

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1888.

THE Iowa council of Synagogue, in Kansas, is composed entirely of women. They are bright, active, business women, and are said to discharge the duties of their position better than the men who preceded them in office.

THE New York Tribune publishes a chart which shows in a very graphic and striking way the influence of protection and free trade upon the wool industry, in the United States and in Great Britain respectively. In 1859 the American wool-growers produced 60,000,000 pounds of wool, and in the same year the British wool-growers produced 140,000,000 pounds. In 1883 the American wool-growers produced over 300,000,000 pounds, and in that year the British wool-growers produced only 132,410,000 pounds. This is to say, under twenty-four years of protection, the American wool product increased five-fold, while under the same period of free trade the British product actually fell off between seven and eight million pounds. This statement ought to interest American free trade papers like the Springfield Republican, which pops up every now and then and wants to know why the United States has not as many sheep to the square mile as Great Britain. So also as to the manufacture. In 1859 the British manufacturers consumed 238,000,000 pounds of wool, while the American manufacturers used only about one-third of that amount, or 86,000,000. But in 1882 our manufacturers consumed 353,000,000 pounds, while the British manufacturers in the same year used only 338,000,000 pounds. Since changes which were made in the tariff in 1883, there has been some decline both in wool-growing and manufacture. Our product of wool in 1887 was 265,000,000 pounds, and our consumption was 364,703,127 pounds, against 338,524,401 pounds in the year previous, and 400,642,549 pounds in 1885, which was the highest figure ever reached. Whoever compares this record of a quarter of a century in protective America and free trade England will see little reason to justify us in abandoning a system under which we have made great strides in national prosperity, in order to accept that under which England has fallen behind.

TESTIMONIAL OF REGARD. WHEREAS, Mr. E. C. Holden has almost continuously for the past nine years faithfully, efficiently and devotedly performed the duties of an independent of this, the First Presbyterian Sabbath school of Astoria, Oregon; and

WHEREAS, By his removal from this city our relation as school and superintendent will be severed; therefore, be it Resolved, (1st) That in testimony of our appreciation of his labors and of our love for him as a Christian brother and fellow-worker, we hereby tender him our hearty gratitude for the part he has borne in making our school so pleasant and profitable, and the assurance that our association will ever be remembered with pleasure and our separation with regret; that we bid him God-speed in all good words and works wherever the path of life may lead him.

Resolved, (2d) That a copy of these resolutions be presented to Mr. Holden, and that the same be published in the city papers.

C. C. BROWER, Committee: JOHN BRYCE, CARL A. HANSON. Astoria, April 2, 1888.

Major Thos. H. Handbury. Major Thomas Handbury, of the corps of U. S. Engineers, who succeeds Capt. C. F. Powell as resident engineer in this city, arrived from Chicago yesterday, accompanied by his son. Major Handbury was found at the United States engineers' office, and proved to be a pleasant, genial gentleman. He is an old Pacific coast man, having been stationed in San Francisco from 1855 until 1872. During 1871 he took observations of the current at the mouth of the Columbia to learn if it was practicable to locate torpedoes for defensive purposes there. Major Handbury also assisted in government surveys on the Sound, and is therefore not a total stranger. He likes the western people and their ways better than he does the east and its citizens, and has brought his son with him so that he may grow up with the country. Major Handbury will take charge as soon as Captain C. F. Powell has arranged the affairs of the United States engineers' office, so that they can be turned over to him. Captain Powell expects to leave for his new post at St. Louis on or about May 1st.—News, 10.

ILWACO ITEMS.

ILWACO, April 9, 1888. Saturday's ASTORIAN arrived here this morning. It's the same with numerous other papers. We propose to remind the post office employees occasionally.

A raft of fine trap stakes recently reached here from up river, and soon the trap nets will be in working order. E. M. Philebann is employed in Dalton's bank. The Clara Parker has unloaded a lot of sawmill machinery for our mill. Sportsmen complain that the wild geese are getting scarcer every year. Perhaps it will not be out of place to remark that we are pleased to see a number of Michigananders are settling among us. The Wallcut bridge is almost completed. The masquerade ball on the 13th promises to be a pleasant affair. Jos. Pinchower will be on hand with a stock of masks and costumes. While digging in his garden, one of our community unearthed a scalping knife which formerly belonged to a masher of one of the first families in the county. Mrs. A. B. Heath is seriously ill with pneumonia. A. E. King is improving rapidly and serves admirably as motive power for a perambulator. The steamer Eureka has been thoroughly refitted and is now in sailing trim, and Capt. Wilson is waiting for an opportunity to get her over the bar and set sail for Alaska. About thirty men have passed medical examination before Dr. Tuttle, preparatory to becoming members of the A. O. U. W. lodge to be formed here. The trapmen held a meeting last evening. Mrs. John Hoffman was complimented with a surprise party last evening. There is a species of epizootic afflicting the human animals here abouts. Cough medicines, Astoria and such are in already demand.

Garfield Club No. One. A meeting was held last night at P. Mattson's hall in this city by an enthusiastic gathering of Republicans, who proceeded to organize a Republican campaign club which was christened Garfield club No. 1. Charles Larson was elected president and A. T. Brakke secretary. It opened the political ball in that part of the city with a large membership, who claim that they mean business. Remarks were made by Messrs. Brakke, Nelson and others. Such movements are decidedly in tune.

The Verdict Unanimous. W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippas, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 29 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. E. Dement & Co.'s Drug Store.
