THE PERFECT WOMAN.

If any woman wishes to know whether she is a perfect specimen of her sex she has only to apply the rules laid down for ascertaining the fact and figure on the results. First, as to height, tastes differ, but the Medicen Venus is five feet five inches in height, and this is held by many sculptors and artists to be the most admirable stature for a woman. As for coloring and shape, here is a code laid down by the Arabs, who say that a woman should have these things: Black—Hair, eyebrows, lashes and pupils. White—Skin, teeth and globe of the eye. Red—Tongue, lips and cheeks. Round—Head, neck, arms, ankles and waists. Long—Back, fingers, arms and limbs. Large—Forehead, eyes and lips. Narrow—Eyebrows, nose and feet. Small—Ears, bust and hands.

For a woman five feet five, 138 pounds is the proper weight, and if she be well formed she can stand another ten pounds without greatly showing it. When her arms are extended she should measure from tip of middle finger to tip of middle finger just five feet five, exactly her own height. The length of her hand should be just a tenth of that, and her foot just a seventh, and the diameter of her chest a fifth. From her thighs to the ground she should measure just what she measures from the thighs to the top of the head. The knee should come exactly midway between the thigh and the heel. The distance from the elbow to the middle finger should be the same as the distance from the elbow to the middle of the chest. From the top of the head to the chin should be just the length of the foot, and there should be the same distance between the chin and the armpits. A woman of this height should measure twenty-four inches about the waist and thirty-four inches about the bust if measured from under the armpits, and forty-three if over them. The upper arm should measure thirteen inches and the wrist six. The calf of the leg should measure fourteen and one half inches, the thigh twenty five and the ankle eight. There is another system of measurement which says that the distance twice around the thumb should go once around the wrist; twice around the wrist once around the throat; twice around the throat, once around the waist, and so on; but the first are the measurements used by sculptors who have gained them by measurements of the Greek statues.

A Bashful Bridegroom.

Down at Flat Creek in this state there was a few years ago a couple who were engaged to be married. The time was set and all was made ready. The time was about up and the preacher asked the young man where his license was. The fellow said: "I thought the preachers had the license." As the town was near by where the license could be obtained, the wedding came off, and things went on all right till about bed-time, when something was said about it being time to go to bed, and the groom said: "Well, it is time I was going home."

"No that will never do; you must stay all night," said some one of the family.

"Yes, I will have to go home, for I didn't tell pap that I was going to stay all night and he wouldn't like it for me to keep old Sall out all night." Sall was the name of the nag he was riding.—Nashville American.

Tonic, Alterative and Cathartic.

Simmons Liver Regulator cures malaria, biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, constipation and piles. It is most effective in starting the secretions of the liver, causing the bile to act as a purge. When there is an excess of bile in the stomach, the Regulator is an active purge; after the removal of the bile it will regulate the bowels and impart vigor and health to the whole system.

For brevity and point, the following advertisement in a paper of a distant city is conspicuous: "Col. Gent wants to correspond with respect, lady, aged 20 to 25; light in color; object, nat S 21, item."

We believe that every case of pulmonary disease, if treated in time, may be relieved and cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

LIFE IN GUATEMALA.

Perhaps the people of Guatemala are as clearly as others, but, according to observation, the common practice was to allow the dogs to lick the dishes, which received no additional washing, writes W. F. Brigham. It was the custom also at the table d'hote in the hotels to finish a meal by filling the mouth with water and squirting it on the tiled floor. Once, when we stopped at a wayside house to get some coffee, the senora made a little fire out of doors, put the coffee in a very black pot to boil, and after fanning the reluctant fire with her straw hat, threw herself on the ground near by to rest and smoke her puro. When the pot was near to boiling she reached out her bare leg and tested the temperature of the contents with her toe, as a northern cook might have used her finger. At a hotel a table cloth also served for napkins, and the dishes were of many patterns, colors and degrees of dirtiness. It seemed absurd to call for a clean plate, but we did so to see what would happen. A large tame duck used to waddle under my chair, and at last would take bits of tortilla from my hand. Several mangy dogs and cats had to be driven out whenever we sat down to eat, but the hens were not disturbed, for they contributed so much to our larder that they were privileged, and one nested in an old felt hat on a corner shelf, while another came cooking out of one of the dark bedrooms that opened on either side.

A Wealthy Baby.

A baby with a $100,000 spoon in its mouth was born in Oakland, last Thursday. The widow of the late Capt. Wm. Walkerly, the Oakland capitalist and owner of the Union club building and other property in San Francisco, was the mother. Walkerly was married about a year before his death to a young lady named Blanch Buswell, and shortly before his death she informed him that she expected to become a mother. Walkerly then made provision in his will that the child, if born alive should receive $100,000 from his estate, and also bequeathed $100,000 additional to the mother. The heir expected arrived this Thursday and proved to be a vigorous baby boy.

Mrs. Paran Stevens, who is now worth $5,000,000, began life as a waiter girl in a restaurant, and her husband started out as a stable boy.
