SEVERAL HUNDRED WORDS.
EDITOR DAILY ASTORIAN:
In reply to your editorials of yesterday allow me to say that we admit that we have forced prohibition upon the public and like other important questions, it demands political attention. We do not, however, claim that prohibition represents temperance, in a literal sense; but we do claim that through prohibition we may the better control the manufacture and use of alcoholic liquors, and thereby advance the cause of temperance and good morals. Yes, we are born with a desire ("insane") to wreck a great party: the "whisky party." We are fighting no other. Unfortunately, in order to reach the controlling element in politics, we are compelled to attack both the Republican and Democratic parties. This element we propose to fight to the bitter end, no matter what party name it endeavors to do it under. No; we were not beaten in Michigan, Texas or Tennessee; we were only repulsed, and we are already marshalling our forces for another conflict and even a second repulse would only strengthen us for a more determined effort. So, do not be deceived into believing that if our amendment is defeated that the end has come. No, no, my friend; the prohibition work will go right along without even a break. Neither St. John, Blaine nor Cleveland is figuring in Oregon prohibition amendment campaign. Whisky or no whisky! That is the issue. Were I allowed space I would gladly answer your attack from your Republican standpoint. Instead of so doing you will accept a woman's prophecy; it is this: If the Republican party of Oregon desires to hold its power in Oregon, it will carefully avoid defeating the prohibition amendment on the 8th of next November—and remember that whichever way the election goes, we, the enemies of the saloon, are sure to win. Right here let me inform that class of Republican and Democratic voters, who seem to think that they cannot vote for the prohibition amendment without sanctioning the acts of the third party, that this is purely a non-partisan fight.

ment." I am glad to see you answer that "courteous question." You say that "this present effort on the part of women is misdirected energy." Many people will differ with you as to this. To my mind, nothing could have brought women more favorably to the front and aided more in proving to the world her ability to think and act in important matters than has this great temperance movement. In this she is acknowledged to be the great motive power, and time alone can determine the truth of Miss Willard's assertion: "The enforcement ballot of the Nation must be woman's." Her reason for this assertion, I think, is a good one. It is hard to fight against appetite, especially when the temptation is kept constantly in sight. Appetite, like every other faculty of man, grows by being fed, and dies through starvation. Your reasoning about a man's appetite being pitted against woman's muscle is erroneous. Women cannot vote on this question and are not likely to offer any muscular resistance in case the amendment is defeated. If it is carried, it will be carried by the ballots of men which will represent a majority of muscle. All that women have done or can do in this struggle will be through their moral power. Working on these lines they have developed and strengthened their capacity for usefulness in educating the public on moral and scientific questions, which they could no longer allow to remain neglected. True, "as long as men drink, drink they will." But if they cannot get anything to drink they are not likely to get drunk, character or no character. Candidly, I believe that you or I could point out many men of Astoria who do possess character and yet are seriously addicted to drink. I appreciate and approve all your advice to woman as to her duty in rearing her children. But all that great responsibility does not, nor should not fall upon woman. She can do much, but cannot do all. The "character" of the child begins with its prenatal life, and if the sins of the father have been visited upon it through his cultivated appetite for drink, it is likely to follow in its father's footsteps, especially if the saloon is allowed to stand upon every corner with frosted windows and a screen before the open door. Some husbands have been reformed after marriage; so have some drunkards; but we admit that the exceptions are the rule. Therefore we advocate the ounce of prevention rather than the pound of cure. We will abolish the saloon and cut off the business of manufacturing drunkards.

Mrs. OWENS-ADAIR, M. D.

THE FATHER OF MANY ILLS.
Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rule of health. Eugene McKay, Brantford, Ont., writes:
I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time, but only for a time, then my troubles came back worse than ever. I was induced by a friend; whom BRANDRETH'S PILLS had benefited, to try them. I did so taking two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness BRANDRETH'S PILLS are far superior to any other.

Mrs. Ellis, an American, is physician to the queen of Corea, and has a salary of $15,000 a year.

Ayer's Pills are an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels. This medicine should be kept in every family.

Nearly two hundred kinds of gold filling are made for the teeth.

Salt-rheum is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Write J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, for evidence.

The site for the new court house in Boston cost $900,000.

Doctors' Bills.
Nearly all diseases originate from inaction of the liver, and this especially the case with chills and fever, intermittent fevers and malarial diseases. To save Doctors' bills and ward off diseases take Simmons' Liver Regulator, a medicine that increases in popularity each year and has become the most popular and best endorsed medicine in the market for the cure of liver and bowel diseases.—TELEGRAPH, Du-buque, Iowa.

In Retailing Goods I Sell every Article at One Price to everyone alike, and Strictly for Cash. And No Goods to be Delivered until Paid for, or C. O. D.
Goods Delivered in Any Part of the City Free of Charge.

THE HOW OF IT.
About every 4 or 5 days I am receiving direct from the manufacturers new goods in the following lines, which are sold to me at the lowest inside figures on the same terms as all such goods are sold to merchants. That is, regular time according to the lines, some are 30, some 60, some 90 days, and mostly all 4 months, and at times of longer periods, subject to the discounts if paid any time between time of purchase and the time the bills become due. Goods now days are mostly sold direct by manufacturers, quantity cuts no figure whatever, and the merchants who MEET THEIR BILLS PROMPTLY, and IN FULL WHEN DUE, are the ones who can put forth any claims as to being one of the most or only reliable business houses in any city, (providing all other things are equal). And whereas the patronage of an appreciative public (with my style of doing business) has enabled me to discount a great deal of my bills since starting (June 1, 1887), and meeting EVERY bill promptly when due up to the present date, I can safely and truly say that I buy and sell my goods as low as they are legitimately bought and sold on the Pacific Coast, which lines of goods comprises

Men's Clothing, Boys' Clothing,
Men's and Boys' Furnishing Goods,
Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises,
Umbrellas, Waterproof Clothing of all kinds, &c., &c.
