HEADACHE.

"I was for many years a perfect martyr to Headache and Dyspepsia, and sometimes thought it would kill me. After trying many remedies, and finding them of no account, I concluded to try Simmons Liver Regulator, and I am now and have been for fifteen years a stranger to a headache. I can recommend the Regulator, for it is no humbug."
—B. I. DODD, Putnam Co., Ga.
"I have suffered for five years with the Sick Headache, and find it is the only thing that will give me relief."
—W. J. ALSTON, Arkadelphia, Ark.
"I use Simmons Liver Regulator when troubled with Headache. It produces a favorable result without hindering my pursuits in business. I regard it as a ready prescription for Disordered Liver."

The Ban That Train

"Toughs" have learned to their sorrow more than once that riding over the Oregon & California road on a "bluff" ticket isn't the safest kind of traveling in the world. They may be able to pass themselves over some roads easily enough in that way, but they don't ride far over Oregon & California—at least not over the southern end of it. Last Saturday morning a party of six men were on the south bound train trying to get through on four tickets. Two of those who had tickets received checks from conductor Bartlett this side of Roseburg, and then gave the checks to two who had no tickets. On his next trip through the cars the conductor saw through the game at once, and ordered the two who had no tickets to give up their checks. They refused and one of them jumped up on a seat, drew a long revolver and declared he would shoot the first man who touched him—there was no one on the train who could put him off, etc. Other people in the car crawled under the seats, women began to cry and a general hubbub ensued. Bartlett told the two who had given up their checks to come into the baggage car with him. They did so and he discreetly held them there. Then he took a big shotgun and armed one of his train boys, and went back to see the howling terror with his big pistol, in the other car. Covering the bad man with the shotgun, he ordered him to "come down out of that." He came down, meek as a half-drowned kitten. He and his fellow gave up the checks and they were unceremoniously hustled off the train, which steamed off and left them near Oak Grove station. Bartlett said he had never failed yet to unload a man who tried that game, and didn't propose to let anyone run his train without orders from headquarters.—Ashtland Tidings.

A Great Scheme.

Mr. Kit Carson Payne of this city has taken up a ranch on the Klaskanine river opposite Astoria where he intends going into the oyster business. Kit has struck a scheme. He has discovered a new variety of trees and has set out a large oyster and clam orchard. The oysters sleep during the day, and like the Oregon tramps, arise at twilight and go forth to rustle for something to eat. The new variety of trees set out by Kit has barbs similar to fish hooks, which the oyster is particularly fond of. It crawls out of its watery bed and makes for the trees. In tickling its throat it is caught. Kit claims the oyster fails to extricate itself, and in the struggle loses its overcoat. He can go out every morning and pick several bushels of fresh oysters in his orchard for the Portland market. He has surely got a corner on the oyster market and his friends begin to think he possesses a great head.—Vindicator.

After you get angry and stop your paper just poke your finger in water, pull it out and look for the hole. Then you will know how sadly you are missed. A man who thinks a paper cannot survive without his support ought to go off and stay awhile. When he comes back half his friends will not know that he was gone and the other half will not care a cent, while the world at large kept no account of his movement. You will find things that you cannot endorse in every paper. Even the bible is rather plain and bits some hard licks. If you were to get mad and burn your bible the hundreds of presses would still go on printing it; and when you stop your paper and call the editor names, the paper will still be published, and what is more—you'll read it on the sly.

Tonic, Alterative and Cathartic.
Simmons Liver Regulator cures malaria, biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, constipation and piles. It is most effective in starting the secretions of the liver, causing the bile to act as a purge. When there is an excess of bile in the stomach, the Regulator is an active purge; after the removal of the bile it will regulate the bowels and impart vigor and health to the whole system.
In the City of Mexico this season $350,000 have been spent in fitting up the six rings where the bull fighters do their little deeds of daring.

The New Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Representative Randall is engaged in preparing a tariff bill which he may offer as a substitute for the proposition that Mills, chairman of the ways and means committee and his coadjutors are making out. Randall proposes to include the charges on customs duties and internal revenue taxes in his measure and make a reduction of about $68,000,000, taking the receipts for the year ending June last as a basis.
This reduction will be made out by abolishing all taxes on tobacco and fruit spirits, reducing the whisky tax from 90 to 45 cents per gallon and abolishing certain special taxes. These changes would result in a reduction of about $63,000,000, divided as follows: Tobacco, $30,000,000; spirits distilled from fruits, $1,000,000; whisky, $30,000,000; and special taxes, $2,000,000. The remainder of the $17,000,000 would be taken from customs duties and would result mainly from the duty to the free list. This is the basis on which the bill is being prepared, but the details may be changed somewhat before it is presented, and the measure will not, of course be brought forward until the bill of the ways and means committee is ready to report, and perhaps not till after the house has considered that measure, when it may be offered as a substitute for the committee's bill.

Helping the Right Side.

To help the right side is not only commendable in a general point of view, but is judicious and prudent when that help is enlisted in behalf of the right side of the body, just over the lower ribs in the region of the liver. The most efficient help is afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitter, an anti-bilious medicine of incomparable efficacy. Inaction of the liver is accompanied by constipation, sick headache, furred tongue, nausea, occasional vertigo, an unpleasant breath, yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye. The author of these symptoms, liver complaint, is cured by the Bitter, which is found in his flesh, favor and ease, which always involves the liver, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility and kidney troubles are all maladies to the early relief and final cure of which this standard medicine is adapted. Don't use it for its health and starve, but systematically, that its full effects may result in a perfect restoration of health.

A flood of immigrants from heathenish Arabia into this country is threatened. Our gates being wide open, there is nothing to prevent all of Asia and Africa, as well as Europe, immigrating into this country. The question is pertinently asked: Is it not about time to guard the gates a little more carefully?—Chicago Journal.

We believe that every case of pulmonary disease, if treated in time, may be relieved and cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It is not generally known that President Lincoln sent a substitute to the army, but it is a fact. Mr. Lincoln expressed a desire to have a fighting substitute, and one was found for him. It was John Staples, son of a clergyman. He went safely through the war and died recently at Dover.

Cancers, and cancerous tumors, are cured by the purifying effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

That Hacking Cough can be so quickly cured by Shiloh's Cure. We guarantee it. Sold by W. E. Dement.
