

THE CROWN PRINCE.

A Berlin cable gives the report that the prince of Wales had a stormy scene with the crown prince William, as the English prince remonstrated warmly with the nephew against the general course of his conduct toward his parents, and was particularly indignant at the truculent demeanor that prince William adopted toward his mother, of late, of which she complained bitterly to her eldest brother when he was at San Remo. The crown prince did not receive his uncle's admonition in good part, and retorted with unbecoming asperity. Prince William takes many opportunities of expressing his dislike and contempt for his mother's English relatives.

And here is a picture of the new crown prince: A man of 29 years of age, erect, square-shouldered, lithe, powerful and austere, strode out of the railway station to-day after seeing a batch of royal guests depart. He had a strong, heavily-lined, moody face.

The guards presented arms, a retinue of generals hurried after the masterful looking German. It was the crown prince, who would soon be the emperor of a nation of warriors.

The waiting multitude, at the sight of him, gave a single yell that came from their very hearts. The prince turned toward the sea of faces and and looked intently at the people; his moody, surly eyes flew rapidly from face to face, then slowly he touched his cap. Cheer after cheer rose wildly in quick succession with passionate fervor. The prince listened with a rapt look, then threw his head back with a sudden motion and showed his teeth in a smile of savage exultation. The action was almost theatrical. The people fought to get another look at him, but he whirled away among the hoarse, frantic shouts of his worshippers. The people adore the very name of the coming ruler, who has all their prejudices intensified a thousandfold.

His aversion to the English extends to his own mother. When he was ordered to go to San Remo by the late emperor to visit his invalid father, the royal party started to walk to church. Prince William's English mother, the present empress, attempted to take his arm. He shook her off roughly in the presence of the crowd. "I represent the person of the emperor," he said haughtily; "I walk alone." His mother was obliged to follow in his footsteps. His first English governess, Miss Shippis, who had charge of him as a boy, when asked recently what sort of a man he was, said: "He is a man whom nothing can stay when once his anger is aroused."

Baby Banting Again.

One of the greatest literary hits of the season is the story of "Baby Banting; or, the Alphabet of Love," Laura Jean Libbey, which is at present being published in the columns of The New York Family Story Paper. The paper containing the opening chapters of this wonderfully popular romance appeared on the news stands this morning. The tremendous rush for that number by the young ladies of the town shows clearly that the publishers have struck a bonanza. The Family Story Paper is for sale by all news dealers, or will be sent to any address four months, postage free, for $1.00. Norman L. Munro, publisher, 24 and 26 Vandewater street, New York.

In the State Circuit Court.

In the state circuit court yesterday M. J. Kinney began suit against the Cape Fox Packing Co., Taylor, Young & Co., A. W. Berry and the Tongas Packing Co. Plaintiff prays that a receiver be appointed by the court to take charge of certain property of the Cape Fox Packing Co., including property held by the Tongas Packing Co., at Tongas Narrows, Alaska; that pending the suit the defendants be enjoined from selling any of the said property; that they be directed to account to the Cape Fox Packing Co. for property and business mentioned in the complaint; that the assets of the Cape Fox Co. be marshalled and plaintiff's claim be allowed, and that the company be then dissolved, and the remaining assets be divided among the stockholders according to their respective interests. Plaintiff also asks judgment for $2,500.15, money furnished and services rendered.

He alleges that in March, 1888, A. W. Berry and Taylor, Young & Co. formed a conspiracy with the intention of defrauding him of his interest in the Cape Fox company. He further alleges that they did combine with H. Humphy, one of the stockholders, and ordered the cannery to be sold for $2,000, the purchaser to assume the indebtedness. Subsequently, regardless of plaintiff's protestations, the Cape Fox plant was sold to Berry, who, with Taylor, Young & Co., operated it in 1886 and 1887, making $17,000. Plaintiff in conclusion avers that in 1887 defendants organized the Tongas Packing company, and removed all the Cape Fox property there.—Oregonian, 27.

Does It Pay?

Three-fourths of our people are troubled with Dyspepsia and liver complaint in some form or other, which by nature of the disease has a depressing influence on the mind or body, preventing them from thinking or acting clearly in any matter of importance. Indigestion, coming up of food after eating, dyspepsia, sick head-ache, acidity of the stomach or any derangement of the stomach or liver (upon which the whole activity of our system depends) are speedily and effectually overcome by the use of Green's August Flower. The most stubborn cases have yielded to its influence, as thousands of letters received will testify. The immense sale of this medicine is another guarantee of its merits, (over a million and a half bottles sold last year.) So we ask, will it pay you to suffer from any of the above diseases when you can have immediate relief in the August Flower. Three doses will prove its worth. It is sold by all druggists and general dealers in all parts of the world.

All Disposed Of.

They are telling a little story on the street about a well known real estate man of considerable means who is a little careless in his business habits, and has allowed a large number of unpaid bills to accumulate in various parts of the city. The other day he took it into his head that he would have a new will drawn up, and to that end he summoned a legal friend who was acquainted with his little peculiarity. The lawyer put down the imposing clause: "In the name of God, Amen, I being of sound and disposing mind," etc. Then he looked at the real estate man.

"I desire," said the latter, "first, that all my just debts shall be paid." The lawyer wrote, laid down his pen, and asked him to sign. "But I haven't finished yet," said the astonished real estate man. "Oh, yes, you have," replied the lawyer. "That's all that's necessary. By the time that desire is complied with your estate will be taken care of."—Kansas City Times.
