

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1887

The contract for building the Red River Valley railroad has been ratified by the Manitoba government.

It is said the late anarchist agitation has given quite a boom to the "American party" in New York.

Rhode Island will vote in April on an amendment to the constitution doing away with the property qualification for general voting.

Kansas possesses the first woman mayor, Missouri the first United States woman marshal, and Nebraska the first woman candidate for judge of the supreme court.

In his annual report Commodore J. G. Walker, chief of the bureau of navigation, advocates the formation of a naval reserve of the men who have seen service, merchant sailors and yachtsmen.

Hon. Mr. Sheldon, of Brooklyn, who claims to have spoken to Blaine on the subject of the recent elections, says that he feels the defeat in New York, and is doubtful of a Republican victory in 1888.

The number of foreign skilled and unskilled laborers who come to this country in the spring and return in the fall is yearly increasing. They make enough money in the season to live without work at home during the rest of the year.

Horace Lee is the youngest office-holder in the United States. He has a place in the pension office and earns $720 a year for himself and his mother, although he will not be twelve years old till next spring. He was appointed by president Cleveland's express order.

Russian officials along the whole Austro-Russian border have been ordered to learn the German language by March, 1888. This is considered rather significant, and as a parallel to the efforts of one country to learn the frontier defense of another.

The National Fishery association in session at New York demands protection against the importation of foreign fish and equal rights for American fishermen in foreign ports accorded to foreign vessels in our harbors. They disavow any desire or right to fish in foreign waters.

Among the many proofs of the "strained relations" of Germany and Russia is the fact that restaurants on the frontier, patronized largely by Russian soldiers, often display placards saying: "Here no Prussians are served with meat or drink," and many of the shops in the large Russian cities announce that no German goods are sold there.

This May Be So.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Ira Jenree, the veteran gambler known as "Old Janney," died of old age and general debility on Monday. In his gambling career he made and lost six or seven fortunes. At one time his wealth was estimated at $500,000. He was over 70, and died almost destitute. He leaves a wife, well known among the gamblers throughout the country. He used to tell this story of his experiences in Morrissey's gambling house many years ago, and Morrissey vouched for its truth: "I had risked and lost my last dollar and the dealer was waiting to go on with the game. I was lost for a bit, and was about to shell out for home, when something like an inspiration came to me. While fumbling in my pocket I found a lozenge. I pulled it out in a thoughtless kind of way, and when my eye lit on it I saw it looked like a check. Without saying a word I laid the lozenge on a card and coppered it. The dealer thought it was all right and the game went on. Luck was my way. I won and the dealer showed a dollar check to me across the table. I wagered the check and won again, and when I left that table I had $3,000. Next day it grew to $5,000 and before the end of the week it was $40,000, every dollar won on the wager of that lozenge."

MARRIED.

At the Astor house, in Astoria, November 22, 1887, by Rev. Dr. E. W. Garner, A. W. Gates and Margaret M. Kelleher.

FLAGS OF NORWAY AND SWEDEN.

Norway and Sweden are little countries in the northern part of Europe. Combined they present an area of only 292,100 square miles. A single state in this country is nearly as large. But these countries support a population of several millions, large numbers of whom obtain their living from fisheries and maritime pursuits. Each country is independent of the other in everything but the King. For years the flags of Norway and Sweden have been prominent in the ocean carrying trade of the Atlantic ocean. Until within a few years, however, their flags were rarely seen in the Pacific. Steam competition between the Atlantic states and Europe has driven some of the mail vessels formerly employed in that trade to other fields. A few years ago a Swedish flag was a novelty in these waters and not over half a dozen Norwegian vessels visited this coast in the course of a twelve-month. This year dozens of these vessels have arrived and others are now on the way. It is possible that the record of arrivals on this coast for the year 1887 will show 20 or 30 Norwegian and Swedish vessels. Most of these are loaded in Europe for Australia and other points in the Pacific, and they generally make two or three trips in the Pacific before returning home.

Henry Lund of this city has been Consul-general for this district for the past four years. The district embraces California, Oregon, Washington Territory and Alaska. Mr. Lund has interested himself in making California known to the people of Norway and Sweden, and is encouraged to know that his efforts have not been without good results. Hundreds of letters are annually written at the consulate, many of them being simply in response to demands for information concerning California and the Pacific coast generally. The maritime interests of Norway and Sweden on this coast have become so important that a vice consul has been appointed for Port Townsend to look after resident sailors and sailors of these countries in Washington Territory and in that section of the district. The large number of vessels bearing these flags now en route and expected at San Pedro and San Diego will probably create a demand for vice consuls at these ports. We have no doubt if parties interested in the matter make proper application to Mr. Lund, he will recommend his government to appoint such officers at these two flourishing ports of Southern California. Swedes and Norwegians are among the best elements in our foreign population. They are industrious, economical and have the fear of God before their eyes. They make good citizens, and are successful and prosperous. It is estimated that there are some 50,000 of these people in Mr. Lund's district.—S. F. Bulletin.

SPECIAL AUCTION!

Extensive and Valuable
Real Estate Sale!
Thursday, Dec. 1st.—2 P. M.

At Holden's Auction Rooms.
Instructed by Mr. W. B. Adair, attorney in fact for John Adair, Sr., and Mary Ann Adair, his wife, I will offer at public auction the following described lots in Upper Astoria, situated in blocks 8, lots 2 and 3 in block 22; all in block 54; all in block 55; all in block 88; lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 in block 95; all in block 98. A favorable opportunity for profitable investment or so large a sale has never before presented itself in this city. Many of these eligible lots are contiguous to improved property. Each lot is 75x150 feet and each block 300 feet square, equivalent to 16 building lots 75 feet square in each block. Property in Adair's Astoria is steadily appreciating in value. $2500 has recently been offered for a piece of water frontage offered for sale a year ago for $1,500. New stores and residences are constantly going up in Upper Astoria, and the street railroad, soon to be in operation will stimulate business. The advantage of the house in a street block standard gauge railway was never nearer to Astoria than at the present time, and when that comes there is no telling what this property will be worth. NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST.
A warranty deed free from all incumbrance to every lot.
For any further particulars apply to
E. C. HOLDEN, Auctioneer.
