Ten Thousand Dollars an Hour.

Gen. George A. Sheridan is making a stay in New York city on his way to Boston, where he will lecture and open the "Star" course.

Without moving a muscle of his face the candidate for re-order met this question with the query: Mr. President, are you acquainted with the size of the rotunda in the Ebbitt house?

"Yes, sir; what of that?" said Mr. Hayes.

"Well, sir," said Sheridan, "last evening it was not half big enough for me."

"You are the first man to make a frank acknowledgement to me when charged with such an accusation." He got his appointment.

IN THE CRUCIBLE.

About twenty years ago I discovered a little sore on my cheek, and the doctors pronounced it cancer. I have tried a number of physicians, but without receiving any permanent benefit.

Among the number were one or two specialists. The medicine they applied was like fire to the sore, causing intense pain.

My health had been bad for two or three years—I had a hacking cough and spit blood continually. I had a severe pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grew stouter than I had been for several years.
