A Penitentiary Newspaper.

The Prison Mirror is the title of a paper edited, printed, published and sold by the convicts in the Stillwater, Minn., penitentiary. It curiously bears the motto, "God Helps Those Who Help Themselves," and among the list of stockholders we find the names of Robert, James and Coleman Younger, the celebrated Younger brothers, who owe their presence in the institution to a habit of "helping themselves," which was not sanctioned by divine aid. "Cole" Younger also appears to be the librarian of the prison and the printer's devil of the Mirror office. The salutary mission is "to encourage prison literary talent, and to instruct, assist, encourage and entertain all those within our midst, and to scatter words of warning upon the unwary pathway of those in the outside world whose reckless footsteps may be leading them hitherward." We are not so sure about encouraging "prison talent," but the rest of the editors' intentions are praiseworthy, as is also their endeavor "to bury melancholy, estrangement and enmity in the vast region of the past, and to sow in the hearts of our readers the golden seeds of charity, hope and love." Their effort has met with flattering success, and the Mirror starts in under the most favorable auspices. There is a hint of humor in the invitation extended to president Cleveland to visit its "retired community," and the regret that the invitation could not be conveyed by a committee.

When a man comes into the office and plunks down the cash, and says "send me your paper for a year," that means business. When one says, "I want your paper but haven't got the money now," that's all right. When he takes it out of the postoffice for several months and sends it back "refused," that's meanness. When a man spends from ten cents to a dollar for cigars or beer every week, and says he can't afford to take his home paper, that's a—no such thing. When a man borrows his neighbor's paper to read every week, that's cheek.—Ex.

What does Roscoe Conkling care for politics when at his age he can swim for two hours in the salt sea waves without tiring? A man who was in a commanding political position for twenty years, came out poor, went quietly to work at his profession, manages to make a quarter of a million a year, can knock out any man of his weight with soft gloves and can swim for two hours, is in need of nothing that politics can give him. It is a remarkable case of a sound mind in a sound body.—Cincinnati Republican.

The results of the survey and last census of India are that the area of the peninsula of Hindustan is 1,382,624 square miles, and the population 253,891,821. Although immense tracts of country are annually cultivated, according to the most recent survey 10,000,000 acres of land, suitable for cultivation, have not as yet been plowed. At the same time 120,000,000 acres are returned as waste land.

Dr. Torsey of Boston marries a pair in eighty seconds. There are many young persons would like to make a minute of this.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Farmers are offering exorbitant wages for farm hands in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, where the scarcity of help is becoming alarming.

For scrofulous disorders, and mercurial diseases, the best remedy is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Agent—On what grounds do you claim a pension? Applicant—Grandfather lost his health in the war of 1812 and left an impaired constitution to the family.—New Haven News.

A little co-operative mill in Frankford, started by textile workers, is said to show a profit of 20 per cent on the capital for the first year's work.—Philadelphia Press.

Big Money in Small Fruit.

I have repeatedly said that we can raise and pick blackberries at a cost of two cents a pound, and in fact, think it can be done for less. We can surely raise two tons to the acre, and I think at four cents, or a profit of $80 an acre, these berries can either be canned at a profit or sold to canners in practically unlimited quantities. So we see there are other crops besides hops that will pay as a special crop. Stewart, at Puyallup, raised over two tons of raspberries to the acre, and I see no reason why we may not raise even more of currants and as many gooseberries as either of the two mentioned.—Esra Meeker.

The largest 3-masted schooner ever built in Connecticut, and the largest 3-master now on the Atlantic coast, was launched on Saturday week in West Haven. Her dimensions are as follows: Length of keel, 170 feet; length on deck, 200 feet; depth of hold, 18 feet, 2 inches; width, 37½ feet; length from end of spanker-boom to end of jib-boom, 270 feet.

Old Jim Baker, up on Snake river, gives notice to hunters thus: "If any one should kill an elk this winter with a circle B on it, this is to notify them that that critter is mine, and is only half elk anyway, as the other half is cow, being the calf of my old milker Cherokee, and got by a wild bull."

"Blaine walks the clouds," said an Indiana congressman, "and there's no telling where or when he'll come down. He's a terror to John Sherman in the west. The Republican candidate for vice president is likely to come from our state—Ben Harrison, probably."

In the Whole Hideous Catalogue of diseases, there were none which, previous to the discovery of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, offered more formidable resistance to the old-fashioned modes of treatment than the group of maladies which, under the collective name of malarial disease, afflicted the entire communities that suffered hopelessly. Chills and fever, dumb ague, ague cake and bilious remittent were once regarded as well nigh incurable. Now it resolves the hearts of thousands who reside in districts periodically subject to the visitation of malaria, to feel certain that in the Bitters they possess a certain defense against the scourge; a sure means of expelling its poison from the system. To the settler in the far West, the new emigrant thither, and to travelers and tourists by land and sea, the possession of this pleasant safeguard is a guaranty of safety from diseases which they might vainly seek from any other source.

Nature is bound to keep up the average; when she makes a man who can accumulate a fortune, she usually produces a family of spend-thrifts to squander it.—Whitehall Times.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria, When she was a Child she cried for Castoria, When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A slender lieutenant from Skye Was thin as a capita I; He said, "It's too bad, But then I can pad," Which shows that figures do lie.

A Remedy for Kidney Complaint. "My kidneys were so affected I have been compelled to get up as much as ten times in one night. I had pains in my side, back and left shoulder, and when down could hardly rise. I was unable to bend my body without great pain. I tried Simmons Liver Regulator and my condition has improved so much that I hardly ever feel any of my old trouble." W. JOHNSON, Express Agent, Macon, Ga.

One thousand coke ovens will soon be built in the Connelsville region, and also 400 tenements to accommodate 1,000 workmen.

Not a particle of quinine nor any mineral substance is contained in Ayer's Agree Cure—yet it is a warranted specific for malaria.

Four little pigs who have been trained to stand in a row and twist their tails in the magic symbol "1888" will be among the decorations to greet the president when he visits Memphis.
