nothing at all. The next thing will probably be the seizure of American vessels by the British fleet under Admiral Lyons, and then we shall be forced either to fight or eat humble pie, neither of which the United States is anxious to do. Now is the time to settle all this trouble, before anything like an overt act of hostility has been committed; and unless president Cleveland and his administration take some steps in the matter, they will find the United States involved in a perfectly useless war with Great Britain, over a subject trivial in itself and which might have been settled without any difficulty.

A Perilous Ride.

While a night train of the Philadelphia & Erie railroad was running along at the rate of thirty miles an hour, the engineer noticed something white fluttering on his cowcatcher. He could not make out what it was from his cab, and he climbed out and walked along the guard rail to the stakestack. Peering over and looking down on the blanching face of a young woman turned upward, with a look of terror in her eyes, while she grasped the bars of the cowcatcher to hold herself on her perilous perch. She was in her night clothes. The engineer hastened back to his cab and reversed his engine. When it had come to a standstill he hurried out to the aid of the mysterious passenger he had on ahead. The pilot bars, and it was some time before the young woman recovered sufficiently to give an account of herself. She then said that her name was Susan Cooley, the daughter of a well known resident of Ansonia. She is a somnambulist, and she must have got up in her sleep, walked down to the railroad, and in some way climbed upon the cowcatcher unobserved while the train was standing at the station. The first she knew was when she was awakened by the locomotive whistling. It was then sometime before she realized where she was, and when the knowledge of her situation came to her she became paralyzed with fright, and seized the pilot mechanically. Her escape from a terrible death was simply miraculous.

A quantitative analysis of a "hair renewer" extensively sold throughout the United States shows that it was made of 60 grains of sulphur, a little glycerine and water, with a drop or two of perfume. The sulphur gradually combines with the lead, forming a brown or black sulphide of lead, which slowly darkens the hair—slow in action, that the purchaser may persist in its use. Cost, 3 1/2c per bottle; retail price, $1.—American Grocer.

Painless Regulation.
It is no longer a question of doubt—although the contrary was once believed—that medicines which produce violent effects are unsuited to other than desperate emergencies. In other words, that super-tot remedies are calculated to weaken and injure the system rather than reform its irregularities. Among medicines of debilitating effect are cathartics and cholagogues which copiously and abruptly evacuate the bowels because it does not do this. Hostler's Stomach Bitters is preferable to the drenching class of purgatives. Painless in its effects, it is sufficiently active to remedy chronic constipation. It relieves by invigorating the intestines, and enables, not forces, them to perform the duty imposed upon them by nature. Promoting the secretion of bile in normal quantities by its healthfully stimulating effect upon the liver, it is eminently conducive to digestion, and contributes in no small degree to keep the bowels regular.

Hostler's Blood Elixir is the only Blood Remedy guaranteed. It is a positive cure for Ulcers, Eruptions, or Syphilitic Poisoning. It purifies the whole system, and banishes all Rheumatic and Neuralgic pains. We guarantee it.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.
This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.
The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headaches, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.
No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.
Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.
If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, it will expel the poison and protect them from attack.
A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system.
