

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1887

Co. "H" is contemplating a moonlight excursion some fine evening next week.

The Dolphin lying at the dock has been advertised for sale for a month in the Seattle papers.

Extensive and substantial repairs to Capt. Flavel's wharf have reached the street in front of H. Wise's.

At his saleroom at 11 o'clock this morning Ben Worsley will sell 5,000 one-pound salmon cans and tops complete.

Merchants generally throughout the city report sales good, business lively, and little difficulty in collections.

The directors of school district No. One want thirty cords spruce lumber and like careful business men they want bids for the delivery of the same.

The foreign clearances from Astoria for August were as follows: salmon, 78,750 cases, worth $466,631; flour, 5,155 barrels, worth $19,419; wheat, 64,754 bushels, worth $48,084; total, $534,634.

Since the establishment of Sherman & Ward's livery stable the healthful exercise of horseback riding is greatly on the increase. It is a most desirable form of exercise and one that is conducive to health and pleasure.

There was a motley gathering on the Alaskan yesterday morning, her last trip from the beach. Among and around and above returning excursionists were chairs, babies, stools, dogs, buggies, camping outfits, etc., in profusion.

Wa Chong & Company, Chinese merchants of Seattle, are negotiating for the charter of a sailing vessel to load with lumber for China. Gee Hee states that lumber which can be bought there at $2 per thousand can be sold in China at from $34 to $35 per thousand.

In showing a stranger or a visitor around the city it is a sort of give-away to run up against such a sign as that across the roadway about it being dangerous and all that. The first question is, "Why isn't it fixed?" and it is a hard question to explain without saying too much.

The newspaper men of Port Townsend present a solid front to the city council and announce that they will hereafter not publish the city council proceedings unless they are paid for it. If they won't give the news without being paid for it they'd better sell out to some one that will.

Wm. Reid, president of the Portland & Willamette Valley railway, C. N. Scott, receiver of the Narrow Gauge, and others have been out through the Nestucca country with a view of probable extension of their lines in that direction. Sheridan would be a good starting point for a road in this direction.

Work at the bar is progressing in a manner far from satisfactory. The fine weather is passing and but little has thus far been accomplished. As things look now, president Cleveland will have the same excuse to veto the next river and harbor bill that he did the last one: "They didn't spend the amount they had on hand."

The City Guard brass band, of San Diego, Cal., gets $5,000 from the municipality to go east and play in the different cities, and "boom" the town in that way. Alex. Campbell received a dispatch yesterday from his son Charley, who plays the B flat clarinet in the band, that they started yesterday on their way. $5,000! Brass band!! Boom!!!

There are three canneries on the Siuslaw this season: the O. Timmon's Co.; Bergman & Kyle; and Smith & Pardee. The fish are reported plenty and are of good size; they are shorter and chunkier than the Columbia salmon, and differ materially in other respects. Charley Woods, of Millers Sands notoriety, is there, and is reported to have "a good thing" in the way of seining.

During August the following named gave notice of their intention to become citizens of this country: From Russia: Chas. Wilson, Alexander Annaly, Alex. Tagg, Fred Carlson, Chas. A. Westerlund, Stephen Abrahamson, Nels Johnson, Jacob Timonen; from Norway: J. O. Belland, Syvert Basmussen; from Switzerland: Jno. F. Hobi; from Great Britain: J. F. Ross, A. W. Meikli. In addition to the above was Miss Jane Thompson, of England, who declared her intention to become a citizen.

During August county clerk Trenchard issued marriage licenses as follows: Oscar Oman and Anna Peltopera; Jas. L. Ashley and Josie Webber; Henry Makra and Hannah Abrahamson; Chas. M. Bergman and Hanna Anderson; Jno. T. Eberman and Ada Oide; J. F. Fredrickson and Nelsini Lanrietzen; Jno. Warren and Maria H. Larson; Orm Serum and Matilda Pearson; H. E. Conley and Gertrude A. Bullard; Warren V. Sackett and Ellen M. Davis; Jno. F. Groggbauer and Louise Adelaide Fereben.

Mrs. Dr. Trenchard and family take this means of expressing their heartfelt thanks to the very many friends whose aid and assistance was so kindly and willingly rendered during their late bereavement.

Why shouldn't they slaughter goods at the Crystal Palace, as they are going to leave the city.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Prince Napoleon and prince Victor have written to ex-empress Eugenie asking to be excused from attending the transfer of the remains of Napoleon III. and the prince imperial from Chiselhurst to Farnborough, on the ground that it would be impolitic for the father and son to meet each other.

A SAO SENSATION. SAO, Maine, Aug. 31.—The biggest sensation Sao ever experienced developed this morning. The Sao and Biddeford saving institution has seriously suffered through the clerk who has absconded. His name is Frank C. McNelly; he is 19 years old. He has mysteriously disappeared, taking $3,500 in cash and United States bonds to the amount of $91,000.

THE GLASS INDUSTRY. PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—There is now every probability that all the branches of the glass industry will resume work without any trouble, excepting the widow glass manufacturers. The widow glass manufacturers and employes have still a wide breach between them, and the strike which will be inaugurated to-morrow will throw several thousand men out of employment.

A TEMPEST IN PETERSBURG. PETERSBURG, Va., Aug. 31.—The city to-day is in a feverish state of excitement over the clash between races. Last week a negro was fined fifty dollars and sent to jail for striking a white woman. On Friday Dr. Hutton, a prominent physician, struck a colored girl. He was arrested and the case continued until to-day. The negroes demanded that the doctor should receive the same punishment as was inflicted upon the negro. A violent card signed by prominent negroes was published in the Index and Appeal yesterday. The signers and editors were arrested for libel. The excitement became so intense that the mayor ordered three companies of militia to hold themselves in readiness for any emergency. Great anxiety is felt.

A FRENCH EXECUTION. PARIS, Aug. 31.—Franzini, the murderer of Madame Regault and her maid and her maid's child, was guillotined at five o'clock this morning. Vast crowds waited about the place of execution during the whole night and kept up a constant howling and yelling. The din was horrible. When the chaplain who was to officiate at the execution arrived at 4:30 A. M., the mass of people was so great that he was almost prevented from reaching the gate of the prison. Franzini marched from the cell to the scaffold with a firm step and defiant air. When the executioners seized him he resisted and fought desperately, and demanded that they let him alone. The executioners overpowered him, threw him on the machine and in an instant had him securely bound. Immediately after, the terrible knife started. It descended slowly at first, but then quickened and the head of the murderer rolled into the basket. The mob became very disorderly during the progress of the execution.

Yesterday Morning's Fire. A fire broke out in the northwestern or rear portion of a two story frame building on the roadway to town at twelve minutes to three yesterday morning, which almost completely destroyed the building. There are two houses close together in a bend just beyond Trullinger's mill and close to the Cutting Canning company's premises. It was the one farther east that was burned. It had been occupied as a saloon up to last April, since which time it was vacant. It was on leased ground. It was owned by Jno. Erickson and was insured for its full value—$2,500. Facts and evidence go to show that the building was set on fire, for what purpose can easily be imagined.

The department, as usual, was at the scene of the fire in an incredibly short time. Three o'clock in the morning is about the worst time a fire can be, for nearly everyone that proposes to get any sleep, is in bed and snoring. The boys were on deck, however, as soon as the alarm tapped and got there in a very few minutes. Both engines were stationed on Trullinger's dock and did efficient service. The fire was well handled, and though in a place hard to get at, was speedily under control. The adjoining building suffered a little, and at one time it looked a little sealy for the cannery, but fortunately, the fire was confined to where it originated. A man named Isaac Torquilla had been sleeping in the building, but didn't happen to occupy his usual couch Monday night.

What is better than a glass of liquor? A cup of delicious coffee at Fabre's. Vanilla Ice Cream at Fabre's to-day.

THE SARDINE BUSINESS.

The sardine business to Americans at present is the amount of the factory hands' earnings, which is quite offset by the losses which the proprietors have made. Maine is not a dollar better off this year by having these factories in Washington county than she would be if the value of the same properties was represented in ordinary real estate. On the contrary, New Brunswick will, in all human probability, be richer by thousands of dollars on this very account. I do not believe we are in a position to concede even this small amount to a country that has and is now upon this very subject treating us so unjustly. Are sardines immediately consumed? is a question that ought not to puzzle one very deeply.

Stand on a wharf here in Eastport some afternoon and you will hear a whistle sound three distinct times. In a moment the town will be in commotion. Ragged urchins not over ten years old will dart out behind tiers of boxes and roll over each other in their haste to reach a rickety wooden building near the pier below, where a newly arrived boat is discharging her cargo of fish.

If you approach closer you will find that she is not over thirty feet in length, and is a "double-ender," after the style of most Canadian boats. She is nearly decked over, and down in the little hold, which is too low to permit one to stand erect in, is a sleepy-looking man with a sort of wooden scoop in his hand. By his side is a bushel basket. Under his feet are the fish, but he moves about cautiously in order not to destroy more of them than is necessary. As he fills the basket, which is pulled to the wharf above by a companion, two boys seize it and run toward the factory. There the contents are turned out and the cleaning begins.

Men, women and children of all shades and nations gather around and noisily hurry the work of dissection. With one turn of the knife the head of one little fish has been cut off, the entrails removed and the victim is ready for the next process, to prepare him for the tin box in which he is to be eventually canned. Then watch him as he is packed and boxed. The deck hands tumble the case in which his remains rest without ceremony. The great steamer reaches the great metropolis and he is placed on board of a western-bound train, and finally brings up in some mountain grocery store in Idaho or Washington territory. Some ranchman or miner there consumes the delicate morsel, and the history of the sardine is ended. Is he immediately consumed?

"Two-thirds of all the sardines we send away go into the west," observed a local dealer. "When the Canadian possessions in Manitoba became sufficiently populated to warrant sending fish there in large quantities, it will, in my belief, prove a lucrative business. But such a time is far distant. I have tried the scheme myself under present conditions, and am sorry to say it was not a success."—Corr. Boston Globe.

Fast Steamer to Astoria. The steamer Alaskan will be withdrawn from the Iwaco route to-morrow, and the R. R. Thompson will take her place as the fast Astoria boat. She will leave Portland Tuesday and Thursday at 7 A. M., and Saturday at 1 P. M., and leave Astoria Wednesday and Friday at 7 A. M., and Sunday at 3 P. M. This arrangement will hold good during the month of September, and probably during October, to accommodate late seaside travel and eastern visitors who want to take a look at the ocean during our beautiful Indian summer. As soon as the Wide West is rebuilt, she will be put on the Astoria route as a fast boat. The mail boats leaving Astoria and Portland at 6 A. M. daily, will be continued as usual.—Oregonian, Aug. 31.

Unnecessary Misery. Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. HAMBURG FIGS were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25 cents. At all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co., proprietors, S. F.

Their Business Booming. Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Give Them a Chance! That is to say, your lungs. Also your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them, that is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Miles' injuries will probably keep him in bed several weeks, so that the arranged sword presentation at Tucson will have to be deferred.
