Day and Night

During an acute attack of Bronchitis, a ceaseless tickling in the throat, and an exhausting, hacking cough, afflict the sufferer. Sleep is banished, and great prostration follows. This disease is also attended with Hoarseness, and sometimes Loss of Voice. It is liable to become chronic, involve the lungs, and terminate fatally. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral affords speedy relief and cure in cases of Bronchitis. It controls the disposition to cough, and induces refreshing sleep.

I have been a practicing physician for twenty-four years, and, for the past twelve, have suffered from annual attacks of Bronchitis. After exhausting all the usual remedies

Without Relief,

I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and effected a speedy cure.—G. Stovell, M. D., Carrollton, Miss.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is decidedly the best remedy, within my knowledge, for chronic Bronchitis, and all lung diseases.—M. A. Root, M. D., South Paris, Me.

I was attacked, last winter, with a severe cold, which grew worse and settled on my lungs. My night sweats were reduced almost to a skeleton. My cough was incessant, and I frequently spit blood. My physician told me to give up business, or I would not live a month. After taking various remedies without relief, I was finally two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I am now in perfect health, and able to resume business, after having been pronounced incurable with Consumption.—S. P. Henderson, Southburgh, Penn.

For years I was in a decline. I had weak lungs, and suffered from Bronchitis and Catarrh. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral restored me to health, and I have been for a long time comparatively vigorous. In case of a sudden cold I always resort to the Pectoral, and find speedy relief.—Edward E. Curtis, Rutland, Vt.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Bronchitis. The physician attending me became fearful that the disease would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various medicines, without benefit, he prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved me at once. I continued to take this medicine, and was cured.—Ernest Colton, Legansport, Ind.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25c; six bottles, $5.

WHAT MR. CLEVELAND WILL SEE.

Mr. Cleveland will be either more or less than human if he fails to feel a certain pride in the position in which he has been placed by the suffrages of his fellow-citizens. As the president of the United States he is at the head of the greatest and most progressive nation on the globe. It is grander and more powerful than those over which Alexander, Caesar or Bonaparte bore sway. Germany is the greatest military power in the world, but Germany contains 15,000,000 fewer inhabitants than this country. The largest place in history which is occupied by any single nation is that which is filled by Great Britain, yet that portion of the United States east of the Mississippi river is more populous than England, Wales and Scotland combined. The only country in Christendom which contains a larger population than ours is Russia, but the United States will have passed Russia in that respect before the century ends. Even in a purely military sense, if the occasion demanded, it could to day exert a force which would be mightier and more lasting than either Russia or Germany could invoke.

In the past few days Mr. Cleveland traveled more than 1,100 miles without changing the direction of his journey. This is about equal to the distance which separates Dublin from Warsaw. But in the journey he has traveled over less than half the country on an east and west line. If he should have extended his trip to San Francisco it would have led him over a line as long and direct as that which would connect Dublin with the Caspian sea. In that course he would cross the boundaries of a dozen states, some of them equal in area to the average of the great European powers, but no passports would be demanded and he would be subject to no hostile surveillance. Before the journey he has now marked out is completed he will have passed through commonwealths varying as widely in climate and natural resources as those which he would encounter in traveling from the Shannon to the Tigris, and from the Mediterranean to the White sea. In all the country traversed, however, in making that trip he will find that the same language is spoken, the same laws are obeyed and the same flag floats.

Measured by the average ages of those who have reached exalted political station in this country, Mr. Cleveland is still a young man. He was younger when he attained the presidency than was any of his predecessors except General Grant. Fifty years ago, when Mr. Cleveland was born, the United States contained only 15,000,000 inhabitants. And yet since the beginning of 1837 thirteen states have been carved out of the wilderness, the population of the country has been more than quadrupled, while its area, partly by conquest and partly by purchase, has been vastly increased. In this period, brief even in the life of the ordinary man, as many inhabitants as are contained to-day in any nation in Europe except Russia have been added to the population of the Union, while the frontier line of civilization has swept as far to the westward as from the Baltic sea to the English channel.

Some of these thoughts have doubtless come into his mind within the past few days. Others equally impressive will also be suggested to him before his return to Washington. He will observe countless evidences of the prosperity resulting from the broad and wise governmental scheme framed by the fathers of the republic, and preserved, strengthened and perfected by a generation of statesmen and soldiers, many of whom still remain with us. He will meet thousands of citizens who voted against him for the presidency three years ago, and who will vote against him a year hence with equal readiness and alacrity. But no hostile demonstration will greet him at any point on his journey. He will notice that however bitter the opposition may be to him as a Democrat, and to the party which elected him to office, the profound respect which all patriots entertain for the august position which he fills, and for the memory of the many worthy men who have held it, will insure him a hearty welcome everywhere throughout this broad land.

There are some reasons for believing that the United States has not made a very grave mistake after all in neglecting to build a big navy. The trial of the pneumatic dynamite cannon in New York harbor a few days ago showed that before such an engine of destruction as this the most powerful iron-clad of England or France would be as fragile as if made of paste-board. In the race between projectiles and the devices to resist them, in naval warfare, the former still lead.

Noble Prentiss, the celebrated Kansas editor, was recently called upon by an earnest Sunday school worker, who presented him with a document of terrific length for publication. Prentiss told him that it was entirely too long to print. "Yes, it is long," said the earnest worker, "but it is good reading." "So is the Bible good reading," rejoined Prentiss, "but we have only room for the ten commandments."

Rev. Dr. Mr. Herbert, of Baltimore, says: "I will never eat a mince pie cooked by the hand of a woman." You are quite right, doctor. It is no way to cook a pie. The oven is better.

WRENCHED HIS BACK.

LYNDONVILLE, OREGON CO., N. Y., April 2, 1885.

About a year ago, I imprudently stepped off the Hudson River cars while they were in motion. In trying to save myself from a fearful fall I wrenched my back terribly. The next day I could not walk, and I suffered pain from my neck to my heels. Various applications were made, but nothing which was done abated my suffering. Being anxious to get up and attend to business, I determined to place three ALCOCK'S PAIN PLASTERS, one above the other, on my back. In about an hour and a half they caused considerable itching. The pain and soreness sensibly decreased, and I rested pretty well that night. The next morning the itching began to be quite severe under the plasters. To get some relief, I had my back well rubbed crossways over the plasters. I was surprised within two hours afterwards to find the pain and soreness almost gone. I stayed in bed that day; and the morning afterwards I got up and attended to business.

It is now said that insanity is caused by the jar to the brain caused by walking on pavements with solid shoe soles and heels. The remedy is to go barefoot or not walk.

Small-Pox.
"A member of my family was taken down with the Small-pox. I immediately commenced to use Darby's Proprietary Fluid. It kept the atmosphere of the room pure and fresh. The patient was greatly relieved, and never for a moment delirious; and never for a moment about the house again in three weeks, and no other ill effects."—JAMES PARKINSON, Esq., "The Caterer," Philadelphia.

Rev. Sam Small says he is going to Washington "to knock hell out of congress." What will Samuel put in the vacancy?

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage; it promotes digestion, dissipates headache, and generally tones up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.

If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, it will expel the poison and protect them from attack.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system.
