Council meeting to-night. The Oregon left Portland bound out at 3 yesterday afternoon.

Reserved seats at the New York Novelty Store for "After Dark."

The Scandinavian Benevolent society hold their regular meeting at 7:30 this evening.

A representative of Gov. Alger of Michigan is in the city examining into the extent of our lumber resources.

The O. R. & N. boats and vessels have their flags at half mast in respect to the memory of the late vice-president T. J. Potter.

The meeting of the State Agricultural association, which was to be held in Salem on March 13, has been postponed until the 29th of May.

Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, have sent a neatly indexed map of Oregon, bound and portable, and will send it to any address on receipt of twenty-five cents.

The Glenavon's salmon cargo was the only salmon lost in transit of the pack of '87. In '87 all the foreign salmon shipments arrived safely, but in '85 three cargoes were total losses.

The prohibitionists will hold a state convention in Portland on the 28th inst., to nominate a state ticket and to send delegates to the national prohibition convention, which meets at Indianapolis June 6th.

In addition to the usual report regarding the election of a councilman, there will be an effort at to-night's meeting of the council to elect a policeman. Those that come early will have the best seats.

The "Army-Register" for 1888 shows that nine of the officers of the United States army hail from Oregon. Of these five belong to the infantry, two to the cavalry, one to the artillery, and one is a general and staff officer.

A few days ago the house of Andy Rhodes, living at Sand lake, Tillamook county, was struck by a falling tree, which crashed through the roof, one of the limbs striking the middle of the bed and smashing it into kindling wood. The family were not at home at the time.

Last Monday Martin Young, who lives at Andrew Johnson's place on Young's river, was cleaning his pistol, when the aforesaid was accidentally discharged, the bullet, as usual, taking effect. It hit him in the palm of the hand, ranging upward through the wrist and forearm, from whence it was deftly extracted yesterday morning.

The half interest swindle and other bunko games in San Francisco are receiving thorough ventilation in a case where Picher & Hamberg, "real estate men," are charged with swindling F. M. Parker, a southern Oregon rancher, out of his land and money. The trick in this particular case, was to sell Parker some city property, and after the deed for the property had been drawn up, the word "his" was substituted for "the" in defining the interests and appurtenances in the property sold by Hamberg to Parker, thus making it a worthless quit-claim deed instead of a deed of sale.

Walla Walla Journal: It's strange that we should be so anxious to name the child before it is born and before we know whether it is a boy or a girl; but in questions of creating states these things become inevitable. The Union suggests the name of Walla Walla for the new state, but isn't that overdoing the Wallas? How would it sound to direct a letter to the "Editor Walla Walla Journal, Walla Walla City, Walla Walla county, Walla Walla?" No; but like "my own Maryland," let this be the only Walla and let us name the new state Washington, after the father of his country, or Columbia, the father of our rivers. Tacoma isn't bad, but its first named are better. Such is our tumtum.

The weird play of "She" was presented last night at Ross' opera house to a very large audience. The book has been read so universally that any mention of the plot is unnecessary. The company carry their own scenery with them and every member of the troupe is entitled to credit for evident effort and careful attention to detail. It is hard work to successfully put a play like that on the stage under the most favorable circumstances, and the amount of labor required can only be appreciated by those who have been there. To-night the play of "After Dark" will be produced with the same care and fidelity to the outlined plot that marked last evening's performance. It is an intensely interesting drama, and will doubtless be witnessed by a very large audience. Reserved seats at the New York Novelty store.

DEATH OF HENRY BERGH.

Sullivan and Mitchell Back in England.

Whitry Weather in New York and the Mississippi Valley.

CHICAGO, March 12.—The case against Mrs. Rawson, charging her with complicity in the shooting of her husband, banker Rawson, was, on motion of the district attorney, dismissed from the court docket this morning.

A NOTED MAN GONE. New York, Mar. 12.—Henry Bergh, the founder and president of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, died this morning.

BACK IN ENGLAND. LONDON, March 12.—Sullivan and Mitchell arrived in London this morning. Sullivan left for Liverpool a short time afterward; neither showed much sign of punishment. Mitchell's friends are very jubilant over the result of the fight.

AWAITING A DECISION. KANSAS CITY, March 12.—Judge Gresham's decision on the liability of railroads refusing the Burlington freight is anxiously awaited here by both railroads and men. As an indication of the prevailing uneasiness, it may be said that several roads have been refusing, since Saturday afternoon, to accept perishable freight, such as live stock, packing house products, etc.

Among these roads were the Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Fort Scott & Gulf. Two days more of this embargo will close down all the packing houses in the city and throw 15,000 men out of employment.

TROUBLE FEARED FROM INDIANS. WINNEPEG, March 12.—For some weeks alarming reports have been received here from the west that Indians are very restless, owing to the neglect of the government in furnishing supplies, and that there is serious danger of an uprising unless food is at once forwarded.

Mounted police claim to be prepared to put down any revolt, but at the same time admit that there will be trouble unless immediate attention is given.

The half-breeds at Batonche are in constant communication with Gabriel Dumont in New York and in a recent letter he is understood to have advised them to secure food by pillage rather than submit to slow starvation. His people had half a crop of barley this year, but they are obliged to burn it and eat it.

Settlers in the Northwest territory are considerably alarmed.

FATAL RAILROAD COLLISION. CHICAGO, March 12.—Passenger train No. 9 on the Pennsylvania railroad collided with a heavy freight train near Huntington this morning and both trains were wrecked. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train instantly were killed and the freight brakeman and the Pullman passengers escaped with a severe shaking up.

A severe storm is raging on the mountain and the crew on the freight train was nearly frozen.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. ALTOONA, Pa., March 12.—The wreck is simply colossal. The express train was running at a rate of forty miles an hour. Three sleepers were smashed to pieces. All the trains are now ten hours late and cannot get through before evening. The injured brakeman has since died and three passengers are reported injured.

HEAVY SNOW IN NEW YORK. NEW YORK, March 12.—The hardest snow storm of the year is raging. At 8 o'clock there was a foot or over on the ground. High winds caused drifts which in the upper part of the city are three and four feet high.

Traffic is also suspended. Thousands of passengers are blocked on the elevated roads. The horse cars are entirely unable to move. People who left uptown by the elevated roads are unable to get farther than Eighth street by rail, many of the more venturesome descended to the street by ladders and walked the rest of the way down town.

People in the suburb towns found it almost impossible to reach the city so severe were the drifts.

ROUGH IN MICHIGAN TOO. NGAUWEE, Mich., March 12.—The two days blizzard just ending has been the worst of the year for railroad men. The Chicago and Northwestern railway trains due here at one o'clock yesterday struck at Mason and is still there in the drifts with the engine dead.

The south bound train is at Brampton having been shoveled out two or three times.

The Duluth shore and Atlantic Mackinaw division is closed to traffic with the west bound express and snow plows all snowed in on the eastern half of the division. No east bound trains started from Marquette.

Notice. We are cleaning the reservoirs of the Water Co., and advise consumers to keep some water drawn off for a few days for fear of an accident. JAS. W. WELCH, Supt.

THE EX-CHAMPION.

Sullivan's Supremacy Believed To Be Gone Forever.

LONDON, March 11.—Harry Mitchell is spoken of by everybody to-day as the world's champion. Sullivan is now out of the question, and everybody is making mental conjectures as to the extent of the limitation of the new champion's powers. From the very first blow everybody interested in Sullivan felt that something was wrong—how wrong, no one for a moment suspected. John has too much heart. He whispered after the fifth round, that he was so much pleased with Mitchell's pluck in showing fight after all the delay, that he would fight with him for a round or two. This happy ignorance of the true state of things only lasted till the tenth round. Then the truth of the situation dawned upon even those of the Boston boy's friends most blind. To their credit be it said, they never dreamed of hedging; but the truth was too good even for the Mitchell men to believe, and in a wild hilarious manner they could only screw up courage to back the young one to take punishment for twenty rounds.

The fighting was superlatively fair throughout. Some ardent Sullivan people claimed several times that Mitchell went to grass without being touched, but their claims were overruled, and more severely by the champion than by the referee. Owing to the heavy condition of the ground the fighters seemed, by mutual agreement not to try to fall, and when after a rally they closed they separated.

When, at the close of the thirty-second round, the rain ceased to fall, the faces of Ashton, Barnett and Phillips brightened. They thought that the tide of the champion's fortune would surely turn. It had reached the lowest ebb, and John did come up again but to no purpose. Round and round the heavy ring, which now resembled a pig-sty, Sullivan chased his nimble-footed antagonist, but never reaching him, then, when baffled, breathless, and almost inert, he stood glaring gloomily, Mitchell would make a turn and smash at Sullivan's ribs, generally successfully. The men in Mitchell's corner were wild with delight.

All the while the Americans were backing up their man with money and giving odds to cheer the old champion. The long, weary tramp, tramp of the thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth rounds, with the weakness of both parties becoming more apparent, terminated with Sullivan's discomfiture, and a drawn battle in the thirty-ninth round.

In no sense was it a Waterloo. The battle was certainly what Gettysburg was to Lee's army, a repulse which broke the backbone of resistance. When the battle was over, the Americans awoke from their stupor, rubbed their eyes and could not believe it true.

Phillips ran at Blacklock with a bottle with the evident intention of breaking the latter's head for having advanced a draw proposition, but Phillips fortunately came to his senses before any damage was done, while poor Sullivan sat mute and speechless, and stayed in his corner. Humanitarian views apart, the draw was the best thing that could have been determined on. Two hours more of fighting would not have brought the affair any closer to a decided result. Both men being exhausted, the draw was a logical conclusion.

Mitchell's blows were quick, but puny as a baby's, while Sullivan stalked around, a mere shadow of what he was, like Banquo's ghost. The secret is now in everyone's mouth that Sullivan's fighting days are finished. Something gave way in the fight—no one knows what—and the champion of yesterday is the ex-champion of to-day. The number of hard fights had told their tale, and the champion in a moment lost his sway and saw his slugging supremacy slip from his grasp forever.

Give Credit Where Credit is Due. ASTORIA, Oregon, March 12, '88.

EDITOR ASTORIAN: In a recent issue of the Oregonian Mr. O. E. Paxton is credited with having engineered the case of the city of Astoria vs. J. W. Babbage through the courts. This was the case arising under a city ordinance, providing that the harbor master should move all vessels in the harbor and making it a misdemeanor for any other person to do so. Judge Bowlby and Mr. C. W. Fulton of this place, and not Mr. Paxton engineered that case through the courts. (Oregonian please copy.)

Communicated. PORTLAND, Nov. 26, 1887. MY DEAR MR. WISDOM: You have reason to feel proud of the success of Robertine. I have used it constantly for a whole year and find it beautiful and beneficial for the complexion. It possesses all the qualities you claim for it, and I have much pleasure in recommending it. The "Robertine Powder," your latest addition to the Artiste toilet, makes a charming finish and is worthy of its companion, Robertine. Yours truly, JEANIE WIKATON.

Served Him Right. An honest politician has been discovered in Alabama. Just after having announced himself as a candidate for congress, and while standing on the courthouse steps making a speech, some one of the crowd yelled out: "Say, what do you think of the tariff? Give us your views." "My friends," said the orator, "I don't know a blamed thing about the tariff." He was elected by a large majority.—Arkansas Traveler.

SALMON. The American Grocer, Feb. 29th, reports the New York salmon market as follows: "Many of the Columbia river packers are finding it very difficult to get commission merchants to make advances. There have been sales of 5,000 cases of Badollet's at $1.55 for export, and 10,000 cases of flat tins at $1.70, Devlin's pack for export."

B. Gollin & Sons writes under date at Liverpool of Feb. 18 as follows: "The activity recently displayed has been fully maintained since our last, and if it continues for another week we shall see no 1887 Columbia river pack under 30s. for at present there is only a very limited quantity at 29s per case. The only holders are Messrs. Pellin, Stanley & Co., and their stock of Columbia river pack does not amount to 30,000 cases."

The San Francisco Herald of Trade of the 8th inst, says: "The market to an outsider is decidedly muddled. There are all kinds of rumors afloat and to tell which is which or "tother" from "tother" would take an expert who is presumably on the inside. We saw actual telegrams received the past week from reliable houses in New York that are far from satisfactory to the selling interests. They affirm that there is no sale for Columbia river fish at over $1.60 for 1,025 lbs. on the river and for Alaska at over $1.25 in our load parcels in San Francisco. They state that the trade believe that a lower range of values will obtain later on in the season for all kinds of salmon on this coast and therefore they will not contract for futures except at lower prices, preferring to wait the result of the pack. They also say that if high prices must be paid they prefer doing so when the consumptive demand sets in. A firm in this city state that they have sold in blocks of from 1,000 cases up to 2,000 cases their Columbia river pack, but the price is private. They placed their brand mostly with eastern houses that have handled it for years, and built up a trade taking that brand in preference to others, even paying an advance on current market quotations. The same remarks undoubtedly apply to other well and favorably known brands. Regarding the Alaska pack we are informed of sales as high as $1.40 for small parcels of well and favorably known brands, while for a round parcel an offer of $1.30 was refused. When our informant was advised that $1.25 was the best bid from New York, he claimed that without doubt it was for unknown brands, of which there will be at least fifteen this year, for those who have been in business for years and have an established trade sell at an advance over new brands and also those to be put on the market. At the best the market is in a very unsatisfactory condition, and if buyers hold off, only buy in a small hand-to-mouth way, there is no possibility of keeping values up if the pack of the coast is large and outside brands are forced upon the market."

The endorsement of German Syrup is unparalleled. We will publish 1000 testimonials received during the last six months. Read them. May save your life.

BURLINGHAM, N. Y., May 31, '86. G. G. GREEN, Dear Sir:—I am frequently troubled with severe colds, and the only remedy that will relieve me of them is your Boschee's German Syrup. I have used it for more than 12 years. It is a constant household companion with me. Our merchant here procured it first at my solicitation, and says he has sold a great many bottles. It is a very popular remedy in this section. Every person who has used it speaks in the highest terms of its merits. I do not know of a single case it has not cured. I first used it in Vermont, where I lived before coming here. I advise everyone to use it, as it is certainly the best cough medicine I have ever known. I have tried nearly all of them at different times.

Yours respectfully, MOSES GRAY, Proprietor Grist Mill.

The Trouble With Leap Year. Leap year is not likely to bring about many marriage engagements. Of course it is all folly to suppose that girls will propose—that is a libelous little fiction invented by a certain class of writers—and they won't dare to accept the proposals of the men for fear the world will think they really did propose. It's a trying situation and we don't wonder the girls hail its coming with dread.

Their Business Booming. Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at John Dement's Drug Store as his giving away to his customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous and this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.
